Manipur CM clears air on resignation rumour

IMPHAL, June 30 (PTI): Manipur chief minister Biren N Singh on Friday clarified that he was not resigning from post, putting an end to a day-long rumour on the issue.

Before his clarification, thousands of demonstrators blocked the Manipur chief minister's convoy from proceeding towards Raj Bhavan.

The CM eventually told women demonstrators that he was not resigning from the chief minister's post.

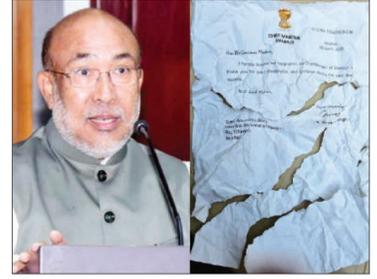

Biren Singh later also tweeted, "At this crucial juncture I would like to clarify that I will not be resigning from the post of chief minister."

Women leaders who met him defused the situation by coming out of the chief minister's residence and assuring the crowd that Singh was not resigning. The mob slowly dispersed from his residence after this statement.

Unconfirmed reports said that the CM had typed out a resignation letter but was persuaded by his supporters to tear it up. Some of the women agitators alleged they had seen the torn letter and social media also posted copies of it. The chief minister's office did not respond to queries on the issue.

Earlier in the afternoon, hundreds of youth wearing black shirts and women sat down in front of the CM's residence demanding that Biren Singh should not resign.

Kshetrimayum Shanti, a women leader said, "At this critical juncture, the Biren Singh government should stand firm and crack down on trouble-makers."

Sources said there were strong rumours in Imphal since morning that the chief minister was contemplating resigning from his post after renewed violence in the state on Thursday claimed three more lives, leaving 5 injured in violence Thursday.

The toll in exchange of fire between security forces and suspected rioters in Kangpokpi district a day before, rose to three on Friday, (CONTD. ON PAGE-9)

Twitters move to challenge govt notice formed part of fiction that Dorsey had put out: MoS IT

NEW DELHI, June 30 (PTI): Twitter moving to a court against the government notice to block some accounts was "part of the fiction" that company's former CEO Jack Dorsey had put out, minister of State for Electronics and IT Rajeev Chandrasekhar said on Monday.

Dorsey, who had quit as Twitter CEO, has claimed that the Indian government "pressured" the company with threats of a shutdown and raids on employees if it did not comply with requests to take down posts and restrict accounts that were critical of the government over the protest by farmers against new agri laws in 2020 and 2021.

In response to views on the Karnataka High Court order rejecting Twitter's appeal, the minister said that the order clearly lays down non-compliance to government order is not an option and all platforms, big or small, need to comply with Indian laws.

"In this particular case as you remember they (Twitter) were given a large number of directions under the law which they did not comply with and then when they were sent a legal notice they chose to go to the courts. This is part of the fiction that Mr Dorsey had also put out," Chandrasekhar told PTI on the sidelines of a Broadband India Forum event.

Karnataka High Court dismissed a petition filed by Twitter last year in which the social media firm challenged several blocking and take-down orders issued by the ministry of Electronics and Information Technology.

The court ruled that the company's plea was "devoid of merits".

The single-judge bench of Justice Krishna S Dixit which dictated the operative portion of the judgement also imposed a whopping cost of ₹ 50 lakh on Twitter and ordered it to be paid to the Karnataka State Legal Services Authority within 45 days.

"I am very glad that the court has today laid down very clearly that non-compliance is not an option regardless of where your jurisdiction is, or who you think your owner is. The platforms in India, all platforms big or small, Indian or foreign have to comply with the Indian law and the rules that are enacted under the law," Chandrasekhar said.

He said that the government's relationship with the platforms is not adversarial and Meity only insisted that the laws be followed and laws be complied with.

Gold rises ₹ 80; silver tumbles ₹ 550

metal had settled at ₹ 58,950 per 10 grams in the previous trade. Silver, however, tumbled ₹ 550 to ₹ 70,700 per kilogramme. "Gold slightly recovered from three-month lows on Friday, with spot gold prices in the Delhi markets trading at ₹ 59,030/10 grams, up by ₹ 80 per 10 grams," Saamil Gandhi, senior analyst - Commodities at HDFC Securities, said. In the international markets, gold was trading higher at USD 1,906 per ounce while silver was down at USD 22.46 per ounce.

Rupee closes flat at 82.03 against US dollar as rate hike worries cap gain

MUMBAI, June 30 (PTI): The rupee closed flat at 82.03 (provisional) against the US dollar in a restricted trade on Friday amid a rally in the domestic equities and firm crude oil prices.

While FII inflows into equities supported the rupee, a firm US dollar in global markets and gains in crude oil prices capped its gains, analysts said.

The rupee opened weak at 82.05 at the interbank foreign exchange market due to firm crude oil prices in the Asian trade. It moved in a tight range of 82.00 to 82.07 in the day trade. The local unit settled flat at 82.03 (provisional) against the US dollar. The rupee closed at the same level on Wednesday.

Forex markets were closed on Thursday on the occasion of the Bakrid holiday.

The dollar index, which gauges the greenback's strength against a basket of six currencies, firmed up by 0.09 per cent to 103.43 on growing expectations of further interest rate hikes by the US Federal Reserve. Traders expect the US Federal Reserve to raise interest rates further after a pause in June following a strong set of US economic data. According to data released on Thursday, the US economy grew stronger than anticipated at 2 per cent in the first quarter of this year while fewer jobless claims that the job market remains solid despite much higher interest rates meant to slow the overall economy. Global oil benchmark Brent Crude was trading 0.61 per cent higher at USD 74.79 per barrel.

In the domestic equity market, benchmark indices Sensex and Nifty hit their all-time high on Friday. The 30-share BSE Sensex closed at a record high of 64,718.56, and the Nifty scaled the peak of 19,189.05 points amid fresh foreign fund inflows.

Foreign Portfolio Investors emerged as net buyers in the capital market on Wednesday as they bought shares worth ₹ 12,350 crore, according to exchange data.

Great opportunity for Bengal in minerals sector: Official

KOLKATA, June 30 (PTI): West Bengal holds immense opportunity in the minerals sector, and the state government is hoping to achieve the mineral revenue of Odisha in the future, a senior official said Friday.

At present, Bengal is no match for Odisha, which generates around ₹ 50,000 crore in terms of mineral revenue, he said.

"The sand mining policy has led to an increase in government revenue, from a mere ₹ 50 crore to over ₹ 1,000 crore," West Bengal Industry and Commerce secretary Anurag Srivastava said at an Assocham-organised conclave here.

He said Bengal has one-fifth of the country's mineral reserves and one-third of its mineral production. "So opportunities remain untapped."

Srivastava also said he expects commercial production to soon begin at Asia's largest coal block, the Deocha-Pachami, in Birbhum district.

The state government is in the process of implementing the rehabilitation and resettlement scheme for 4,000 families for the project.

Speaking on the occasion, Hindustan Copper CMD A K Shukla lauded Bengal's R&R scheme for Deocha-Pachami, stating that it was "comprehensive".

Srivastava also said Bengal could receive an investment of ₹ 50,000 crore for shale gas development and production.

Companies such as Great Eastern Energy Corporation and Essar Oil and Gas Exploration are understood to have expressed interest in investing in the sector.

Srivastava said the national gas grid will help the state in the area of green energy.

According to estimates, 38 lakh piped natural gas connections are likely in Bengal.

Shukla added that the Centre was giving emphasis on critical minerals, and copper has been identified as one.

The export value of minerals in 2021-22 was ₹ 2.6 lakh crore, while imports were ₹ 15.5 lakh crore, he said.

"Mining is complex. Finance, rehabilitation and resettlement programs, and even sometimes technology, can pose challenges. There is a need for proactive support from the state government," the top Hindustan Copper official said.

JCI Chairman and Managing Director Ajay Kr Jolly said they are working on the finer details and ironing out the complexities involved in the e-auction system.

The platform is expected to be owned and managed by JCI.

Jolly said the Corporation has 110 purchase centres operated by it and will engage about 500 extended purchase centres in association with cooperatives and NGOs in eight states.

This year, the MSP for reference grade of TD3 has been raised by ₹ 300 to ₹ 5,050 per quintal in the 2023-24 season.

On the promotion of the industry, Jolly said the Jute-ICARE project is in its ninth phase in its ninth year, providing benefits to more than 3.5 lakh farmers.

CMR survey reveals Amazon as preferred choice for online shopping

Attractive prices & convenient returns driving Indian consumers to choose Amazon

HT Bureau

GUWAHATI, June 30: A recent consumer study conducted by CyberMedia Research (CMR), a leading technology market research and advisory firm, has unveiled interesting insights into the online shopping habits of Indians, particularly those from Tier II cities and beyond. The study indicates that these consumers spend an average of 2 hours and 25 minutes per week shopping online, accounting for approximately 16 percent of their income. Attractive prices, convenient return and exchange processes, and irresistible offers were identified as the top three triggers for online shopping.

In terms of e-commerce platforms, the study found that Amazon is the preferred choice for Indian consumers, with a significant 73 percent favouring the platform. Flipkart followed closely with a preference rate of 70 percent while Meesho, JioMart, and others secured lower preference rates. Notably, 63 percent of Amazon users reported high satisfaction, with Flipkart and Reliance Digital following at 52 percent and 46 percent, respectively. Amazon was particularly favoured by its users for its attractive prices, easy return and exchange processes, brand trust, and convenience of shopping across various pin codes in India. Over the past six months, a staggering 73 percent of consumers from both Tier II and Tier I cities have chosen to shop on Amazon. Prabhu Ram, head of Industry Intelligence Group at CyberMedia Research (CMR), highlighted the significance of e-commerce in empowering emerging young consumers in Aspirational India (Tier II, Tier III cities, and beyond) to fulfill their aspirations. Major players like Amazon and Flipkart, along with niche market players such as Meesho and others, as well as conglomerates like Tata and Reliance, are engaged in fierce competition in these markets. The research emphasises that Amazon, with its extensive presence across India and consumer trust, stands as the preferred choice for online shopping.

The study also revealed that two out of three consumers have spent up to ₹ 20,000 on online shopping in the past six months. Interestingly, the average spending on online purchases by Tier II buyers (₹ 20,100) is nearly on par with that of Tier I buyers (₹ 21,700).

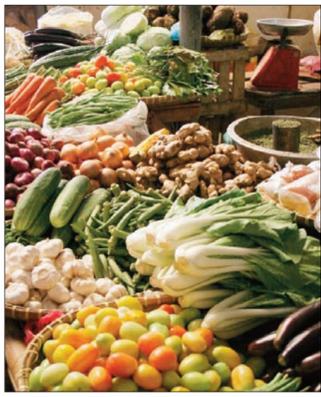

This survey showcases the growing preference for online shopping among Indian consumers, with Amazon emerging as the favoured e-commerce platform, revolutionising the way people shop and meet their needs in the digital era.

NHRCCB urges investigation into price manipulation & highlights concerns over plastic lentils

Rising vegetable prices prompt calls for government intervention

HT Correspondent
BISWANATH CHARIALI, June 30: The soaring prices of vegetables in Assam have become a cause of concern, particularly for the economically disadvantaged population. With prices increasing two to three times in just one month, it has become challenging for people to afford their daily meals. In response to this issue, the state president of the National Human Rights and Crime Control Bureau (NHRCCB), Nishant Thard, has written a letter to the Assam Food and Civil Supplies minister, Ranjeet Kumar Dass, seeking immediate intervention.

In the letter, the NHRCCB state president highlighted the significant price hike of vegetables and urged the minister to investigate whether middlemen and dishonest stockists are involved in manipulating prices. The organisation expressed surprise at the simultaneous increase in prices of both locally produced and imported goods, as the latter should not be influenced by tax factors. They also raised concerns cerns about the price differences across different areas of the state.

Meanwhile, the state patron of the organisation, Tilak Chand Handique, sent a letter to the Assam Health minister, Keshab Mahanta, regarding the introduction of plastic lentils in the market. Handique referred to a Guwahati High Court order issued on March 17, 2023, which called for the establishment of a special authority in the capital city to conduct random checks on the quality and purity of vegetables. Handique urged the Health minister to take effective action based on this directive. Additionally, Handique proposed implementing similar measures in district headquarters to address the prevalence of counterfeit goods and ensure the application of pesticides and chemical fertilisers is tested, ensuring the provision of pure and healthy food to the people of Assam. The organisation's patron hoped that these actions would also help regulate stockists and traders in the state.

Next Gen Brahmos missiles ready

BrahMos Aerospace, the Indo-Russian missile manufacturer, has recently announced the completion of the initial design for the highly anticipated BrahMos-NG missiles. The export director of the company revealed that the design phase has been finalised and production is expected to commence soon, marking a significant milestone in the development of this advanced missile system. The announcement regarding the latest iteration of the BrahMos missile was made during the International Maritime Defense Show held in St. Petersburg. The forthcoming BrahMos-NG (Next Generation) missile is set to be a scaled-down version of its predecessor. Despite the reduced weight and size, the BrahMos-NG will retain the same impressive range, velocity, and capabilities of the existing model. With a length of only 6 meters compared to the current 9 meters, the missile is expected to be ready for deployment as early as next year. The BrahMos missile has garnered great enthusiasm in India, as it is poised to significantly enhance the nation's defense capabilities. The missile, named after the Brahmaputra River in India and the Moskva River in Russia, was developed through a collaboration between India's Defence Research and Development Organization (DRDO) and Russia's NPO Mashinostroyeniya. BrahMos Aerospace, the joint venture created by this collaboration, proudly advertises the BrahMos as the world's fastest supersonic cruise missile, capable of being launched from land, air, sea, or underwater platforms. It can reach speeds of up to 2.8 Mach, equivalent to three times the speed of sound, and has an impressive range of 290 kilometers.

