"Based on secret inputs, @cacharpolice carried out a special operation in an inter-state border area and apprehended 3 people who were in possession of 21,000 YABA tablets worth ₹ 6cr," Sarma posted on X.

Yaba is a combination of stimulants, the most important being methamphetamine and caffeine. It has many aliases like Thai name 'crazy medicine', 'madness drug' or 'Nazi speed'.

The consignment was brought from a neighbouring state, he said. Sources said the arrested persons brought the consignment from Mizoram. Acting on a tip-off, the police launched an operation in the Saptagram area on the Silchar-Aizawl Road and the trio had come to the spot on a twowheeler to hand over the consignment to another group of people who had arrived in a car. On seeing the police, those inside the car managed to escape from the spot but the three persons could not, a police official said

The police launched a search operation to nab those who managed to escape from there, he added.

Earlier, 2,20,000 Yaba tablets worth more than ₹ 66 crore were seized on Wednesday from Karimganj district. The police also recovered 36,000 tablets from Karbi Anglong district on the same day. The chief minister congratulated the Assam Police for its efforts in making the state drug-free. (PTI)

The theme for World Blood Donor Day 2024 is "20 years of celebrating giving: Thank you, blood donors!"

Addressing the gathering as the chief guest, Minister for Health & Family Welfare, Keshab Mahanta, expressed gratitude to blood donors for their invaluable contribution to saving lives.

"The 20th anniversary of World Blood Donor Day is an excellent and timely opportunity to thank blood donors for saving precious lives through blood donation and this day provides us an opportunity to honour the donors who have been helping in saving lives. Through blood donation we have been able to help people who need blood and even we help the patients of the private hospitals to get blood. There are 83 blood banks in Assam and 7 more blood banks will be established soon," he said. Mahanta further (CONTD. ON PAGE-2)

Prices of tur, chana, urad dals likely to soften from July on good monsoon, higher imports: Govt

tur, chana and urad dals are likely to soften from next month helped by expectations of a good monsoon and increased imports, Union Consumers Affairs Secretary Nidhi Khare said on Friday, stressing there is no need for panic.

Imports of these three pulses will also increase from next month, she said adding this would help augment domestic supply.

"Prices of tur, chana and urad dals have been stable in the last six months but at a high level. The price situation in moong and masoor dals is comfortable," Khare told reporters here.

On June 13, the average retail price of chana dal was Rs 87.74 per kg, tur (arhar) Rs 160.75 per kg, urad Rs 126.67 per kg, moong Rs 118.9 per kg and masoor Rs 94.34 per kg. The consumer affairs department collects retail prices from 550 major consuming cen-

Wholesale inflation rises to 15-month high of 2.61 pc in May, heatwave pushes up food items

NEW DELHI, June 14: The wholesale inflation rose to a 15month high of 2.61 per cent in May, as heatwave conditions pushed up prices of food items, specially vegetables, and on costlier manufactured products.

The wholesale price index (WPI) based inflation has been rising for three months in a row. It was 1.26 per cent in the previous month and (-) 3.61 per cent in May "Positive rate of inflation in May, 2024 is primarily due to increase in prices of food articles, manufacture of food products, crude petroleum & natural gas, mineral oils, other manufacturing etc," the Ministry of Commerce & Industry said in a statement on Fri-

The May WPI print is at a 15month high. The last high was seen in February, 2023, when inflation was 3.85 per cent.

As per the data, inflation in food articles rose to a 10-month high of 9.82 per cent in May.

Inflation in vegetables was 32.42 per cent in May, up from 23.60 per cent in the previous month. Onion inflation was at 58.05 per cent, while potato was 64.05 per cent. Pulses inflation rose 21.95 per cent in May.

Bank of Baroda Economist Aditi Gupta said food inflation is also likely to remain elevated due to severe heatwave in the country. Progress of the monsoon will play a key role in determining the trajectory of food inflation going for-

"With severe heatwave conditions persisting in several parts of the country, prices of vegetables and fruits are witnessing an upward momentum even in June '24 and are likely to keep inflation elevated in the near-term," Gupta

Besides, an uptick in global metal prices has contributed to an increase in inflation in the manufacturing category. In manufactured products, inflation was at 0.78 per cent in May, higher than (-) 0.42 per cent in April.

Barclays Economist Shreya Sodhani said sequentially, the price index for manufacturing (which has the highest weight in the WPI, at 64 per cent), has risen sequentially for the fourth straight month, indicating that firms' input costs are rising.

ICRA Chief Economist Aditi Nayar said the core-WPI (nonfood manufacturing WPI) reverted to the inflationary territory in May 2024 after a gap of 14 months. This alone contributed as much as 57 bps to the 130 bps uptick in the headline print compared to April

In the fuel and power basket, inflation stood at 1.35 per cent, marginally lower than 1.38 per cent in

"Global commodity prices, including those for the Indian basket of crude oil have also retreated on a month-on-month basis in June 2024 so far. This would help contain the uptick in the year-on-year WPI inflation print in the month, countering the adverse base. Overall, ICRA expects the headline WPI inflation to inch up modestly to 3 per cent in June 2024," Nayar said. The rise in May WPI is in contrast to the retail inflation data for the month. The Reserve Bank of India (RBI) mainly takes into account retail inflation while framing monetary policy.

Retail inflation eased to 1 year low of 4.75 per cent in May, data released earlier this week showed. The RBI earlier this month kept the interest rate unchanged for the eighth time in a row.

Sodhani said while WPI was in deflation all of last year, the rise in wholesale prices this year is expected to gradually feed into retail prices, if firms' pricing power improves and consumption revives.

"We expect a window for monetary easing to open in December 2024, with a likely shallower rate cut cycle of 50bp in total," Sodhani added. (PTI)

Electricity in Punjab to cost more as PSERC hikes power tariff by 10-15 paise per unit

CHANDIGARH, June 14: Electricity charges are set to cost more in Punjab with the power regulator PSERC announcing an increase in power tariff by 10 to 15 paise per unit for different categories of consumers. For the domestic category, the hike in power tariff is 10-12 paise a unit while for the industry category, the increase is 15 paise a unit.

The Punjab State Electricity Regulatory Commission (PSERC) on Friday announced a new tariff order which will be effective from June 16 till March 31, 2025. The PSERC said minimal increase in the charges was made to ensure that the consumers do not feel burdened. In Punjab, the domestic consumers get 300 units of free electricity per month. However, the electricity consumers using over 300 units per month will have to bear the burden on account of increase in the power tariff. In the new tariff order, the rates for domestic consumers having load up to 2 Kilo Watt (KW) with 0-100 units slab have been increased from ₹ 4.19 a unit to ₹ 4.29. For 101-300 units, the new rate will be ₹ 6.76 per unit, an increase of 12 paise a unit.

However, for more than 300 units, the rate of ₹7.75 per unit has remained unchanged. For those having a load between 2 KW and 7 KW, the new rates for up to 100 units of consumption will be ₹ 4.54 per unit and for 101 to 300 units, the new rate will be ₹ 6.76 a unit.

There is no change in electricity rate for the domestic consumers having a load more than 7 KW.

The fixed charges for the domestic consumers were not changed, according to the order. The electricity rates have not been revised for the non-residential supply category. For the industry category, the new rate for units having up to 20 Kilo Volt Amperes (KVA) load has been revised upward by 15 paise per unit from ₹ 5.67 to ₹ 5.82, while from 20 KVA to 100 KVA load, the rate has been increased from ₹ 6.10 per unit to ₹ 6.25. Similarly, from 100 KVA to 2,500 KVA load, the electricity charges have been increased by 15 paise a unit. The fixed charges for the industry have also been increased by ₹ 5 per KVA.

The tariff for the farm sector (agriculture pumpset) has been raised from ₹ 6.55 per unit to ₹ 6.70 a unit.

The farmers in Punjab get free electricity supply. Power utility Punjab State Power Corporation Limited (PSPCL) had sought Aggregate Revenue Requirement (ARR) of ₹ 53,360.48 crore projecting that it has a revenue deficit of ₹ 5,419.82 crore. The PSPCL had requested for an increase in tariff accordingly.