The BrahMos missile comes in three variants: surface-to-surface, air, and submarine. The surface-to-surface model underwent rigorous testing at the Integrated Test Range in Chandipur, Odisha, before being inducted into the Indian Army in 2007. Over the years, the missile has undergone numerous updates and achievements. In 2009, it became the first cruise missile to achieve supersonic speeds during steep-dive mode. A longer-range version of the surface-to-surface missile was successfully tested in 2020, extending its reach to 350 kilometers. In 2013, the submarine-launched version of the BrahMos was successfully tested, marking a significant milestone in the missile's development. It can be launched from depths of up to 40-50 meters underwater, further expanding its operational capabilities. The naval variant of the missile was inducted into the Indian Navy in 2005, preceding the other versions. BrahMos Aerospace has also developed the BrahMos ALCM (Air-launched Cruise Missile), specifically designed for the Indian Air Force's frontline fighter, the Sukhoi-30MKI. The air-launched version of the missile underwent its inaugural flight-test in 2017, hitting its target in the Bay of Bengal with pinpoint accuracy. In December 2022, successful tests were conducted on an extended-range variant of the missile, boasting an approximate range of 450 kilometers.

Looking towards the future, BrahMos Aerospace is actively working on constructing an upgraded variant of the missile, the BrahMos-II. This version aims to achieve an extended range of around 600 kilometers and an astounding speed of Mach 8, making it the world's fastest hypersonic missile. The enhanced capabilities of the BrahMos-II will provide India's defence forces with a powerful tool to precisely target and strike deep into enemy territory. The advancement of the BrahMos missile system underscores the ongoing collaboration and technological prowess between India and Russia. As the BrahMos-NG missile enters production and further developments continue, it is poised to become a cornerstone of India's defense strategy, bolstering its security and asserting its position on the global stage.

Stereotypes: A deep-rooted barrier in women empowerment

By: Suvrashree Kalita

Women's empowerment explicitly states that all rights, including social and political rights, economic security, judicial authority, and other rights, should apply equally to men and women. Men and women shouldn't be treated differently. Women should now be aware of the basic and social rights they acquire upon birth.

Stereotypes are assumptions or generalizations made about particular social groupings based on factors such as gender, race, ethnicity, or other characteristics. When it comes to gender stereotypes, they frequently uphold established roles and standards for women, limiting their options and potential. Stereotypes are widely held, which continues to be a huge barrier in the way of gender equality and women's empowerment. Stereotypes are engrained cultural precepts that place gender-based assumptions on people in terms of roles, traits, and expectations. These preconceptions frequently reinforce detrimental biases against women and impede their advancement in a variety of areas of life. This article addresses strategies for overcoming stereotypes and looks at how they harm women's empowerment.

1. Stereotype: "The Perfect Homemaker": Women's roles as mothers and housewives are one persistent stereotype. According to this stereotype, a woman's primary responsibility is to care for her family and take care of her home, while she neglects her own goals and ambitions. This expectation restricts women's options and supports the idea that the only place in which they are valuable is in the home.

The consequences of this stereotype are far-reaching. Given that cultural norms place a higher priority on their domestic roles, women may experience barriers to pursuing employment, getting an education, or holding leadership positions.

2. Stereotype: "The Fragile and Emotional": Another stereotype that is frequently applied to women is that they are innately less able to handle stress or make logical decisions due to their emotional fragility. Women's trustworthiness and skill in a variety of fields, including politics and business, are undercut by this stereotype. It results in unfair practices such as salary disparities based on gender and little prospects for career progression. In addition, the idea that women are overly emotional may prevent them from speaking up or accepting leadership roles out of apprehension over being laughed at or called "hysterical." This prevents women from contributing their full potential by silencing their voices, ideas, and talents.

3. Stereotype: "The Beauty Standard": Society often perpetuates the stereotype that a woman's value lies in her physical appearance. Women are under tremendous pressure to meet strict standards of attractiveness because of this unattainable beauty standard, which affects their sense of value and self-esteem. Women's confidence is hampered and kept from pursuing opportunities where their value extends beyond physical attractiveness by the emphasis on looks rather than talents and abilities.

Overcoming stereotypes and promoting women's empowerment:

1. Education and awareness: Awareness-building about gender stereotypes and the damage they do is essential. Stereotypes need to be actively challenged and disproved by educational institutions, neighbourhood organizations, and media outlets. Women can be empowered, and change can be sparked by correct knowledge and the promotion of strong role models.

2. Encouraging critical thinking: By fostering critical thinking abilities, people can challenge prejudiced attitudes and cast doubt on widely held stereotypes.

3. Promoting equal representation: Promoting equitable representation of women in all spheres—including leadership, the media, and decision-making—is crucial to combat stereotypes. By raising awareness, we disprove stereotypes and emphasize the accomplishments and capacities of women.

4. Men as allies: The struggle against gender stereotypes must include men as supporters. Men can actively support and promote women's empowerment to fight and destroy misconceptions. We may cooperate to remove barriers by establishing inclusive cultures that embrace gender equality and diversity.

Conclusion

Women's empowerment is hampered by stereotypes, which also prevent them from moving forward in different facets of life. To combat these preconceptions, we must work together to dispel prejudiced ideas, advance equal representation, and inform people about the negative effects of stereotypes. By destroying preconceptions, we can make the world more welcoming and empowering for women, where their abilities, goals, and accomplishments are praised and recognized.

Biden puts geopolitical interests above human rights in his talks with Narendra Modi

Even the fragrance of the pleasant words that were bestowed upon Narendra Modi before his departure from the United States had faded, the Indian prime minister had to taste the bitter bite of American anger at some of his cabinet ministers and senior BJP leaders unleashing online harassment of journalist Sabrina Siddiqui, who at the press meet at White House had dared to ask Modi an uncomfortable question. Siddiqui had asked: "Mr. Prime Minister, India has long prided itself as the world's largest democracy, but there are many human rights groups who say that your government has discriminated against religious minorities and sought to silence its critics... What steps are you and your government willing to take to improve the rights of Muslims and other religious minorities in your country and uphold free speech?"

It is indeed a matter of shame that the Hindutva ecosystem has completely demolished the aura that Modi managed to create around him by coining the new word AI (America-India), putting in hefty diplomatic efforts. While the Hindutva troll army think that they have simply targeted Siddiqui, the unfortunate truth is that they have turned the Americans against their President Joe Biden for according official state welcome and elevating the status of Modi. True enough, realising the extent of the hatred directed towards Siddiqui, the Biden administration subsequently had to adopt a tough posture against India and the Modi government.

What worsened the situation for Biden is the reckless insinuation and revolting crusade against former US president Barack Obama by two senior cabinet colleagues of Modi, the Union finance minister Nirmala Sitharaman and defence minister Rajnath Singh. Both the ministers accused former President Obama of ordering bombing on six Muslim countries while the latter helmed the White House, as they decried his remark on Modi's stance towards Indian Muslims.

The Biden administration, which had just accorded a red carpet welcome to Modi, was quite enraged at the insinuation campaign launched by the saffron ecosystem and came out with a stern warning that it was completely unacceptable. Through their rancorous campaign, the RSS and BJP cadres and Modi bhakts have, ironically enough smeared the face of India and lowered its prestige across the world. Ironically, this nasty act was performed by the very men, who have been striving to project Modi as the "Vishwa Guru". No doubt, it is a disgrace for India.

BJP's ecosystem and its senior leaders were not content with simply calling Siddiqui an "Islamist", they trolled Siddiqui as "the daughter of Pakistani parents" and for "echoing the claims of Islamists". US media has turned hostile to Modi and India to such an extent that US National Security Council Coordinator for Strategic Communications, John Kirby, had to say:

"We're aware of the reports of that harassment. It's unacceptable. And we absolutely condemn any harassment of journalists anywhere under any circumstances. That's...completely unacceptable. And it's antithetical to the very principles of democracy that...were on display last week during the state visit."

White House Press Secretary Karine Jean-Pierre said that the US government is committed to the freedom of the press. "We certainly condemn any efforts of intimidation or harassment of a journalist or any journalist that is just trying to do their job". More than getting angry at Siddiqui questioning Modi, the BJP

DEGREE OF THOUGHT

By: Arun Srivastava

leaders and political ecosystem directing their hostility towards former US president Obama, whom, incidentally, Modi had once described as his "friend", is perplexing. Who can forget Modi preparing and offering tea to Obama on his visit to India? While Modi was still in the US, Obama, in an interview to CNN's Christiane Amanpour had said, "If I had a conversation with Prime Minister Modi, who I know well, part of my argument would be that if you do not protect the rights of ethnic minorities in India, there is a strong possibility at some point that India starts pulling apart. If the President (Biden) meets with PM Modi, then the protection of the Muslim minority in a majority-Hindu India, that's something worth mentioning."

Barely hours after his remark, Himanta Biswa Sarma, the BJP chief minister of Assam, made a snide remark referring to him as a "Hussain Obama". This indeed was a prejudiced attack on Obama. Sarma's comments outright contradicted Modi's statement in Washington. This was a deliberate attempt of Sarma, who joined BJP barely three years ago deserting his parent party Congress.

Within twenty four hours of Sharma's vitriolic, the Union finance minister Nirmala Sitharaman accused Obama of indulging in Modi bashing by saying that his remarks about minority rights in India were surprising as six Muslim-majority countries had faced US "bombing" during his tenure. She said Prime Minister Narendra Modi has received the highest civilian awards from 13 countries, including six with predominantly Muslim population. The finance minister alleged that "organised campaigns" were being run to level "baseless" allegations on the treatment meted out to minorities at the behest of the Opposition, as it cannot defeat the BJP electorally under Modi. While observing that it is also important to see who are the people behind them, she said that the Congress is "deliberately" raising "non-issues" and levelling allegations "without facts" to vitiate the country's atmosphere.

As the finance minister she should have shown moral conviction by officially calling the remarks by Obama as motivated and absurd. But she preferred to hide behind the façade of party platform. She came out with this allegation as the spokesperson of the BJP. She recalled how Modi at a press conference had reiterated 'Sabka Saath, Sabka Vikas' principle.

One feels pity at her ominous attempts to distort the facts and history. It is worth recalling that Obama was elected in 2008 partly because of his opposition to the Iraq war and awarded the 2009 Nobel Peace Prize after he assumed office. His military decisions to attack are intentionally being twisted by Sitharaman. USA had killed the dreaded Al-Qaeda terrorist Osama Bin Laden inside Pakistani soil. Will she also say that US was attacking Muslims in Pakistan? Of course, US has targeted al-Qaeda and Taliban fighters in controversial drone "precision strikes" in Pakistan's tribal areas for over a decade.

In all the seven Muslim countries which were attacked by US, the primary targets were the terrorists: ISI, Taliban or Al-Qaeda. Obama had admitted in 2012: "For the most part, they've been very precise precision strikes against al-Qaeda and their affiliates, and we're very careful in terms of how it's been applied." US target ISIS in Somalia. It was again ISIS menace in Syria. Facing threats from al-Qaeda in the Arabian Peninsula, the Obama administration significantly ramped-up the use of armed drones. U.S. drones have targeted militants associated with al-Shabaab, a terrorist network that perpetrated a high-profile attack last year at a mall in Kenya.

Sitharaman distorting the facts and protecting her leader Modi by describing Obama as anti-Muslim has not come as mere surprise. It was really a shock. How could a cabinet minister speak such blatant lies! But this was not the first and last. Close on her spiteful remarks, the defence minister Rajnath Singh also raised accusing fingers towards Obama. He said: Obama should think about how many Muslim countries he attacked. In his pro-Modi homily, he said Obama should know that the people of India believe in the concept of 'vasudhaiva kutumbakam' and consider all people as members of one global family. Rajnath slammed Obama saying: "I want to tell you with confidence that even Muslim countries would not have all the 72 sects of the community. It is only in India that you will find them all." What a shame then that even in a country, which has 72 Muslim sects, they are ill-treated by the RSS and BJP leaders? Like Sitharaman he too did not speak on behalf of the government. Singh spoke as a well-wisher to Modi.

In any other political backdrop, this issue might have flared into a major diplomatic storm, but in the prevailing situation, the Biden administration would prefer to give it a peaceful decent burial as its stakes are quite high. The Bay of Bengal possesses significant geostrategic importance for US, especially Biden. It is a known fact that for countering the expansionist policy of China, it is imperative that US must have a strong base in the region. US having a strong naval base in the Bay of Bengal will enhance its power projection capabilities and maintain deterrence. Obviously in this backdrop, notwithstanding the BJP political ecosystem launching a scathing attack on Obama, the Biden administration would not sound too harsh towards Modi and his men. Any harsh approach will help China cause. India, as the largest country bordering the Bay of Bengal, holds crucial strategic interests. Insult of a journalist by the BJP ministers and leaders has no relevance, rather counts immaterial, when it comes to preserving and promoting the interest of the USA.

Harvard history professor Maya Jasanoff had warned that the US attempting to rope in Narendra Modi's India as an ally in the cold war against China could spell doom for the global project of freedom. But it failed to impress Biden. She had said: "But here is what Americans need to know about Mr. Modi's India. Armed with a sharp-edged doctrine of Hindu nationalism, Mr. Modi has presided over the nation's broadest assault on democracy, civil society and minority rights in at least 40 years. He has delivered prosperity and national pride to some, and authoritarianism and repression of many others that should disturb us all." She has even cited India's fall on multiple global indices of freedom, democracy, free press and academic freedom. (IPA Service)

Dr. B.R. Ambedkar's legacy: Illuminating the path to dignity, equality and justice in Eastern Nagaland

By: Dr. Aniruddha Bahar

In the forgotten corners of Frontier Nagaland, where the cries of the invisible orphan people have long been drowned out by the echoes of neglect, a profound awakening is stirring. This article delves into the heart-wrenching realities of a region long forsaken, shedding light on the relevance of Dr. B.R. Ambedkar's transformative thoughts and ideas. With unwavering determination, the Frontier Nagaland Movement rises to reclaim political participation and justice, to restore the constitutional rights of a people who have been relegated to the shadows for far too long. In this soul-stirring journey, we witness the resilience of a community shattered by years of systematic economic and political marginalization. The Eastern Naga people, eternal victims of manufactured backwardness of a callous state government, have withstood the weight of their silent suffering. But now, armed with the spirit of renewed vision and the power of the Constitution of India, they forge a path towards emancipation and empowerment.