However, the PSERC determined a revenue gap of ₹ 654.35 crore after the requisite and thorough prudence check and allowing for previous period dues of ₹ 4,072.27 crore. The Commission determined an additional revenue requirement of ₹ 654.35 crore instead of ₹ 5,419.82 crore sought by the PSPCL.

The average cost of supply (ACoS) for the financial year 2024-25 works out to be 715.55 paise per kWh (kilowatt hours), which is 1.59 per cent higher than the ACoS of 704.34 paise per kWh as determined in the previous tariff order, resulting in an increase of approximately 11 paise a unit over the average cost of supply conveyed his best wishes to Macron on the hosting of the Paris Olympics, which begins next month. France will host the 2024 Summer Olympics from July 26 to August 11. The two leaders reviewed India-France bilateral relations, focusing on the 'Horizon 2047' Roadmap and the Indo-Pacific Roadmap.

Discussions included cooperation in defence, nuclear, space, education, climate action, digital public infrastructure, connectivity and cultural initiatives such as the National Museum partnership and enhancing people-to-people ties. The two leaders agreed to further intensify strategic defence cooperation with an increased ocus on 'Make in India'

They also agreed to expand cooperation in the realms of Artificial Intelligence, critical and emerging technologies, energy and sports, while working closely in the context of the forthcoming AI Summit and United Nations Oceans Conference, both to be hosted in France in 2025.

The two leaders also exchanged views on key global and regional issues. They emphasised that a strong and trusted Strategic Partnership between India and France is crucial for a stable and prosperous global order and agreed to work closely to make it scale greater heights. The two leaders last met in January when the French President visited India to attend the 75th Republic Day of India.

During their last meeting, the two leaders reaffirmed their shared vision for bilateral cooperation and international partnership, outlined in Horizon 2047 and other documents from the July 2023 Summit.

Horizon 2047 Roadmap sets an ambitious and broad-ranging course for the bilateral relationship for 2047, the centenary year of India's independence.

Bangladesh PM Hasina set

The talks between the two leaders are expected to focus on taking the bilateral ties to new height, said a source. The overall strategic ties between India and Bangladesh have been on an upswing in the last few years. Bangladesh is an important partner for India under its "Neighbourhood First" policy and the cooperation extends to areas of security, trade, commerce, energy, connectivity, science and technology, defence and maritime affairs among others. The achievements in the connectivity sector included the inauguration of the Maitri Setu bridge over river Feni in Tripura and the rollout of the Chilahati-Haldibari rail link.

Bangladesh is India's largest development partner with nearly one-fourth of New Delhi's commitment under the Line of Credit has been made to that country.

Bangladesh is India's biggest trading partner in South Asia and India is the second biggest trading partner of Bangladesh in Asia. India is Bangladesh's largest export destination in Asia, with approximate USD 2 billion of Bangladeshi exports to India in 2022-23.

In 2022-23, the total bilateral trade has been reported as USD 15.9 billion. (PTI)

It is reported that unabated erosion along the south bank of the Kapili river has reached the doorsteps of these villages, forcing many residents to immediately relocate to nearby areas, according to sources.

Sources further claimed that due to the recent floods and ongoing erosion, approximately 25 meters of a newly constructed rock dam on the south bank near Borchung village has been eroded. Additionally, small and large cracks have appeared in several places along the rock dam constructed by the Water Resources De-

Last year, the Nagaon Water Resources Division constructed a 600-meter-long rock dam on the south bank of the Kapili river, covering Kakotigaon and Borchung villages under the Kampur revenue circle, aimed at halting erosion. The completion of the rock dam had brought hope to the people residing in these riverine

Cattle trafficking and illegal liquor trade ring busted

gal cattle trafficking from Upper Assam districts is a significant issue that has been garnering considerable media attention lately. However, the government has yet to take concrete action against this crime. Recently, the situation in Sivasagar, Charaideo, Dibrugarh, Tinsukia, Golaghat, and Jorhat has taken a dire turn, highlighted by the arrest of BJP leader Manoj Hazarika. Allegedly the kingpin of cattle trafficking and the illegal liquor trade, Hazarika was expelled from the BJP and arrested by Sivasagar Police on Thursday morning. The arrest was made in connection with a case (56/24 under Section 379 IPC) related to illegal cattle trafficking

Numerous complaints and cases have been lodged in various police stations regarding cattle trafficking, despite the Cattle Preservation Act being in force. The amended

However, it prohibits cattle from being transported to Assam's border districts. Cattle traders, nevertheless, employ ingenious strategies to circumvent these restrictions and continue transporting truckloads of cattle from the Upper Assam districts to Bangladesh, in blatant violation of all rules and regulations.

The same syndicate allegedly led by Manoj Hazarika is also involved in the illegal liquor trade. A significant quantity of Arunachal Pradesh liquor was regularly transported from Bandarduwa to the Upper Assam districts without proper licenses. On May 5, Demow Police seized over 845 cartons of Arunachal Pradesh wine from a truck (As01-NC 1843) at Demow Dehajan. The driver revealed that the consignment, belonging to Manoj Hazarika, was being transported from Nirjuli in Arunachal to Namsai. Timber mafia apprehended MARGHERITA, June 14: Acting on a tip, Lekhapani range forest officer and her team apprehended a notorious timber mafia from Lingkok Manmao, Changlang district of Arunachal Pradesh, on Thursday evening. He had been absconding for four months.

Parashmita Neog, Lekhapani forest range officer, said that on the early morning of March 18, a JCB and a TC truck bearing registration number AS 23 6984 were seized along with precious Hollong logs from the Tipong reserve area. Due to darkness, the driver and handyman fled from the spot. Parashmita Neog said that after a four-month thorough inquiry, it was found that Wonthung Kimsing, a permanent resident of Lingkok Manmao, Changlang district of Arunachal Pradesh, had taken the JCB and TC truck on contract to carry illegal precious Hollong logs from reserve forest areas of Assam and Arunachal Pradesh. Parashmita Neog said that after interrogation, Wonthung Kimsing revealed that he had been involved in the illegal timber syndicate for many years. A case numbered LP 36/23,24 dated March 18, 2024, has been registered at the Lekhapani forest range office against Wonthung Kimsing. He was produced in the Margherita sub-divisional magistrate court and then sent to judicial custody at Tinsukia.

The Unending Water Crisis in Delhi

The water crisis in Delhi has once again come to the fore, exacerbated by allegations and counter-allegations between political parties and claims of illegal activities by the so-called 'water and tanker mafia'. This issue has necessitated the deployment of police along the Munak canal near the Delhi-Haryana border to protect Delhi's share of water. The root of the crisis lies in the ongoing dispute between Haryana and Delhi over the quantity of water released versus what is actually received by Delhi. The Delhi government has squarely blamed Haryana, accusing it of not releasing an adequate amount of water. On the other side of the political spectrum, the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) has alleged that the Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) government in Delhi has failed to prevent water wastage. Bansuri Swaraj, New Delhi MP and Delhi BJP secretary, has asserted that the AAP government's inefficacy has allowed the tanker mafia to exploit the people, thereby worsening the crisis. She claimed that the Delhi Jal Board (DJB), once in a surplus of ₹ 600 crore, has plummeted into a loss of ₹ 73,000 crore under the current administration.

According to Swaraj, the DJB's infrastructure, including pipelines and storage systems, is in a state of disrepair. In response, Delhi Water Minister Atishi has maintained that the government is taking stringent measures to ensure that no water is wasted due to pipeline leaks. She attributes the crisis to an inadequate supply of raw water from the Yamuna and other sources. The government, she insists, is actively penalizing those who waste water or use unauthorized connections for construction and commercial purposes. This political slugfest, however, does little to alleviate the dire situation on the ground. Every day, chaos and conflicts over water can be witnessed in various parts of Delhi. The government has appealed to the public to conserve water by avoiding its use for non-essential purposes like washing cars, roofs, and balconies, and watering plants. Yet, the residents of unauthorized colonies and slums, who lack access to piped water, continue to suffer immensely. The DJB's fleet of 1,000 tankers, meant to supply water to these areas, falls short of meeting the needs of the people. Even in authoried colonies with established supply lines, the water supply is frequently disrupted, making daily life a struggle.