Emotions run deep as we explore the profound impact of Dr. Ambedkar's legacy. His teachings on social justice resonate powerfully, providing a beacon of hope for those grappling with political and economic injustice. The Frontier Nagaland Movement becomes a testament to the unwavering spirit of these resilient souls, who refuse to be silenced any longer. As the words unfold, we are transported to a realm where injustice meets resistance and hope springs eternal. The profound journey of Frontier Nagaland and the indomitable spirit of its people merge with the transformative ideals of Dr. B.R. Ambedkar. Together, they weave a tale of redemption, resilience, and the pursuit of a just and inclusive society.

Another crucial aspect of Dr. Ambedkar's ideology is the pursuit of economic justice. He recognized that social and political empowerment cannot be achieved without economic upliftment. In the case of Frontier Nagaland, the region has been plagued by economic disparities and the perpetuation of a systematically manufactured backwardness. The people of these remote areas have been deprived of basic infrastructure, quality education, healthcare facilities, and employment opportunities. By embracing Ambedkar's ideas of economic justice, the Frontier Nagaland Movement aims to address these inequalities and uplift the socio-economic conditions of the eastern Naga people through the creation of a separate, autonomous region-The Frontier Naga Territory.

The restoration of constitutional rights is at the heart of the Frontier Nagaland Movement. The eastern Naga people have long felt the weight of being invisible orphans, neglected by the state government for decades. Their demands for constitutional justice have often been met with indifference or suppression in the past. Dr. Ambedkar, as the architect of the Indian Constitution, laid the foundation for a just and inclusive society, where every citizen is guaranteed fundamental rights and freedoms. The Frontier Nagaland Movement draws inspiration from Ambedkar's vision and seeks to reclaim the constitutional rights that have been denied through the creation of a separate, autonomous, self-ruled region under the constitutional protection-The Frontier Naga Territory.

The neglect and indifference that eastern Nagas have endured for decades have created a sense of disillusionment and disenfranchisement. The Frontier Nagaland Movement is a testament to their resilience and determination to reclaim their rights. It is a call for justice, equality, and the restoration of their rightful place within the larger framework of Nagaland and the Indian nation.

The relevance of Dr. B.R. Ambedkar's thoughts and ideas cannot be overstated in the context of the Frontier Nagaland Movement. His emphasis on political participation, economic justice, and constitutional justice resonates deeply with the aspirations of the eastern Naga people. His philosophy provides a guiding light and a moral compass for those who are fighting for a more inclusive and equitable society. As we reflect on the Frontier Nagaland Movement and the relevance of Dr. Ambedkar's thoughts, it becomes clear that the struggle for justice and equality is an ongoing one. It requires the collective efforts of the people, the government, and civil society to address the grievances and aspirations of the eastern Naga people through a common platform that could be formed only through the creation of separate, autonomous, self-ruled region in the state of Nagaland that eastern people visualized - THE FRONTIER NAGA TERRITORY. Frontier Nagaland movement is a unique journey of eastern Naga people that demands dialogue, empathy, and a commitment to upholding the principles of social justice. Let us all understand that, the Frontier Nagaland Movement serves as a reminder of the unfinished agenda of Dr. B.R. Ambedkar - a vision of a just and inclusive society where every individual, regardless of their background or geographical location, is afforded dignity, rights, and opportunities. The movement's demand for political participation, economic justice, and the restoration of constitutional rights reflects the deep-rooted aspirations of the eastern Naga people. By embracing the thoughts and ideas of Dr. Ambedkar, the Frontier Nagaland Movement seeks to pave the way for a more inclusive and equitable future, not just for the people of Frontier Nagaland but for the entire nation. It is a clarion call for justice, and it is a call that cannot be ignored.

In the profound depths of struggle, where the cries of the marginalized echo through the forgotten corners of Frontier Nagaland, we find solace in the enduring spirit of the Frontier Nagaland Movement. It is a testament to the indomitable human will, fueled by the timeless ideals of Dr. B.R.

Ambedkar that seeks to transcend the shackles of invisibility and manufactured backwardness. With each step taken in pursuit of political justice, economic emancipation, and the restoration of constitutional rights, the eastern Naga people redefine the very essence of resilience.

In the face of neglect and marginalization, the unwavering determination of eastern Nagas becomes a beacon of hope, shining a light on the path towards a just and inclusive society. Their struggle is not merely for themselves but for all those forgotten souls who yearn for recognition and dignity. It is a battle fought not with guns and violence, but with the sheer strength of their conviction, as they strive to forge a legacy that will resonate through the annals of history. For in the depths of their pain, they have found the strength to rise. The timeless wisdom of Dr. Ambedkar, who taught us that justice knows no boundaries and equality knows no limits is relevant to the struggle of eastern Nagas for constitutional justice.

Let the struggle of the Eastern Nagas serve as a reminder to us all that the fight for 'justice' is a collective responsibility, transcending geographical boundaries and cultural barriers. As we witness the unfolding of this momentous movement for the restoration of constitutional rights of the forgotten people, let us pledge our unwavering support, standing shoulder to shoulder with the eastern Naga people, as they reclaim their rightful place in the tapestry of our nation. For their struggle is our struggle, their aspirations are our aspirations, and their victory will be a testament to the triumph of justice over oppression, light over darkness, and hope over despair. # Career towards Sustainable Gastronomy

By: Ranjan K Baruah

We are aware of different career options and today, I would like to mention an option which is unique and many of us have not heard about the same. We are familiar with courses like hotel management or culinary arts but today we are talking about gastronomy. Well, let's explore gastronomy and understand the same. At the same time we shall also mention why sustainable gastronomy is important and how one may choose it as his or her career choice.

Gastronomy is the study of the relationship between food and culture, the art of preparing and serving rich or delicate and appetizing food, the cooking styles of particular regions, and the science of good eating. One who is well versed in gastronomy is called a gastronome, while a gastronomist is one who unites theory and practice in the study of gastronomy. Generally it is associated with the practice and study of the preparation, production, and service of the various foods and beverages, from countries around the world.

It is sometimes called the art of food. It can also refer to a style of cooking from a particular region. In other words, gastronomy often refers to local food and cuisine. Sustainability is the idea that something (e.g. agriculture, fishing or even preparation of food) is done in a way that is not wasteful of our natural resources and can be continued into the future without being detrimental to our environment or health. Sustainable gastronomy, therefore, means cuisine that takes into account where the ingredients are from, how the food is grown and how it gets to our markets and eventually to our plates.

The United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) and the Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO) and the UN General Assembly work to facilitate the observance of Sustainable Gastronomy Day (18th June), in collaboration with Member States, UN organizations and other international and regional bodies, as well as civil society, to observe the Day in raising public awareness of its contribution to sustainable development. The UN General Assembly adopted on 21st December 2016 its resolution A/RES/71/246 and designated 18th June as an international observance, Sustainable Gastronomy Day.

Choosing gastronomy as a career is easy but the challenge is to make it as sustainable gastronomy. All those who are interested in this field may choose a career like Hotel Management. Courses like hotel management include culinary arts and also cooking. There is specialization through which we could see expert chefs coming from the field of hotel management. The minimum educational qualification is Class XII passed but someone with less qualification may also excel as chef and culinary arts.

There are many shows like reality shows and other programmes which encourage aspiring chefs. One must be innovative who can make use of their ideas with food and culture and make the habit of sustainable gastronomy. When it comes to food and culture then young people from the North Eastern region have more advantage as they can innovate dishes and make them global around the world. The option is endless as food is essential and there is no limit for the qualified, innovative and passionate persons. (The author is a career mentor and skill trainer and can be reached at 8473943734 or bkranjan@gmail.com)

Putin made these remarks on Thursday at a forum in Moscow organised by Russia's Agency for Strategic Initiatives

President Vladimir Putin calls Prime Minister Narendra Modi 'big friend of Russia'

MOSCOW, June 30 (PTI): President Vladimir Putin has called Prime Minister Narendra Modi "a big friend" of Russia and said his "Make in India" campaign has had a "truly impressive effect" on the country's economy.

Putin made these remarks on Thursday at a forum in Moscow organised by Russia's Agency for Strategic Initiatives (ASI).

"Our friends in India and our big friend, Prime Minister Narendra Modi, launched the 'Make in India' initiative several years ago. It has had a truly impressive effect on the Indian economy. It would do no harm to emulate what is working well, even if it was not us but our friends who created it," the president was quoted as saying by the RT News.

Putin made a case for India as he discussed the opportunities for Russian companies due to the West's sanctions policies, and the need for Moscow to "offer support tools to help our companies market their products more efficiently".

Crediting Indian leadership for creating an effective model to develop local manufacturing capabilities and woo foreign investors, Putin emphasised the need to think about "making our products more convenient and functional, with a modern look and properties", the report added.

Industrial and product design should become an important resource for the development of domestic business, Putin said.

This was one of the major public appearances of President Putin; days after a Russian mercenary group launched a short-lived armed rebellion against him.

The rebellion by Yevgeny Prigozhin and his Wagner group on Saturday marked the most serious challenge to President Putin in more than two decades of his rule.

On Wednesday, Russia's Security Council Secretary Nikolai Patrushev briefed NSA Ajit Doval on the latest developments in the country following the rebellion.

The 'Make in India' initiative was launched by Prime Minister Modi in 2014 and aimed to create and encourage companies to develop, manufacture and assemble products made in the country and incentivise dedicated investments into manufacturing, it said.

With the largest population of over 1.4 billion people and the 5th largest GDP of around USD 3.7 trillion, India has in recent years emerged not only as an alternative destination for license manufacturing for global companies but also as a massive consumer market for foreign investors, the report said.

India's export performance has improved, according to official data, from around USD 468 billion in 2014 to an estimated USD 770 billion in the 2022-23 fiscal year, it said. India has also seen a significant increase in foreign direct investment inflows, from USD 36 billion in 2014 to over USD 81 billion in 2020-21.

Putin and Modi last met on the sidelines of a regional security bloc summit in Uzbekistan in September 2022.

President Xi will attend virtual SCO summit hosted by India: Chinese Foreign Ministry

BEIJING, June 30 (PTI): Chinese President Xi Jinping will attend next week's virtual summit of the Shanghai Cooperation Organisation (SCO) being hosted by India, an official announcement here said on Friday.

At the invitation of Prime Minister Narendra Modi, President Xi will attend via video conference in Beijing, the 23rd meeting of the Council of Heads meeting of the SCO on July 4 and deliver important remarks, Chinese Foreign Ministry spokesperson Hua Chunying said in a brief press release.

This is the first official announcement about Xi's participation in the SCO summit being hosted by India.

The SCO is an influential economic and security bloc and has emerged as one of the largest trans-regional international organisations.

The SCO was founded at a summit in Shanghai in 2001 by the presidents of Russia, China, the Kyrgyz Republic, Kazakhstan, Tajikistan and Uzbekistan. India and Pakistan became its permanent members in 2017.

India holds the rotating Presidency of the organisation this year.

Ahead of the summit to be held for the first time under India's Presidency, India on Tuesday inaugurated an exquisitely designed "New Delhi Hall" at the SCO Secretariat in Beijing.

While the SCO's six founding members, Russia, Kazakhstan, Kyrgyzstan, Tajikistan, and Uzbekistan have their halls highlighting their cultures and unique features, India is the first to add its own.

Virtually inaugurating the hall, External Affairs Minister, S Jaishankar in his address said the New Delhi Hall, is conceived to be a "mini-India" showcasing various facets of Indian culture.

600 arrested and 200 police officers hurt on France's 3rd night of protests over teen's killing

NANTERRE, June 30 (AP): Protesters erected barricades, lit fires and shot fireworks at police in French streets overnight as tensions grew over the deadly police shooting of a 17-year-old that has shocked the nation. More than 600 people were arrested and at least 200 police officers injured as the government struggled to restore order on a third night of unrest.

Armored police vehicles rammed through the charred remains of cars that had been flipped and set ablaze in the northwestern Paris suburb of Nanterre, where a police officer shot the teen identified only by his first name, Nahel. On the other side of the city hall of the suburb of Clichy-sous-Bois and set a bus depot ablaze in Aubervilliers. The French capital also saw fires and some stores ransacked.

In the Mediterranean port city of Marseille, police sought to disperse violent groups in the city center, regional authorities said.

President Emmanuel Macron planned to leave an EU summit in Brussels, where France plays a major role in European policymaking, to return to Paris and hold an emergency security meeting Friday.

Some 40,000 police officers were deployed to quell the protests. Police detained 667 people, the interior minister said; 307 of those were in the Paris region alone, according to the Paris police headquarters.

Around 200 police officers were injured, according to a national police spokesperson. No information was available about injuries among the rest of the population.

Schools, town halls and police stations were targeted by people setting fires, and police used tear gas, water cannons and dispersion grenades against rioters, the spokesperson said.

Interior Minister Gerald Darmanin on Friday denounced what he called a night of "rare violence." His office described the arrests as a sharp increase on previous operations as part of an overall government effort to be "extremely firm" with rioters.

The government has stopped short of declaring a state of emergency — a measure taken to quell weeks of rioting around France that followed the accidental death of two boys fleeing police in 2005.

The police officer accused of pulling the trigger Tuesday was handed a preliminary charge of voluntary homicide after prosecutor Pascal Prache said his initial investigation led him to conclude "the conditions for the legal use of the weapon were not met." Preliminary charges mean investigating magistrates strongly suspect wrongdoing but need to investigate more before sending a case to trial.

The detained police officer's lawyer, speaking on French TV channel BFMTV, said the officer was sorry and "devastated." The officer did what he thought was necessary in the moment, attorney Laurent-Franck Lienard told the news outlet.