The plight of Delhi's residents is a stark reminder of the critical importance of sustainable water management. The ongoing crisis calls for a multifaceted approach involving both immediate and long-term solutions. Firstly, there needs to be a collaborative effort between the Delhi and Harvana governments to ensure equitable water distribution. This should be facilitated through transparent mechanisms and regular monitoring to prevent disputes and ensure accountability. Furthermore, the Delhi government must prioritize the overhaul of the DJB's infrastructure. Investing in modernizing pipelines and storage systems can significantly reduce wastage and improve efficiency. The implementation of rainwater harvesting and recycling initiatives should also be accelerated to augment the city's water supply. The water crisis in Delhi is not merely a political issue; it is a human rights concern. Access to clean and sufficient water is a fundamental right that must be safeguarded for all citizens. It is imperative for the government, political parties, and the public to work together towards sustainable solutions, ensuring that the city's water needs are met now and in the future.

ne of the first tasks of Prime Minister, Narendra Modi on assuming office for the third consecutive occasion was to sign a file awarding the 17th instalment of the Kisan Samman Nidhi. The act assumes significance as the BJP-led NDA government had been on an almost collision course with farmers who had laid a virtual siege to the National Capital with their tractors protesting against the three farm laws.

The matter actually goes far bevond the farmers-NDA face off. In the recent elections, the BJP, riding high on the personality cult of Prime Minister Narendra Modi, failed to get a decisive mandate. Of the rural constituencies won in the 2019 elections, a third was lost in the Lok Sabha polls held five years thereafter. This reflected a broader discontent in India's countryside.

Unemployment and inflation have taken a heavy toll on the rural sector though BJP leaders have led themselves to believe that such issues are nonexistent. The reverse in the rural areas is a pointer to the fact that impressive national growth metrics cannot camouflage deep-seated regional disparities and localised hardship.

The allure of economic growth and social welfare programmes highlighted in Prime Minister Modi's campaign waned in the face of everyday economic hardships which the rural voters read, especially the homemakers, come across regularly.

India under Prime Minister Modi is claiming the status of the fastest growing economy in the world. Nothing wrong in that but such growth has failed to translate into tangible benefits in the rural he Sangh (RSS) and the BJP are known to sing from the same hymn sheet. Both, being the proponents of the same nationalist view, holding the nation to be supreme, with its adorable motherhood, an ideal that they frequently declare that their lives are made to make a sacrifice for, have recently developed a slight ideological rift. The RSS began to feel that the transformation under the powerful popularity of Prime Minister Modi has, to some extent, been underhanded and the results of national election 2024 evidently made this sense of understanding surface.

Mohan Bhagwat, the RSS Chief made unequivocal remarks on the power that the BJP was building around, and the party mechanism, according to him, needs to undergo an ideological overhauling. The drying up of the BJP's electoral exchequer in the Hindutva heartlands especially in Uttar Pradesh might have triggered an intellectual churn in the Sangh. And the unambiguously uttered statements of the RSS Chief in the event held at Nagpur the other day must have pricked the BJP leadership. His views being put for analysis, pundits seem to have understood the predicament that the saffron family, in the larger context, might have sensed. An electoral defeat to this magnitude was sure to invite criticisms and the RSS being a thought movement believes in dialogues and corrections. As for Narendra Modi, the Sangh cohorts understand the fact that he had never hesitated to express his association with the RSS as a pracharak (full time worker) and even today his ideological bonhomie with the organization is intact. His predecessor Vajpayee had been alert and conscious while he drew from the pages of his RSS days. He was certainly aware of the coalition compulsions.

Probably, the congeniality of the coalition structure of politics made him choose the middle path of conscience keeper preferred to keep his Sangh ideology a personal brand of understanding but he was sure to keep it aside when coalition dharma needed a larger platform to create consensus. Modi never had to face such coalition compulsions. He has no experience of working under the compulsive dynamics of an alliance as his party always under him performed far better

Vajpayee had a humorous way of handling his partners and he was ready to make policy adjustments in decision making.