"He doesn't get up in the morning to kill people," Lienard said of the officer, whose name has not been released as per French practice in criminal cases. "He really didn't want to kill."

The shooting captured on video shocked France and stirred up long-simmering tensions between police and young people in housing projects and other disadvantaged neighborhoods.

The teenager's family and their lawyers haven't said the police shooting was race-related and they didn't release his surname or details about him.

Still, anti-racism activists renewed their complaints about police behavior. "We have to go beyond saying that things need to calm down," said Dominique Sopo, head of the campaign group SOS Racisme. "The issue here is how do we make it so that we have a police force that when they see Blacks and Arabs, don't tend to shout at them, use racist terms against them and in some cases, shoot them in the head."

In Nanterre, a peaceful march Thursday afternoon in honor of Nahel was followed by escalating confrontations, with smoke billowing from cars and garbage bins set ablaze.

Ukraine aims to wear down and outsmart a Russian army distracted by infighting

KYIV, June 30 (AP): The ambush had been postponed three times before Ukrainian commanders decided one recent night that conditions were finally right. Cloaked in darkness, a battalion of Kyiv's 129th brigade pressed ahead, advancing stealthily on unsuspecting Russian soldiers.

By the time the Russians situated along the front line realized they were under attack, it was too late.

Ukraine's recapture of the small village of Neskuchne in the eastern Donetsk region on June 10 encapsulates the opening strategy of a major counteroffensive launched earlier this month. Small platoons bank on the element of surprise and, when successful, make incremental gains in territory and battlefield intelligence.

"We had a few scenarios. In the end, I think we chose the best one. To come quietly, unexpectedly," said Serhii Zherebylo, the 41-year-old deputy commander of the battalion that retook Neskuchne.

Across the 1,500-kilometer (930-mile) front line, Ukrainian forces are attempting to wear down the enemy and reshape battle lines to create more favorable conditions for a decisive, eastward advance. One strategy could be to try to split Russia's forces in two so that the Crimean Peninsula, which Moscow illegally annexed in 2014, is isolated from the rest of the territory it controls.

Ukraine's troops were given a boost of morale last week by an armed rebellion in Russia that posed the most significant threat to President Vladimir Putin's power in more than two decades. Yet how the revolt by Wagner Group mercenaries under the command of Russian warlord Yevgeny Prigozhin affects the trajectory of the war remains to be seen.

The infighting is a major distraction for Russia's military and political leaders, but experts say the impact on the battlefield so far appears minimal.

For the past four days, Ukraine has stepped up operations around the eastern city of Bakhmut, which Wagner forces seized after months of intense fighting and then handed over to Russian soldiers, who continue to lose some ground on their southern flank.

IMF reaches staff-level agreement with Pak on USD 3 billion 'stand-by arrangement'

ISLAMABAD, June 30 (PTI): In a major relief to cash-strapped Pakistan, the government and the IMF have reached a long-awaited staff-level agreement to inject USD 3 billion into the ailing economy after months-long negotiations that pushed the county to the brink of default.

Pakistan and the Washington-based global lender reached an agreement on Thursday to support the authorities' immediate efforts to stabilise the economy from external shocks.

Pakistan's economy has been in a free fall mode for the last many years, bringing untold pressure on the poor masses in the form of unchecked inflation, making it almost impossible for a vast number of people to make ends meet.

"I am pleased to announce that the IMF team has reached a staff-level agreement with the Pakistani authorities on a nine-month Stand-by Arrangement (SBA) in the amount of SDR 2,250 million (about USD 3 billion or 111 per cent of Pakistan's IMF quota)," Nathan Porter, the International Monetary Fund's Mission Chief to Pakistan, said in a statement on Thursday.

"The new SBA builds on the authorities' efforts under Pakistan's 2019 EFF-supported programme which expires at the end-June. This agreement is subject to approval by the IMF's Executive Board, which is expected to consider this request by mid-July," the statement added.

Finance Minister Ishaq Dar shared the IMF's press release on Twitter accompanied by a message: "God may be praised", Planning Minister Ahsan Iqbal called it "good news" and urged them to use the opportunity to turn around the country.

The USD 3 billion funding, spread over nine months, is higher than expected for Pakistan. The country was awaiting the release of the remaining USD 2.5 billion from a USD 6.5 billion bailout package agreed in 2019, which expires on Friday.

"The new SBA will support the authorities' immediate efforts to stabilise the economy from recent external shocks, preserve macroeconomic stability and provide a framework for financing from multilateral and bilateral partners," the statement said.

The full and timely implementation of the programme will be critical for its success in light of the difficult challenges, it said.

The statement said that Pakistan's Parliament approved the FY24 budget "in line with the goals of supporting fiscal sustainability and mobilising revenue, which will enable greater social and development spending".

Pakistan had to bend back to limits to get the loan as the fund put forward tough conditions and refused to budge until the government fulfilled them.

Ultimately Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif had to intervene who had several interactions with IMF Managing Director, Kristalina Georgieva to persuade the lender to approve the deal.

Pakistan had been barely managing its external liabilities as its foreign reserves hovered around USD 4 billion while experts warned of default in coming months. With the IMF approving its policies, the country will get access to multilateral and bilateral loans to build its reserves and plan for a long time.

The country's economy has faced several challenges in recent times, including devastating floods last year and commodity price hikes following the war in Ukraine.

Sri Lanka's main opposition party to oppose government's debt restructuring plan in Parliament

COLOMBO, June 30 (PTI): Sri Lanka's main opposition party on Friday said it will vote against the government's domestic debt restructuring (DDR) plan as it is concerned over its implications on the cash-strapped country's banking and finance sector.

The Cabinet approved the debt restructuring plan on Wednesday which was to be referred to the public finance committee in parliament and finally for parliament's approval on Saturday.

Sri Lanka's banking and finance sector feared for the worse as the government set about restructuring the local debt of USD 42 billion, which is more than its external debt component.

"We will vote against it as there is no clarity on it", Ranjith Maduma Bandara, General Secretary of the Samagi Jana Balawegaya (SJB) party told reporters.

Harsha De Silva, another lawmaker from the SJB, who heads the public finance committee said, "Based on the Governor's explanation, the banking and insurance sectors as a whole won't be affected. But through the international sovereign bonds and the Sri Lanka Development Bonds the banks could get affected".

The opposition said they were looking forward to seeing the final proposal that will be presented in Parliament at the special session.

The parallel negotiations with the external creditors are ongoing in terms of the International Monetary Fund's bailout conditions for a nearly USD 3 billion bailout over 4 years.

President Ranil Wickremesinghe, who is also the finance minister, hopes to reduce USD 17 billion out of the total external debt of USD 41 billion.

Explaining the implications of the domestic debt restructuring on the local banks, the governor of the central bank Nandalal Weerasinghe said on Thursday that the banking sector would be totally safe from any adverse effects of the DDR.

He said the Central Bank holdings will be restructured, "the treasury bills will be exchanged for treasury bonds, with a longer-term grace period of 5 years and with maturity extensions, the treasury bonds held by banks would be excluded.

More consultations by the parliament's public finance committee are billed to take place today and the final form of the parliamentary motion would be known thereafter.

Meta also made a similar announcement last week, saying it would remove news from Facebook and Instagram before the law comes into force

Google set to remove news links in Canada over online news law

OTTAWA (ONTARIO), June 30 (AP): Google has said it will remove links to Canadian news on its platforms across Canada over a new law that will require digital giants to compensate media outlets for content they share or otherwise re-purpose.

The tech giant on Thursday said it will remove Canadian news links from Google News — a personalised aggregator service available by web or app that highlights local news — and from Google Discover, a feature on mobile phones that helps people find content.

Canadian Heritage Minister Pablo Rodriguez accused Google of trying to bully Canadians, but added that "big tech isn't bigger than Canada".

"Big tech would rather spend money changing their platforms to block news from Canadians instead of paying a small share of the billions they make in advertising dollars," Rodriguez tweeted.

Google said it informed Prime Minister Justin Trudeau's Liberal government of its decision. It did not say exactly when it would begin to remove news, but indicated it would happen before the law takes effect by the end of the year. That law was passed last week. Only Canadian news will be blocked, so Canadian users will still be able to see content from outlets like Fox News or BBC, for example.

Meta made a similar announcement last week, saying it would remove news from its social media platforms Facebook and Instagram before the law comes into force. It is also ending existing deals with local publishers.

Meta is already running a test to block news for up to 5 per cent of its Canadian users. Google ran a similar test earlier this year.

Kent Walker, president of global affairs for Google and its parent company, Alphabet, said the law is "unworkable".

In a blog post published to Google's website Thursday, Walker said the bill creates a price on links, resulting in an uncapped financial liability "simply for facilitating Canadians' access to news from Canadian publishers".

"We don't take this decision or its impacts lightly and believe it's important to be transparent with Canadian publishers and our users as early as possible," Walker wrote.

The Online News Act requires both Google and Meta to enter into agreements with news publishers to pay them for news content that appears on their sites if it helps them generate money. Google had been seeking assurances about how much that could cost it and how the bargaining process would unfold. Those details are likely to become clearer after the bill's regulatory process is complete.

Legacy media and broadcasters have praised the bill, which promises to "enhance fairness" in the digital news marketplace and help bring in more money for shrinking newsrooms. Tech giants including Meta and Google have been blamed in the past for disrupting and dominating advertising, eclipsing smaller, traditional players.

Rodriguez had previously expressed hope the government could come to a positive resolution with both companies to prevent them from removing news. He also said the government would continue to support newsrooms if Google and Meta pulled news from their platforms, though he did not say exactly how that would be done.

UN votes to establish independent body to clarify fate of over 130,000 Syrians missing in conflict

UNITED NATIONS, June 30 (AP): The UN General Assembly has approved a resolution that will establish an independent body to determine what happened to more than 130,000 people missing as a result of the conflict in Syria.

The resolution, an important response to appeals by their families and loved ones, was adopted on Thursday by the 193-member world body on a vote of 83-11 with 62 abstentions. Among those opposing the resolution was Syria, which said it will not cooperate with the new institution. Russia, China, North Korea, Venezuela, Cuba and Iran also voted no.

The resolution, spearheaded by Luxembourg, noted that after 12 years of fighting in Syria "little progress has been achieved in alleviating the suffering of families by providing answers as to the fate and whereabouts of all missing persons".

It authorises the establishment of an Independent Institution of Missing Persons in the Syrian Arab Republic, under UN auspices, "to clarify the fate and whereabouts of all missing persons ... and to provide adequate support to victims, survivors and the families of those missing".

It says victims, survivors and the families of the missing should be represented in the new body, which will be guided by principles including "do no harm," impartiality, transparency and the confidentiality of sources and information.

Under the resolution, UN Secretary-General Antonio Guterres must present terms of reference for the new institution within 80 working days and take steps to speedily establish the body and put it in operation. It requests the UN chief to report on implementation of the resolution within 100 working days.

Luxembourg's UN ambassador, Olivier Maes, told the General Assembly before the vote that "every day families, especially women, face administrative and legal difficulties, financial uncertainties and deep trauma as they continue to search for their missing loved ones".

He noted that Guterres recommended in a report last August that UN members consider establishing an independent institution to clarify the fate of the missing. He cited insufficient coordination among current bodies dealing with Syria's missing and said families often had to report disappearances to multiple places.

Maes said the new institution will be "a one-stop shop" and serve as a single place to collect and compare data and ensure coordination and communication with all parties.

Toll rises to 3 in fresh firing in Manipur

IMPHAL, June 30 (PTI): The toll in exchange of fire between security forces and suspected rioters in Manipur's Kangpokpi district a day before, rose to three on Friday, with one more person succumbing to injuries in hospital, officials said.

Five people were reported injured in the firefight, they said.

Armed rioters had opened unprovoked firing at Haraoethel village on Thursday. The Army said security forces personnel "responded in a calibrated manner" to tackle the situation, they said.

The mob dispersed by 10 pm, as police and RAF were employed for crowd control, the officials said.

Members of the community to which two of the rioters belonged collected their bodies on Thursday and took out a procession to chief minister N Biren Singh's residence here, they said.

The demonstrators, led by women, even dared police to arrest them, and were also seen burning tyres in the middle of the road to prevent police movement, the officials said.

As security personnel stopped them from marching to Singh's residence, the processionists turned violent, prompting police to use tear gas shells and resort to lathicharge to disperse the mob.

Assam Rifles columns were deployed at National Sports University & K Munlai village on Thursday, after intermittent gunfire from automatic weapons was heard from multiple directions towards Haraoethel village.

An official said unidentified gunmen fired without provocation in the early hours of Thursday and again in the evening.

Giving details of the morning firing, the official Twitter handle of the Army, operating in the region, stated armed rioters opened unprovoked firing at 5.30 am.

"Own troops deployed in the area immediately mobilised to prevent escalation of situation. While enroute to the site, own columns drew effective fire from armed rioters," the official 'Spear Corps' handle of the Army said.

It said the troops "responded in a calibrated manner to prevent any collateral damage. Swift action by troops resulted in cessation of firing".

In another tweet in the evening, the Spear Corps said: "At approx 4 PM, troops deployed in the area heard firing from east of village K Munlai. Further, at approx 5.15 PM, exchange of fire reported from direction of village Bethel, south of National Sports University. Own columns are dominating the area to de-escalate the situation."

The area is located around 20 km from capital city of Imphal.

A candlelight march was also held in Churachandpur on Thursday to pray for peace in Manipur.

More than 100 people have lost their lives in the ethnic violence between Meitei and Kuki communities in the northeastern state so far.

Meghalaya launches PRIME tourism vehicles to enhance high-value tourism experience

HT Bureau

SHILLONG, June 30: The state government of Meghalaya has taken a momentous stride towards promoting economic growth through tourism by unveiling PRIME tourism vehicles. With a vision to position Meghalaya as a USD 10 billion economy by 2030, the government recognises the immense potential of tourism in driving the state's development. The tourism industry in Meghalaya not only provides livelihood opportunities for thousands but also contributes around 4.1% to the state's Gross State Domestic Product (GSDP). Leveraging the multiplier effects on various sectors, tourism offers the prospect of inclusive growth and economic prosperity. The ceremonious launch of the PRIME tourism vehicles was conducted by chief minister of Meghalaya, Conrad K Sangma, in the presence of key dignitaries including Paul Lyngdoh, tourism minister, government of Meghalaya.