The RSS, being the largest ideological entity in the Sangh parivar, seems to have sensed Modi's unchallenged wave of power that controlled the government for a decade. Coalition partners remained alliance DEGREE OF THOUGHT frozen as and when the gov-mute, in-

ernment decided to go with its earth shattering reforms

Modi's unquestionable power rose to immeasurable heights as his party won 303 seats in 2019. His party and the RSS too, probably accepted the larger than life image of the Prime Minister. The statements of the RSS Chief passed tremors of discontent as it was possibly ignored and literally sidelined by the overconfident BJP leadership. There have been strict and decisive imprints of dissatisfaction in his words as he shed light on the horror that the state of Manipur has been through for more than a year.

Indirectly, Bhagwat was holding the Modi government responsible for its failure as it was unable to chalk out a credible solution to check the ruthless bloodshed in the state.

Bhagwat's strike on the

BJP was precise, straight and unexpected. As usual, he was composed and kept the manners of great intellectualism of an orator. His words were loaded with humility. But, of course, they intended to warn the political party that was born and grown as an ideological offshoot of the Sangh. "A true sevak (one who serves the people) does not have 'ahankar" (arrogance) and works without causing any hurt to others," he said. We have no reason to be confused as the statement was a straight shot from the quiver of dogmas of the Sangh and the target was the Prime Minister. The poll campaign this time was verbally violent and disrespectfully shot in haste on the opponents. Neither the Prime Minister nor his cohorts in the party nor even the opposition paused for a restraint. war brought the entire campaign down to mere mudslinging. The RSS chief's critical examination further reiterated as to who a true sevak is. "The one who maintains decorum does his work, but remains unattached. There is no arrogance that I did this. Only such a person has the right to be called a sevak," he said.

The writing on the wall is clear. The RSS, though it never hesitates to support the BJP, has now come out with warning signals against the personality cult in the party. The Sangh believes with certainty that organization is above people. It also believes with conviction that nobody in the doctrinal framework of the Sangh Parivar enjoys the power of an emperor. Highlighting the prepoll gimmicks of the ruling party indirectly, the Sangh chief's words were to set the thought process in the BJP right. Stressing hard on the need for consensus in the parliament, Bhagwat appeared to have literally passed a leaf of reminder for the BJP and its leadership. That the government without consensus being built cannot push for reforms.

Elected members, irrespective of their strength in numbers, hold complete right to know the policy mobilization and 'consensus' is the catchphrase that in practice makes the government run smoothly. Bhagwat's decisive remarks force us to go back The aggressive narrative to the days of Vajpayee's itics, being an art of compulsion, demands Vaipayee's accommodative. nclusive and consensual behavior.

Prime Minister Modi, in the last decade of his administration had never been forced to change his self-willed and as he is frequently criticized, his independent style of functioning. Moreover, the most critical element that sticks out with uncertainty and waiting for a way to get enhanced in the coalition regime is his party's hardcore Hindutva ideol-

Bhagwat, politely reminding the government and its leadership about the value of consensus, does a great service. He doesn't ask the party to sit back and cry. But his ammunition is aptly dropped on the arrogance that the party was loaded with. While trying to understand the tectonic ideological shift in the RSS, it was Bhagwat whose outreaching efforts to the Muslim clergy recently made headlines.

Almost a hundred years now, the RSS and its present chief realize that the BJP, if left without being strictly toned down, would become a political catastrophe. The 'Congressization' of the BJP has already begun. The Sangh seems to have taken its 'Tutor's Stick' to teach the party a lesson. The RSS wants the saffron party to survive in power. US to supply weapons directly to Ukraine's Fascist Azov Battalion

By: John Wojcik

nly two weeks ago, the administration lifted its ban on the use of U.S. arms by Ukraine inside of Russia. It also said U.S. troops, under the umbrella of NATO, could even end up directly battling against Russians inside of Ukraine. Now, to add insult to injury, the Biden administration has lifted its ban on supplying U.S. weapons directly to the fascist Azov Battalion. Two years ago, Democratic Rep. Ro Khanna, citing the fascist ideology of the Azov Battalion, had introduced legislation in Congress that forbade sending weapons to the neo-Nazi grour

The Azovs are notorious for training fascists from all over the world. The leader of the neo-Nazis that marched in the deadly torchlight parade in Charlottesville several years ago boasted that he had been "trained" by the Azov Battalion in Ukraine.