To meet the expectations of discerning tourists seeking exclusive experiences, Meghalaya aims to offer luxury infrastructure and personalized travel options. After conducting market research and stakeholder discussions with tour operators and the Tourism Department, the government identified a gap in providing superior ride quality, spacious interiors, chauffeur-driven vehicles, and other amenities to cater to high-value tourists. To bridge this gap and promote high-value tourism, the Tourism Department of Meghalaya launched the "PRIME Tourism Vehicle" scheme, targeting entrepreneurs, tour operators, and tourism cooperative societies.

Meghalaya, blessed with breathtaking landscapes, cascading waterfalls, and rich biodiversity, has emerged as a paradise for nature enthusiasts. In addition to its natural beauty, the state boasts a vibrant cultural heritage and exquisite handicrafts. However, the development of infrastructure is crucial to facilitate tourism growth while preserving the delicate nature of the state's tourist sites.

Expressing his enthusiasm for the initiative, chief minister Conrad K Sangma stated, "We are thrilled to launch the PRIME Tourism Vehicles scheme, a significant leap forward in elevating Meghalaya's tourism potential. By offering luxurious travel options, well-trained drivers, and prioritizing safety, we aspire to curate unforgettable experiences for our esteemed visitors. This initiative not only drives economic growth but also empowers entrepreneurs and skilled drivers, fostering the holistic development of Meghalaya."

Emphasising sustainable tourism, the government of Meghalaya adopts a holistic approach to tourism development. The "PRIME Tourism Vehicle" scheme aligns with the principle of high-value, low-volume tourism, ensuring that tourist footfall harmonizes with infrastructure capacity, socio-cultural values, and environmental sustainability. The scheme aims to enrich the travel experience of high-spending tourists, provide well-trained drivers who can also serve as guides, facilitate easy vehicle booking at government-approved rates, and create livelihood opportunities.

During the one-month launch period, the scheme received an overwhelming response, with over 600 applicants applying for the program. Through a rigorous assessment process, 47 beneficiaries were selected in the first phase. The Tourism Department conducted training sessions and assessments to ensure the competence of drivers and prioritize passenger and driver safety. To enhance safety further, GPS devices have been installed in all vehicles for easy tracking in case of emergencies.

In addition to the PRIME Tourism Vehicle Scheme, the Tourism Department has distributed life jackets, first aid boxes, and inflatable to tourism stakeholders across the state, emphasizing the safety of tourists visiting water bodies. Collaborating with the Tour Operators Association of Meghalaya, the department has also organized training workshops for boatmen in various locations, focusing on basic lifesaving skills and CPR.

The launch of the PRIME Tourism Vehicles scheme marks a significant milestone in Meghalaya's journey towards becoming a sought-after tourist destination. The state government remains committed to promoting sustainable tourism, driving economic growth, and creating unparalleled experiences for visitors.

Futuristic policies in last few years boosted global recognition for Indian universities: PM

Valedictory ceremony of Delhi University's centenary celebrations

NEW DELHI, June 30 (PTI): Prime Minister Narendra Modi asserted on Friday that futuristic policies and decisions taken in the last few years in the education sector have boosted global recognition for Indian universities.

Addressing the valedictory ceremony of Delhi University's centenary celebrations, Modi noted that the number of Indian universities that featured in the latest QS global ranking has surged to 45 from 12 in 2014, the year he became prime minister.

He referred to the rise in the numbers of IITs, IIMs, AIIMS and NITs across the country and described them as the building blocks of the new India.

Modi took a metro ride to reach the event. During his journey, he interacted with students.

At the event, the prime minister spoke about his recent state visit to the US and said the global respect and prestige for India has grown because of the rise in its capability as well as the world's faith in the country's youngsters. Futuristic policies in the education sector boosted global recognition for Indian universities, Modi said.

Citing agreements signed between the two countries during his visit, he said these will bring new opportunities for youngsters of India in fields ranging from the earth to space, semiconductors and artificial intelligence.

India's youngsters will have access to technologies which used to be out of their reach, PM Modi said, adding that it will boost their skill development.

Companies like Micron and Google will be investing heavily in the country. It is a sign of the India of the future, he said.

Lauding Delhi University's contribution to different aspects of life, the prime minister said it is not merely a university but a movement.

Modi referred to celebrated ancient Indian universities in Nalanda and Taxila and said they were a source of happiness and prosperity and India's science guided the world in that era.

"India's rich education system is the carrier of its prosperity," he said, underlining the high Indian share in the global GDP of that time. Continuous attacks during the period of slavery destroyed these institutions leading to obstruction of the intellectual flow of India and bringing the growth to a standstill, he added.

He said that after Independence, universities played a crucial role in giving concrete shape to the emotional swell of post-independence India by creating a strong generation of talented youngsters.

Delhi University too played a major part in that, he said. This understanding of the past gives shape to our existence, shape to our ideals and expansion to the vision of the future, he said.

He also underlined that India which was once considered a fragile economy has now become one of the top five economies in the world. Modi asserted that those with knowledge are happy and strong.

The number of Indian start-ups has crossed a lakh now, he said, compared to a few hundred of them before 2014.

Citing India's growth in the last few years, the prime minister said the figures for patents have surged.

"The third decade of the last century gave new momentum to the struggle for India's independence, now the third decade of the new century will give impetus to the development journey of India," he said.

Noting that the university's 125th year will coincide with the country's 100th year of Independence, Modi said it should dedicate itself to the goal of having a developed India by 2047.

During the event, PM Modi also laid the foundation stone of the Delhi University Computer Centre, buildings of the Faculty of Technology and of the Academic Block on the North Campus of the university.

The University of Delhi was established on May 1, 1922. Since then, it has grown and expanded immensely and now has 86 departments, 90 colleges, and more than six lakh students.

At the event, the prime minister noted that the centenary celebrations of the University of Delhi are taking place at a time when India is celebrating the Azadi Ka Amrit Mahotsav after completing 75 years of its independence.

"The universities and educational institutions of any nation present a reflection of its achievements," he said. In the 100-year journey of DU, the prime minister said, there have been many historic landmarks which have connected the lives of many students, teachers and others.

Noting that the number of women studying at DU is more than men, he pointed out that the gender ratio has significantly improved in the country.

Modi emphasised the importance of an interconnection between the resolutions of a university and a nation and said that the deeper the roots of educational institutions, the higher the progress of the country.

He also talked about the flexibility provided in the new National Education Policy for selecting subjects.

Modi mentioned that the National Institutional Ranking Framework is helping in quality improvement and infusing competitiveness among institutions.

He also pointed out the effort to link the autonomy of the institutions with the quality of education.

He explained the impact of the growing profile of India on the students.

He said now people wish to know about India. He mentioned India's help to the world during the coronavirus pandemic, adding that this created a curiosity in the world to know more about India that delivers even during a crisis.

He said growing recognition through events like the G20 presidency is creating new avenues for students such as yoga, science, culture, festivals, literature, history, heritage and cuisine.

"There is an increase in the demand for Indian youth who can tell the world about India and can take our things to the world," he said.

He gave the example of tribal museums being set up in different states of the country and the development journey of independent India being presented through the prime ministers' museum. He also expressed delight that the world's largest heritage museum - 'Yuge Yugeen Bharat' - is also going to be built in Delhi.

The prime minister also recognised the growing recognition of Indian teachers and mentioned how world leaders have often told him about their Indian teachers.

If Rahul becomes PM, scams and corruption will become India's destiny: Amit Shah

UDAIPUR, June 30 (PTI): Union home minister Amit Shah on Friday said that if Rahul Gandhi becomes prime minister, scams and corruption will become the destiny of India and if Narendra Modi is re-elected, fraudsters will go behind bars.

He also targeted the Congress government in Rajasthan, saying that had it set up a special court in the Kanhaiya Lal murder case, which happened in Udaipur last year, the accused would have been hanged by now.

He accused the Ashok Gehlot government of being the number one in corruption and called upon the people to oust it from power in the upcoming assembly elections.

The minister exuded confidence that the BJP will form government in the state in the upcoming assembly elections and Modi will become prime minister once again in the 2024 Lok Sabha elections with 300 seats.

Addressing a public meeting in Udaipur to highlight the central government's achievements in the last nine years, Shah said these nine years were transformative for India in many ways.

Taking a jibe at opposition parties that held a meeting in Patna recently to chalk out a joint strategy ahead of next year's Lok Sabha polls, he said that those who had assembled there were involved in corruption and do not want to do good for people, but were looking for the future of their sons. He said that the goal of Sonia Gandhi is to make Rahul Gandhi prime minister, Lalu Yadav's goal is to make his son Tejashwi Yadav prime minister, Mamata Banerjee's goal is to make her nephew Abhishek chief minister and similarly Ashok Gehlot wants to make his son Vaibhav Gehlot chief minister. "If Rahul Gandhi becomes prime minister, scams and corruption will become the destiny of India and if Narendra Modi becomes the PM again, fraudsters will go behind bars," he said. Further targeting the Gehlot government, he alleged that it was doing vote bank politics and was responsible for the delay in the punishment to culprits of the Kanhaiya Lal murder case. Kanhaiya Lal, a tailor in Udaipur, was murdered on June 28 last year by two cleaver-wielding men, who had accused him of insulting Islam after he allegedly posted content in support of suspended BJP leader Nupur Sharma.

Alleging that the government did not provide security to Kanhaiya Lal, Shah said it should be "ashamed". "Who did not give security to Kanhaiya? Whose police remained silent till he died. You didn't even want to catch (the accused), the NIA had caught them. And don't lie Gehlot ji that the charge sheet has not been filed, I say with authority that the charge sheet was filed on December 22, 2022. The task of setting up a special court is yours (state government), so that the accused are punished soon," he said. "The Rajasthan government, taking the High Court into confidence, did not constitute a special court otherwise the culprits of Kanhaiya Lal would have been hanged by now. Shame on them (Congress), they do vote bank politics," he said.

Shah alleged that majority community members were being exploited under the Congress rule in Rajasthan. "Modi banned PFI but in Gehlot's rule, a rally of PFI was held in Kota, Hindu festival was stopped in Karauli, Sangh's path sanchalan stopped, 300-year-old Shiva temple was demolished in Alwar," he alleged.

"Even after so many years of independence, keeping the Constitution aside in the greed of vote banks, injustice is being done to the majority here. Only those who do vote bank politics can do this. BJP does not do vote bank politics," he said. He also said that due to weak prosecution, the accused of the Jaipur bomb blast case of 2008 were acquitted by the Rajasthan High Court. Shah said that on the completion of Modi's nine years, BJP has started thanksgiving yatra across the country.

"I have travelled across the country, the support I have seen, it is certain that Modi is going to become the prime minister with 300 seats," he said. He said that the respect that Modi is getting in the whole world, it is not the respect of Modi or of BJP, it is the respect of 130 crore people of the country. Shah said that before 2014, during Manmohan Singh's government, "Aaliya-Maliya-Jamaliya" (terrorists) from Pakistan used to enter India and carry out blasts, but Pakistan committed mistakes in Uri and Pulwama because this time, Narendra Modi was the prime minister and within ten days, air strike and surgical strike were executed and terrorists were eliminated in Pakistan.

Launching a sharp attack on the Gehlot government, Shah said that the Congress government has broken all records of corruption and was doing vote bank politics. He claimed that more than 19 recruitment examination question papers have been leaked, and the son of the state Congress president tops the exam. Commenting on CM Gehlot's tour of different districts and inflation relief camps, Shah said that Gehlot is roaming here and there in this age but the BJP's government is going to be formed in the assembly elections. "If someone shows a video of this meeting to Gehlot, then he will know that the time has come for his government to go. The BJP government is going to be formed with full majority in both 2023 (assembly polls) and 2024 (Lok Sabha elections)," he said.

UCC draft for U'khand ready to be submitted to govt: Panel head Ranjana Desai

NEW DELHI, June 30 (PTI): The draft of the proposed Uniform Civil Code for Uttarakhand is complete and would soon be submitted to the state government, Justice (ret'd) Ranjana Prakash Desai said on Friday. Desai, who heads the committee of experts set up by the Uttarakhand government last year, said the panel has drafted the code taking into account all shades of opinions and looking into various statutes and uncodified laws, including the statutory framework in select countries.

Besides, the Committee has tried to understand the "finer nuances" of the various customary practices that prevail in different parts of Uttarakhand. "It gives me immense pleasure to inform you that the drafting of the proposed uniform civil code for Uttarakhand is now complete," Desai told a press conference here.

"The report of the committee along with the draft code would soon be printed and submitted to the government of Uttarakhand," she added. The Uttarakhand govt had constituted a committee of experts under retired Supreme Court judge Desai in May last year, to examine the various existing laws regulating personal civil matters of the residents of Uttarakhand and to prepare draft law or laws or suggest changes in existing laws on such subjects as marriage, divorce, property rights, succession, inheritance, adoption, maintenance, custody, and guardianship. A notification in this regard was issued on May 27, 2022, and the terms of reference were notified on June 10 last year. Replying to questions, Desai refused to share the details of the draft UCC or the committee's report, saying it has to be first submitted to the state govt. "Our emphasis is to ensure gender equality, with keeping women, children and disabled persons in focus. We have tried to bring everyone on an equal footing with elimination of arbitrariness and discrimination," she, however, said.

AAP govt challenges Centre's Delhi services ordinance in SC

NEW DELHI, June 30 (PTI): The Delhi government on Friday moved the Supreme Court against the Centre's ordinance over control of services in the national capital, officials said.

Earlier in the day, the AAP had announced that chief minister Arvind Kejriwal will burn copies of the Centre's ordinance at the party office in central Delhi on July 3.

The party had on June 11 organised a maha-rally against the ordinance. The Centre had on May 19 promulgated the ordinance to create an authority for the transfer and posting of IAS and DANICS officers in Delhi, with the AAP government calling the move a circumvention of the Supreme Court verdict on control of services.

The ordinance, which came a week after the Supreme Court handed over the control of services in Delhi, excluding police, public order and land, to the elected government, seeks to set up a National Capital Civil Service Authority for the transfer of and disciplinary proceedings against Group-A officers.

Transfer and postings of all officers of the Delhi government were under the executive control of the Lieutenant Governor before the May 11 verdict of the apex court.

Appointment of ministers CM's sole prerogative, says DMK Govt 'rejects' Governor's sacking of Senthil Balaji

CHENNAI, June 30 (PTI): The ruling DMK in Tamil Nadu on Friday strongly asserted that appointment and dismissal of ministers is the sole prerogative of the chief minister and lashed out at Governor R N Ravi for his move of dismissing V Senthil Balaji from the MK Stalin-led Cabinet, which was subsequently retracted on the advice of the Union Home Ministry on the matter. Stating that the Tamil Nadu government was "disregarding" the Governor's action of sacking Balaji, finance minister Thangam Thennarasu said Stalin will write a detailed letter to Ravi on the matter. The party also said it may weigh all options and legal factors related to Ravi's action, which came in for criticism from allies of the ruling party as well as other quarters.

Addressing the press here along with law minister S Raghupathy and Rajya Sabha member P Wilson, who is also an advocate, Thennarasu recalled Stalin earlier saying the Governor has no right to sack Balaji and that the issue will be faced legally.

He alleged that Ravi acted "unilaterally" and "in haste" over the matter and decided to dismiss Balaji without getting proper counsel, only for the Union Home Ministry to point out that he should speak to the Attorney General on the matter.

"After that, he wrote to the chief minister saying he was keeping in abeyance the letter informing of the dismissal of Senthil Balaji," the minister said. "In this matter, the CM is going to send a detailed letter to the Governor. The Governor has no legal authority to dismiss Senthil Balaji nor is there any Constitutional basis to do so."

"It is the sole prerogative of the CM to appoint and dismiss ministers...this has been made clear by the CM to the Governor and that his action is not valid," he added. Thennarasu said a governor should "apply his mind" before taking a decision, and reiterated that Ravi acted in haste in this matter. Therefore, "this government rejects (the Governor's action) completely."

The Tamil Nadu government makes it clear the Governor has no authority to do so," he asserted. "We disregard the letter," he said, adding that all legal options will be explored as part of future course of action.

Earlier, the CM went into a huddle with legal experts on the matter. The party brass may consult its leaders and office-bearers to devise a strategy -- both legal and political -- on the matter, sources said.

"The Governor has backtracked and he has been exposed thoroughly," a DMK office-bearer told PTI adding that all the "political maneuvering" of the BJP to target the DMK has been backfiring in Tamil Nadu.

'Proactive' Modi govt helps people even before they face problems, has reduced poverty, says Nadda

KHARGONE, June 30 (PTI): Bharatiya Janata Party chief JP Nadda on Friday said the Narendra Modi government at the Centre was "proactive" as it took care of people even before they faced any problem, which had resulted in reduction in poverty in the country. Addressing a public gathering in Khargone in Madhya Pradesh to highlight achievements in nine years of Modi rule, Nadda said poverty had dipped from 22 per cent nine years ago to 10 per cent, while the "very poor" category was now less than 1 per cent of the population. While the PM had launched several welfare programmes, the Congress had hit below the belt by calling him names, lowly, illiterate, chawala (tea seller) etc, Nadda said. "The Narendra Modi government is proactive and pro-responsive. It takes care of people even before they face any problem. It can be seen in Central schemes like Ayushman Bharat, which is aimed to protect people's health, and the PM Kisan Samman Nidhi (direct benefit transfer to farmers)," Nadda said. The Ayushman Bharat scheme, under which cover of ₹ 5 lakh per family is provided, is among the biggest health schemes in the world and benefits 40 per cent of the country's poor irrespective of caste, creed and religion, he said. Slamming Congress leader Rahul Gandhi, the BJP national president said the former had gone to London and spoken about the need to restore democracy in India, whereas it was his grandmother and former PM Indira Gandhi who had imposed Emergency in 1975, leading to 1.78 lakh people being jailed. Nadda said just one house was allotted under the Indira Awas Yojana in a panchayat in his constituency when he was an MLA in 1993, while the Modi government had built nine crore houses in the past nine years under the PM Awas Yojana.

Andheri subway shut twice due to waterlogging, water stock in lakes rises

Intermittent showers continue in Mumbai

MUMBAI, June 30 (PTI): Moderate to heavy rains continued to lash Mumbai and its suburbs on Friday, which hit the road traffic in some parts due to waterlogging but boosted levels in lakes providing water to the city, while the local train operations remained largely unaffected, officials said.

A busy subway between Andheri and Jogeshwari railway stations of the Western Railway had to be kept shut for traffic twice during the day due to accumulation of water around it, they said.

Since the onset of southwest monsoon over Mumbai on June 25, the city has been getting heavy showers. As per the India Meteorological Department's (IMD) data, the city has received more than 95 per cent of the rainfall recorded this month in just six days - between June 24 and 29.

Incremental rainfall increased to the water level of seven lakes supplying water to the city. The aggregate water stock of these reservoirs was 7.26 per cent on June 28, which has now gone up to 10.88 per cent, they said.

The city civic body earlier announced that it would impose a 10 per cent water cut starting from Saturday in view of the dwindling stock.

In the 24 hours ending 8 am on Friday, Mumbai, its eastern suburbs and western suburbs received an average rainfall of 31 mm, 45 mm and 61 mm respectively, an official said.

The city has been getting moderate to heavy showers since early morning and the intensity of rainfall is more in the suburbs, which resulted in waterlogging at some locations, he said.

The Andheri subway had to be closed for traffic twice during the day due to waterlogging.

The police first closed the subway for traffic around 10.45 am and traffic was diverted to other routes. After the accumulated water receded, vehicular movement was resumed around 11.45 am. However, it was again shut for traffic around 3.40 pm, officials said.

"Due to waterlogging, Andheri Subway is closed, while traffic is diverted to Vile Parle bridge and Captain Gore Marg, SV road," Mumbai traffic police tweeted.

The suburban train services of the Central Railway and Western Railway were normal, the railway authorities said.

However, commuters on some routes, including the Central Railways' Harbour line that operates services between Panvel and Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj Terminus (CSMT), complained of delay in train operations in the morning hours.

Trains were running some minutes behind their regular schedule on the Main line of the Central Railway as well, some office-goers said.

official said.

The Brihanmumbai Municipal Corporation (BMC) said the useful water stock in seven reservoirs supplying water to the metropolis has increased to 10.88 per cent, which was 10.51 per cent on this day in 2022 and 17.81 per cent in 2021.

The seven reservoirs - Bhatsa, Upper Vaitarna, Middle Vaitarna, Tansa, Modak Sagar, Vihar and Tulsii, located in Mumbai, Thane and Nashik districts - provide 3,800 MLD water to Mumbai everyday.

As per the BMC's disaster management cell, Mumbai reported 40 incidents of tree fall or tree branches fall, 13 of short-circuits in the 24-hour period ending 8 am.

Seven incidents involving collapse of parts of residential properties were also reported during that period.

The ceiling of a bathroom caved in on Thursday night, in which a 35-year-old person lost his life at Kandivali East, while a wooden loft fell at a house in slum-dominated Ganapat Patil Nagar in Dahisar that led to death of a one-and-half-year old child, it said.

Guv cannot act unilaterally in dismissing minister without aid and advice of council of ministers: Legal experts

NEW DELHI, June 30 (PTI): Legal experts on Friday voiced surprise at Tamil Nadu Governor R N Ravi's unprecedented order unilaterally dismissing jailed minister V Senthil Balaji from the council of ministers, only to keep it in abeyance hours later amid mounting criticism.

In a sudden development on Thursday, the governor dismissed Balaji, who was recently arrested in an alleged cash-for-jobs scam, from the state council of ministers. However, under fire from the ruling DMK and other parties, he later informed Chief Minister MK Stalin that he wanted the order to be kept in abeyance and will seek legal opinion on the issue.

Former attorney general Mukul Rohatgi, commenting on the development, said, "Governor has no business to dismiss a minister unilaterally. He has exceeded his jurisdiction. How can he decide who should be in the cabinet and who should not be in the cabinet? He has to act on the aid and advice of the council of ministers."

Senior advocate Ajit Sinha said it was not advisable for the governor to act unilaterally and sack a minister.

"It was not advisable for him to take a decision unilaterally. It is a settled law of the constitution bench of the Supreme Court in the 1994 (S R) Bommai case. At the most, he can suggest to the chief minister to take action against the minister but the governor has to act on aid and advice of the council of ministers. Ultimately, it is in the name of the governor that a decision to dismiss will be taken but he can't act unilaterally," Sinha said.

In March 1994, a nine-judge constitution bench of the apex court gave a landmark judgement in the S R Bommai case with respect to Article 356 and its arbitrary use by the central governments.

Another senior lawyer, who did not wish to be named, said a governor cannot act on his own in such matters after the 1974 verdict of the Supreme Court in the Shamsheer Singh case.

"The Shamsheer Singh case dealt with the power of the president and governor. In the western system of governance, the president and governor have no individual discretionary powers except very limited ones. Otherwise, he is bound entirely by the aid and advice of the council of ministers."

"He does not have independent power to remove a minister. Otherwise, the entire federal structure will fall because if the governor has this power, then tomorrow he can say he will dismiss the entire government," he said.

In the SR Bommai case, which dealt with imposition of the President's Rule under Article 356, the top court held, "The office of the Governor is a vital link and a channel of impartial and objective communication of the working of the Constitution by the State Government to the President of India. He is to ensure protection and sustenance of the constitutional process of the working of the Constitution in the State playing an impartial role."

It had said the governor should play an important role, and in his dual undivided capacity as a head of the State, he should impartially assist the President.

"As a constitutional head of the State Government in times of constitutional crisis he should bring about sobriety," the SC had said in its verdict.

In the 1974 case of Shamsheer Singh versus State of Punjab which dealt with appointment of subordinate judges, the top court held, "We declare the law of this branch of our Constitution to be that the President and Governor, custodians of all executive and other powers under various Articles, shall, by virtue of these provisions, exercise their formal constitutional powers only upon and in accordance with the advice of their Ministers save in a few well known exceptional situations."

The top court, in its 2020 verdict in Shivraj Singh Chouhan versus Speaker of Madhya Pradesh Assembly held, "The powers which have been entrusted to the Governor are, generally speaking, exercised on the basis of the aid and advice of the Council of Ministers in terms of the provisions of Article 163 (1). It said Article 163(1) stipulates that the Council of Ministers with the chief minister as its head would aid and advise the governor in the exercise of his functions except where the Constitution requires the governor to exercise his functions or any of them at his discretion.

On Thursday, in an official release, the Tamil Nadu Raj Bhavan said, "There are reasonable apprehensions that the continuation of V Senthil Balaji in the Council of Ministers will adversely impact the due process of law, including fair investigation that may eventually lead to the breakdown of Constitutional machinery in the State."

"Senthil Balaji is facing serious criminal proceedings in a number of cases of corruption, including taking cash for jobs and money laundering. Abusing his position as a minister, he has been influencing the investigation and obstructing the due process of law and justice," the release said, adding "Under these circumstances, the Governor has dismissed Senthil Balaji from the Council of Ministers with immediate effect."

Gujarat to host four G20 meets in July

The meetings will take place in Surat, Kevadia and Gandhinagar and Ahmedabad, the official said.

"Gujarat will hold important events in the third phase of G20, which includes ministerial and summit-level meetings. Generally, final reports will be prepared in these events," said Mona Kandhar, senior bureaucrat and nodal officer for G20 meetings in Gujarat.

A summit meeting of mayors of G20 countries under Urban 20 will be held at Mahatma Mandir in Gandhinagar on July 7 and 8, while a final meeting of the working group of finance ministers, Central Bank governors as well as finance secretary and deputy governors of central banks will be held in Gandhinagar from July 14, she said.

"Apart from this, the third trade and investment working group meeting will be held at Ektanagar in Kevadia from July 10 to 12, which is also very important and a side event for logistics will also be held," Kandhar said.

A meeting of business representatives under B20 (Business 20) to be held in Surat from July 1, where they will discuss about textiles, finance, banking, and diamond, which are core industries in Surat, she said.

Speakers at the Surat event include Union Cabinet Minister, Ministry of Ports, Shipping and Waterways & Ministry of Ayush Sarbananda Sonowal as the chief guest.

These meetings will provide an opportunity for business representatives to share their perspectives, insights, and policy recommendations on various economic and business-related topics and will play a very significant role in shaping global economic agendas and policies, the official said. "A visit to the DREAM City in Surat and a diamond manufacturing unit is planned for the guests during this B20 meet," Kandhar said.

Speaking about the Global Investors Summit held in Lucknow earlier this year, Adityanath said, "Investment proposals worth ₹ 36 lakh crore were received during the event. One crore people will get jobs from this investment."

Referring to the 2024 Lok Sabha elections, he said, "This is the time when we should not be misled by anyone. This country is not run by slogans but by the ground reality and this ground reality has been shown by Prime Minister (Narendra) Modi."

On Maurya's suggestion, Adityanath directed the PDA and the district administration to prepare a detailed project report to build a convention centre with a seating capacity of 10,000 in Prayagraj.

State minister Nand Gopal Gupta, MPs Rita Bahuguna Joshi and Keshari Devi Patel, Allahabad West MLA Siddharth Nath Singh and Mayor Ganesh Kesarwani were also present at the event.

Kejriwal emphasises on tackling water contamination in review meeting with DJB officials

NEW DELHI, June 30 (PTI): Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal on Friday held a review meeting with officials of the Delhi Jal Board and asserted that there will be no dearth of funds to supply clean water to city residents.

During the meeting, it was decided that the Delhi Jal Board (DJB) will end the problem of dirty water by finding out the root cause of pipeline leakages with the help of modern technology and resolve the issue permanently.

"Arvind Kejriwal held a regular review meeting with the Delhi Jal Board today and discussed about the detailed plan for ending the problem of dirty water in some of the areas. DJB officials said that to end the problem, they will use modern technology like helium gas and cameras to identify the pipeline leakage and find a permanent solution to it," the Chief Minister's Office said in a tweet.

Kejriwal urged DJB chairperson and minister Saurabh Bharadwaj to resolve the problem of contaminated water at the earliest. He also directed the Board to cross-examine and verify the localities listed out under its survey as those receiving dirty water supply.

"To address pipeline defects which may include cracks that allow the entry of impure water, officials suggested the use of helium-based tracking methods. Helium-based tracking eliminates the need for excavation or any other obstruction, making it a non-disruptive and efficient solution," a DJB official said.

During the meeting, Kejriwal noted that in the monsoon season, the low-lying areas of Delhi often face waterlogging due to incessant rains which leads to water contamination in certain areas of the city.

Earlier, in response to the severity of the situation, the chief minister had directed additional chief engineers (Maintenance) (ACE-M) from all zones to compile a comprehensive list of areas affected by water contamination.

Govt says tomato prices will cool down in next 15 days; normalise in a month

NEW DELHI, June 30 (PTI): Tomato prices are expected to cool down in the next 15 days with increase in supplies from producing centres and reach a normal level in a month, a top government official said, as retail prices of the kitchen staple shot up over ₹ 100 per kg in major cities.

he said.

Consumer Affairs Secretary Rohit Kumar Singh, in a media briefing, also said the retail prices of tomato in the national capital will come down immediately on improved supplies from Solan and Sirmour districts of Himachal Pradesh.

"The phenomena of price rise in tomato happens every year at this time. Every agriculture commodity in every country goes through a seasonality in the price cycle. In June, prices reached a high level,"

Tomato is also a highly perishable commodity and weather vulnerability, which has become prevalent in the recent times due to climate change and other issues, has disturbed the supplies, he added.

The secretary further said, "You cannot store tomato for a long time and transport it for a long distance. There is an inherent vulnerability in the commodity, Transportation is also a big issue."

June-August and October-November are also lean production seasons and prices in this period normally see a sharp increase, he said.

All India average retail price of tomato on June 29 was ruling at Rs 49 per kg as against ₹ 51.50 per kg in the year-ago same day, he said, and added, "I am not justifying the rate. This also proves seasonality."

Stating that it's a complex problem, the secretary said, however the government is handling it and finding a solution to streamline the supplies throughout the year. For this, a Grand Tomato Challenge was launched on Friday.

It is like a hackathon where ideas are being invited from students to industry stakeholders on primary processing, storage and valorisation of tomato, he said.

Manipur CM clears air

with one more person succumbing to injuries in hospital, officials said. Armed rioters had opened unprovoked firing at Haraothel village on Thursday. The Army said security forces personnel "responded in a calibrated manner" to tackle the situation, they said. Members of the community to which two of the rioters belonged collected their bodies on Thursday and took out a procession to the CM's residence here, they said.

The demonstrators, led by women, even dared police to arrest them, and were also seen burning tyres in the middle of the road to prevent police movement, the officials said. As security personnel stopped them from marching to Singh's residence, the processionists turned violent, prompting police to use tear gas shells and resort to lathi-charge to disperse the mob. More than 100 people have lost their lives in the ethnic violence between Meitei and Kuki communities in the northeastern state so far.

Meiteis account for about 53 percent of Manipur's population and live mostly in the Imphal Valley. Tribals -- Nagas and Kukis -- constitute another 40 percent of the population and reside in the hill districts.

Voice against delimitation

lodged strong protests against delimitation. The earlier draft was prepared under the chairmanship of former Justice Kuldeep Singh in 2007. The UOF secretary and president Asom Jatitya Dal Lurinyoti Gogoi, said that the delimitation move is not free from the political interests of the ruling party. He said that the UOF will take the issue to the people so that the delimitation move cannot destroy the contours of ethnic and indigenous communities which began with Saulung Sukapha in the Sivasagar district.

The present delimitation draft is opposed by the people of Sivasagar as it shatters the age-old communal and cultural heritage of the constituency. Senior Congress leader Rokibul Hussain, Rajior Dal supreme Akhil Gogoi, Congress leader, and MP Gaurav Gogoi and several others were present at the meeting.

United Naga Council, the apex body of Naga community in Manipur, the Scheduled Tribe Demand Committee, and prominent personalities including JNU professor Bimol A. Gandhi also visited two relief camps at Moirang in Bishnupur district, party officials said. Gandhi, who reached Moirang by a chopper from Imphal, met a number of affected people and listened to their plight.

Party sources said both the camps that Gandhi visited shelter around 1,000 people. Gandhi was accompanied by former Manipur chief minister Okram Ibobi Singh, party general secretary (organisation) KC Venugopal, PCC president Keisham Meghachandra Singh and former MP Ajoy Kumar.

He visited the INA war memorial and placed a floral tribute to Netaji Subhas Chandra Bose and the freedom fighters who raised the tricolour here in 1944. "We visited Moirang and went to two relief camps. After meeting the people of the relief camps, we visited the Netaji memorial where Rahul Gandhi paid floral tributes," Dr Kumar said. On Thursday, he had visited relief camps in Churachandpur, one of the worst affected towns in the ethnic rioting, which has plagued the northeastern state for the last two months.

High drama ensued during the trip, as his convoy of cars was stopped at Bishnupur by the local police, fearing the carcade may face attacks. Gandhi eventually turned back and flew down to Churachandpur by a helicopter. The Congress leader is on a two-day visit to Manipur to "bring a healing touch" to local communities.

Karnataka's free rice scheme to be rolled out today, beneficiaries to get cash for now

BENGALURU, June 30 (PTI): Karnataka food and civil supplies minister K H Muniyappa on Friday said the government is all set to roll out the 'Anna Bhagya' scheme, by crediting money to the bank account of the beneficiaries in lieu of the additional 5 kg of rice promised to every member of a BPL household, as sufficient quantity of the foodgrain is unavailable.

Facing difficulty in procuring large quantities of rice required to fulfil its poll guarantee, the state government on Wednesday decided to pay cash into the beneficiaries' accounts at the rate of ₹ 34 per kilo, for the additional 5kg of rice under the free rice scheme.

The minister also said that of the total additional 5 kg, the government plans to include 2 kg of ragi (finger millet) and jowar (sorghum) - instead of rice -- under the scheme in the southern and northern parts of Karnataka respectively, as per requirement, as these grains are considered a staple in these two regions.

In the southern part of the state, the government plans to give 2 kg of ragi and remaining will be rice, while in north Karnataka it will be 2 kg of jowar and remaining will be rice, the minister said. There is adequate stock of ragi available, while the stock of jowar is less, so we will supply as much as we can, after that we will provide a full 5 kg of rice, he added.

"We will get information about the beneficiaries and, based on their inputs in the days to come, if there is demand for more quantities of ragi and jowar from southern and northern parts of Karnataka respectively, changes will be made in the quantity," he said, adding that the government will procure required quantities of ragi and jowar directly from the farmers at MSP rates and stock it.

"From tomorrow, the scheme will begin. To pay to the bank accounts (of beneficiaries), we have information that 99 per cent of them have the accounts. Those without an account but have ration cards will have to open a bank account. We have said we will pay ₹ 34 per kg, and each person will get (cash for) 5 kg," Muniyappa said.

Speaking to reporters here, he said the amount will be paid to the bank account of the beneficiaries until there are enough grains to be distributed.

"The process is on for purchase of rice, as we had said we will supply rice or foodgrains for the poor..." he added.

Pointing out that the chief minister had promised to supply foodgrains from July 1, which is a Congress poll guarantee, Muniyappa said, "To keep up the promise, we are giving money for now."

"If the Centre had given rice from the stocks available, for cash payment, the state government would have supplied it from tomorrow," he said, adding, "Our month-long efforts in getting rice despite approaching central ministers and officials have failed."

"There are issues (in procuring rice). We have to issue a public tender. It has not been finalised. Also what kind of rice. We will decide on it and start giving rice as soon as possible," he added.

Asked as to how long the government will pay the amount to the account of the beneficiaries instead of supplying rice or foodgrains, the minister said, "I cannot give you a date for now, but I assure you that we will give rice as soon as possible. Giving money is a temporary arrangement."

On whether cash would be credited to the bank accounts from tomorrow itself, he said, "Money is ready, we have information about accounts. It will begin from tomorrow."

Adityanath hands over keys of houses built on land freed from Atiq Ahmad to 76 PMAY beneficiaries

PRAYAGRAJ (UP), June 30 (PTI): Uttar Pradesh Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath on Friday handed over keys of houses built on land freed from the "illegal" possession of slain gangster-turned-politician Atiq Ahmad under the Pradhan Mantri Awas Yojana (PMAY) to 76 beneficiaries.

Ahmad along with his brother Ashraf was shot dead at point-blank range by three men posing as journalists during a media interaction in April.

Addressing the event, Adityanath said the previous government stood with the mafia when it came to freeing the land of the poor.

"I will ask all the development authorities to build houses for the poor on the land freed from the mafia so that the poor can get shelter and their faith in the government will increase," he said.

Adityanath said 54 lakh poor people in the state have been allotted houses under PMAY in the past six years and 10 lakh more houses will be allotted soon.

"Six years ago, not a single poor person used to get a house under this scheme. The poor did not get houses because the state government at that time did not want to think about them. The central government used to write letters to provide accommodation, but the state government did not want to take the houses," he said.

According to a Prayagraj Development Authority (PDA) official, four-storey towers housing 1 BHK flats have been built in the Lukar-ganj area here.

Each flat costs ₹ 6 lakh and the beneficiaries paid ₹ 3.5 lakh. The central government paid ₹ 1.5 lakh, while the state government paid ₹ 1 lakh for every house, the official said.

Each flat has a balcony, electricity, sewerage and parking facility.

Adityanath also inaugurated and laid foundation stones of 226 development projects worth ₹ 768 crore at the event.

Greta Lee on Past Lives: 'Never felt so deeply connected to anything I'd read before'

NEW DELHI, June 30 (PTI): 'In-yun', or the Korean term for fate that connects people, often crops up in Sundance breakout movie Past Lives and its lead star Greta Lee says she now strongly believes in the idea that "we are all connected to each other".

The film, about two soulmates meeting each other after years, marks the phenomenal debut of playwright Celine Song. It is a story that is inspired by a moment from her own life when Song found herself acting as a translator between her American husband and her Korean childhood sweetheart, as the first-time filmmaker said in earlier interviews.

In Past Lives, Lee plays Na-young or Nora, a Korean who immigrates to Canada as a child and later moves to New York for her writing career. The 40-year-old actor said they wanted to tell a tale of "human experience of living" through a love story.

"In-yun' has everything to do with my process. I like to think that I had 'in-yun' with the script, actually immediately. I'd never felt so deeply connected to anything I'd read before... Now, 'in-yun' is something that I see everywhere. I can't unsee it. It's just the way that we are all connected to each other," Lee, also known for the web series Russian Doll and The Morning Show, told PTI in a virtual interview.

"In-yun", the leitmotif in Past Lives, comes from Buddhism and the concept of reincarnation, as Nora's character explains in the film. According to her character, every encounter between people is "in-yun" but "it takes 8,000 layers of 'in-yun'" for two people to be together in a lifetime.

Lee, an American actor born to Korean immigrants, said she felt an instant bond with writer-director Song. "She and I had this immediate connection based on what our hopes and ambitions for the movie could be, and telling the way we were hoping to tell the story about love," she added.

Past Lives takes viewers on a journey of time and fate through two young souls in South Korea, who, torn apart by destiny, find themselves reunited decades later in New York. The movie also features South Korean star Teo Yoo as Nora's childhood sweetheart Hae-sung and American actor John Magaro as her husband Arthur.

The movie was one of the most talked-about titles at the 2023 Sundance Film Festival and was later screened at the Berlin Film Festival. Earlier this month, it opened in US cinemas to unanimous praise. PVRINOX Pictures will release the film in India on July 7.

THE 54-YEAR-OLD HAS OVER TWO DECADES OF EXPERIENCE

Want Upton to make Indian hockey players mentally tough: Hockey India

NEW DELHI, June 30 (PTI): Hockey India wants Paddy Upton to develop in the men's team players an unshakable resolve and toughness that does not crumble under pressure -- the very traits that made Mahendra Singh's side a world beater in 2011.

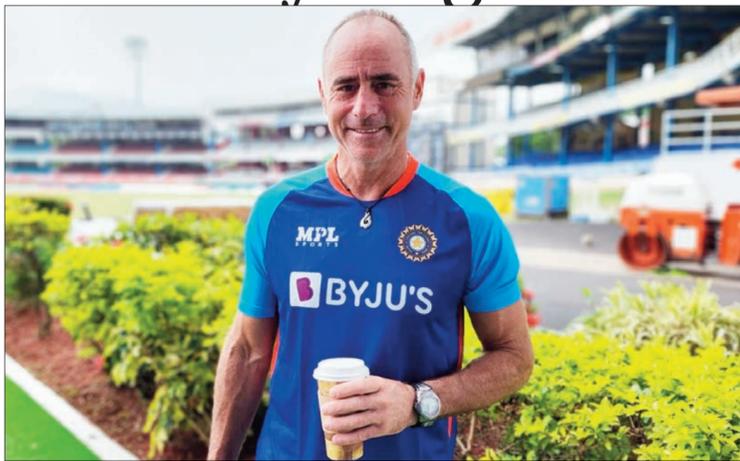

Hockey India Secretary General Bhola Nath Singh said if the celebrated South African mental conditioning coach can make a difference to the Indian men's team's performance, he could be asked to work till 2024 Olympics.

Upton is scheduled to hold three mental conditioning sessions, starting Saturday, during the ongoing National Camp for the men's core group at SAI Centre in Bengaluru.

HI will pay Rs 30 lakh to Upton for three sessions.

The association is expected to help the team ahead of Asian Champions Trophy in Chennai and the Asian Games in Hangzhou, China later this year.

According to Bhola Nath, the Indian team's habit of losing close games and conceding match-deciding goal at the last moment has been bothering the team management for long and they wanted to address it.

"We just want the development of Indian hockey at any cost. We have been losing most games or drawing them after conceding goals in the last few minutes or seconds. That has been bothering us for a long time. So we thought of bringing in someone of Upton's stature to work on that area."

Bhola Nath told PTI.

"Upton has achieved success with the Indian cricket team in 2011 and was also part of the many IPL teams besides some other big teams. He has vast knowledge about mental side of the game. "We just want him to help our players develop mental toughness, just like he did it with Indian cricket team in the 2011 World Cup," he added.

The 54-year-old Upton has over two decades of experience, having worked with professional athletes and teams across various sports. During his stint with the Indian cricket, the side had also achieved the top spot in the Test rankings.

The South African had also contributed to South African cricket team's unprecedented achievement of simultaneously holding the World No. 1 ranking in all three formats of the game.

Upton has also provided mental training workshops to the South African men's hockey team, Australia men's hockey team, Indian Super League (ISL) sides FC Goa and FC Hyderabad, England men's Rugby team and many other sports teams.

Besides, he has worked with franchises like Delhi Daredevils (now Capitals) and Rajasthan Royals in IPL.

Hockey India said Upton could work till next year's Olympic Games, provided the team produces results in the Asian Games, scheduled to be held from September 23 to October 8.

As per his contract, Upton will work with both the men's and women's teams at the SAI centre in Bengaluru.

"We might have Upton as part of our hockey contingent in the Asian Games. We are eager to continue with him till the Paris Olympics," Bhola Nath said.

FRANKFURT, GERMANY, June 30 (AP): Bayern Munich will start its title defense at Werder Bremen in the opening game of the new Bundesliga season, continuing one of Germany's longest-running rivalries, after the schedule was announced Friday.

The game on Aug. 18 will be the 113th time that Bayern and Bremen have met in the Bundesliga, the most frequent fixture between two clubs since the league began in 1963. Before that, Bayern hosts German Cup winner Leipzig in the Super Cup on Aug. 12.

Borussia Dortmund, which lost to Bayern on goal difference for the title last season, starts its new campaign at home to Cologne on either Aug. 19 or 20.

Newly promoted Heidenheim's first-ever top-division game will be at Wolfsburg on Aug. 19 or 20. The other promoted team, Darmstadt, visits its local rival Eintracht Frankfurt the same weekend.

Mantri (68, 153 balls, 7x4) and Vivek (56, 120 balls, 4x4, 2x6) milked 124 runs for the opening wicket, giving a clear edge to their side.

They departed in quick succession and the Central could not sustain the steam for the rest of the innings.

However, cameos by Saransh Jain (32) and Shubam Sharma (23) ensured that Central would not lose the momentum given by the openers.

East failed to take the cue from Central batting, though. Their batting malfunctioned for the second time in the match against left-arm spinner Saurabh. Riyan Parag was batting on 6 at close but the target seems too tall for a one-man effort.

BENGALURU, June 30 (PTI): Central Zone's Saurabh Kumar bagged four wickets to reduce East Zone to 69 for 6 and placed his side on the doorstep of a victory on the third day of the Duleep Trophy quarterfinal here on Friday.

Leipzig signs Fábio Carvalho on a season-long loan from Liverpool

LEIPZIG, GERMANY, June 30 (AP): Leipzig signed Fábio Carvalho from Liverpool on a season-long loan Friday after the promising midfielder lacked game time in the Premier League.

Carvalho signed for Liverpool last year after scoring 10 goals for Fulham on the way to promotion from the second division.

Carvalho played 21 times for Liverpool in all competitions last season but his game time dried up in the second half of the season. He made only two brief Premier League substitute appearances after the new year and played once in the Champions League and once in the FA Cup.

"He will now continue his development and gain more experience in Germany with Leipzig," Liverpool said.

He joins a Leipzig team which is looking to build on its strong form at the end of last season. The team recovered from a poor start to finish third in the Bundesliga and qualify for the Champions League.

The 20-year-old Carvalho was born in Portugal and grew up in London. He represented England up to under-18 level and has since played four times for Portugal's under-21 team.

Compound mixed team in final, India eyeing two World Cup Gold

KHOBAR, SAUDI ARABIA, June 30 (AP): — Former Liverpool striker Robbie Fowler was hired as coach of Saudi Arabian team Al-Qadisiyah on Thursday. In a summer that has seen a host of Europe's top players head to the lucrative Saudi Pro League, Fowler is taking over a team in the oil-rich kingdom's second tier.

The club confirmed the former England striker's appointment on its Twitter channel.

"Robbie Fowler.. one of the most famous players in Liverpool and the English Premier League.. coach for Qadisiyah," it tweeted. Fowler is one of Liverpool's most celebrated players, having scored 183 goals in two spells with the Premier League club. Leeds and Manchester City were among the other teams he played for.

He has not hit such heights in his managerial career, which has seen him coach Thai team Muangthong United, Australia's Brisbane Roar and East Bengal in the Indian Super League.

Al-Qadisiyah did not state the length of his contract.

Saudi Arabia has embarked on an ambitious recruitment drive since the turn of the year, following Cristiano Ronaldo's move to Al-Nassr in December.

This summer has seen more star players head to the country, with Karim Benzema, N'Golo Kante, Reuben Neves, Kalidou Koulibaly and Edouard Mendy making the move.

Saudi's sovereign wealth Public Investment Fund has taken a majority ownership stake in four of the country's top clubs, including Al-Ittihad and Al-Nassr, as part of a nationalization project encouraging public sector organizations to invest in sports. Oil giant Saudi Aramco will take over Al-Qadisiyah. Aramco is a publicly listed company, but the Saudi government still owns the vast majority of its shares.

Oman penalised for slow over rate against Zimbabwe

BULAWAYO, June 30 (PTI): Oman have been fined 40 per cent of their match fee for maintaining a slow over-rate against Zimbabwe, in their ICC World Cup Qualifier match here.

Muhammad Javed of the ICC international panel of match referees imposed the sanction after Oman were ruled to be two overs short of the target, after time allowances were taken into consideration.

In accordance with Article 2.22 of the ICC Code of Conduct for players and player support personnel, which relates to minimum over-rate offences, players are fined 20 per cent of their match fee for every over their side fails to bowl in the allotted time.

Captain Zeeshan Maqsood pleaded guilty to the offence and accepted the proposed sanction, so there was no need for a formal hearing. Meanwhile, Oman player Kaleemullah has been reprimanded for breaching Level 1 of the ICC Code of Conduct during the same match. Kaleemullah was found to have breached Article 2.5 of the ICC Code of Conduct for players and player support personnel, which relates to "using language, actions or gestures which disparage or which could provoke an aggressive reaction from a batter upon his/her dismissal during an international match." In addition to this, one demerit point has been added to the disciplinary record of Kaleemullah, for whom it was the first offence in a 24-month period. The incident occurred in the 12th over of Zimbabwe's innings, when Kaleemullah gave an inappropriate send-off to Zimbabwe captain Craig Ervine after dismissing him.

The player accepted the sanction, so there was no need for a formal hearing.

The on-field umpires Roland Black and Wayne Knights, third umpire Asif Yaqoob and fourth umpire Martin Saggars levelled the charges.

Rana back as Manu's personal coach two years after widely-publicised split

NEW DELHI, June 30 (PTI): Legendary pistol marksman and multiple Asian Games gold medalist Jaspal Rana confirmed on Friday that he is back as coach of one of India's best shooters Manu Bhaker, nearly two years after a split that hogged the headlines for days.

Manu, the winner of several gold medals at World Cups, silver medalist at the World Championships and champion at the 2018 Commonwealth Games, had parted ways with Rana because of reported irreconcilable differences in the run-up to the Tokyo Olympics in 2021.

Manu's split with Rana was being attributed as the main reason for her forgettable performance in Tokyo, where she also suffered a pistol malfunction that almost left her in tears. Manu's downfall coincided with her split with Rana.

"Yes, I will be pairing (up) with Manu Bhakar and (will) train her. It's confirmed. It's between me and Manu, I don't need any permission from anyone for that. I will be coaching just Manu and not the entire Indian pistol team. I'll be her personal coach," Jaspal told PTI.

"It is a long-term commitment. I will need to bring the champion out of her. Shooters like Manu Bhakar are technically sound normally, so I will focus a lot on the mental side of her game, apart from looking a bit into the technical aspect," he added.

On how did the patch-up come about, Rana indicated the initiative came from Manu's side.

"I think the credit goes to her. It (the talk was) between me and Manu, nobody else was involved in us deciding (to pair up again)," said Rana, who was the junior national coach prior to the Tokyo Olympic Games.

Rana said he had made it clear to Manu that this will be a fresh start to their association with the rancour of the past being forgotten. "I told her very clearly that what had happened in the past had happened and I don't give a damn about it. What is done is done, the damage is done. But now there will be a mutual understanding and there will be no talk about the past. We'll just talk about shooting and the professional way of doing things," he said. Rana said he has not committed anything to Manu, and he has not guaranteed her medals at the Asian Games and World Championships, which is also a 2024 Paris Olympics quota-winning event. "I have started training her for the Asian Games

(in Hangzhou) and World Championships. I have not committed anything," he said. During the Tokyo Olympics, Ronak Pandit had gone as the pistol coach and Manu was seeking guidance from him. Asked if Manu will also take guidance from Pandit, Rana said, "I have no idea about it, or anyone." Rana said he had started training Manu on a regular basis and was also in Delhi coaching her during the national trials. "We are on the phone almost everyday now and I was in Delhi between the (ongoing) trials. It's not that difficult (to train her) because I know everything about her (technique). Five days I can train her at my academy in Dehradun, and five days, I can go to Delhi for training."

"So, it should not take long (for her) to be on track. But since a lot of damage has been done mentally and technically (in the last two years) so, let's see. She's a champion and she will come out of it," opined Rana.

"I've seen her shoot and I've seen her doing things and it makes me confident she will come out of it," said Rana of the 21-year-old Manu.

"The most important thing is whatever she is that's a different story... but, yes, she is committed and she is honest about moving forward for the coming competitions. I told her very clearly there will be no miracle or magic... that I come back and things will be on track. "It will be a lot of hard work from her side and from my side as well. And, hopefully, if everything is positive from both sides, it will be much easier for us to move forward. Winning an Olympic quota is not that difficult for these guys but getting to the podium there is very, very tough," added Rana.

Duleep Trophy: North Zone move closer to victory with command performance

BENGALURU, June 30 (PTI): North Zone hurtled ruthlessly towards a crushing win over North East Zone while rattling up 259 for 6 in their second innings, pathway to their giant 665-run lead on the third day of the Duleep Trophy quarterfinal here on Friday.

Once that strong foundation was set, the North bowlers made optimum use of it to reduce North East to 58 for 3 at close. NE trail by 607 runs. But before their batsmen came into the party for the second time in the match, North bowlers led by Siddarth Kaul bundled out NE for 134 to gift them a lead of 406 runs.

Despite that massive first innings lead, North opted against enforcing follow-on. The thought, perhaps, fuelled by the desire to give some hopefuls another chance to impress with the bat.

However, the plan did not fructify in its entirety. Dhruv Shorey and Nishant Sindhu, the first innings centurions, fell cheaply for 11 and 3 respectively.

Jotin Singh bowled a peach of a delivery to evict Shorey. The ball pitched on the middle and leg before moving to hit the top of the off-stump, to leave Shorey a stunned man and it was the ball of the day by some miles. The dismissal had put North in a minor trouble at 23 for 2, but Ankit Kalsi and Prabhsimran Singh allayed all that with a fine 83-run stand for the third wicket in a little over 15 overs.

Both Prabhsimran and Kalsi batted at a good clip bringing out their natural flair. Just when they looked set for a bigger haul, Kalsi was ousted for 49 and later Prabhsimran too fell for 59. At 146 for 5, North East might have dreamt of bringing quick curtains to their opponent's innings but it did not pan out that way. North captain Jayant Yadav (55 no, 78 balls, 8x4) and Ankit Kumar (70, 101 balls, 8x4) further punished their rivals with a 113-run alliance for the sixth wicket.

Jayant, who led North in the place of injured Mandeep Singh, made no harm to his aspirations batting with poise to nullify a failure in the first innings.

Jayant's previous appearance for India was in the Mohali Test against Sri Lanka in March 2022. The pair was in extreme comfort in the middle till Ankit was stumped by Prafullmoni off left-arm spinner Kishan Singha.

India beat Iran to defend men's Asian Kabaddi C'ships title

BUSAN (KOREA), June 30 (PTI): The Indian men's kabaddi team beat Iran 42-32 in a high-voltage final to defend its Asian Championships title, here on Friday.

It was India's eighth title in the continental championships.

Iran started aggressively, but the Indians were up to their tasks. Captain Pawan Sehrawat helped India inflict the first All-Out with two touch points and gave his side a 10-4 lead.

India kept building pressure on the Iranians and produced another All-Out. India were leading 23-11 at half time.

Iranian all-rounder Mohammadreza Chiyaneh tried to lead his side make a comeback but they ended up conceding another All-Out to trail 14-33. India maintained their stranglehold and sealed the issue.

"With the score of 42-32 in the final match against Iran, Team India retains the Asian Kabaddi Championship Title! Kudos to the entire team. Well played boys," the Sports Authority of India tweeted.

India had beaten arch-rivals Pakistan in the final in the last edition held in Iran in 2017.