The Biden administration assured Congress that it would abide by the policy of no weapons for the fascists but has now decided to reverse that policy. It has now decided to provide both weapons and training directly to the Azov group, according to reports in the European press and news outlets in the U.S. In the past, the Biden administration had said it was banning the sending of weapons to the Azov Battalion because of both the fascist origins and the current fascist nature of the organization.

The Azov Battalion was formed in 2014 as the result of a merging of a variety of neo-Nazi organizations. The groups, including Azov, were sent by the coup government in Kiev to fight separatists in eastern Ukraine. The Russian-speaking people in the East, forbidden by the rightwing government in Kiev to even speak their own language, had the backing of Russia. Over the next several years, some 15.000 were killed in fighting between the fascist militias and the armed forces of the rightwing Kiev government that had been installed in a coup backed by the U.S. on one side and Russian-backed separatist groups on the other. The coup replaced the legitimately elected, although corrupt, government of President Viktor Yanukovych.

His government had refused to gree to austerity demands coming from the European Union as a condition of Ukrainian membership in that organization. When they tried to strike an economic deal with Russia instead, the U.S. and other European countries backed the 2014 overthrow of his government.

The new right-wing government sent the militias, including the Azov Battalion, to put down the revolts in the East by the Russian-speaking Ukrainians. The government also allowed individuals associated with Azov and other fascist groups to burn alive the trade unionists they had locked into a building where they were meeting in Odessa. When people jumped from windows to save their own lives, the fascists beat to death anyone left alive on the pavement outside.

Almost immediately after the right-wing U.S.-backed coup took place in Kiev, Human Rights Watch began raising alarms about Azov. The human rights group said its investigation of Azov showed the allegations of fascism and of killing and other abuses by the organization were credible.

Members of the group could literally shoot opponents of the coup government on the streets with no official repercussions.

Attempts by Azov to recast its fascist image, particularly since the Russian invasion and the uptick in NATO military support have been rejected by left and progressive groups in Ukraine, which has banned unions and all opposition political parties and press. There are no media left that can report on what is really going on with Azov. The group now claims it has no ties, except of course with itself, with groups that support fascism.

Vet Azov continues volved in the destruction of Soviet war memorials and the setting up of memorials to Stepan Bandera, a fascist Ukrainian leader responsible for murdering thousands of Jews and Poles in Western Ukraine when the region was occupied by Germany's Nazi armies during World War II.

Russia has continually pointed to the activities of the Azov Battalion as proof that it is battling Nazi influence in Ukraine.

The Azov Battalion has publicly praised the U.S. decision to directly provide it with weapons, saving the decision will make it "more powerful and more dangerous to the Russians.'

The issue of sending weapons directly to Azov has been ignored Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelensky, who, in addition to demanding more and more U.S. weapons, is now calling for a half-trillion dollars in aid to repair his country's electricity network.

Speaking at a two-day Ukraine Recovery Conference in Berlin

this week, Zelensky also renewed calls for more help in repelling Russian missile attacks.

Among other immediate problems, sustained Russian attacks on Ukraine's power grid in recent weeks have forced energy companies to institute nationwide rolling blackouts. Zelensky told the conference that, in the coming months, Ukraine needs equipment for heating and electricity plants that are currently out of service. German Chancellor Olaf

Scholz said the World Bank agrees that rebuilding and modernizing Ukraine will require investments of nearly $500 billion over the next ten years.

come Ukraine's second-biggest weapons supplier after the U.S., appealed again to other allies to help strengthen Ukraine's air defense, "because the best reconstruction is that which doesn't have to take place.'

Sending U.S., German, and other allied weapons to fascist groups in Ukraine, along with the never-ending demands by Zelensky for more and more money, are not covered much by corporate media in the U.S.

Instead, they focus on actions Russia has taken in response, especially drills in the last two weeks by Russia and Belarus to train troops in the use of tactical nuclear weapons. The drills, clearly intended by Russia to encourage the U.S. to stop supplying weapons to Ukraine, are nevertheless a dangerous move that increases the chance of a war from which there is no recovery.

Casting aside that concern, the Biden administration has said, however, in defense of sending Ukraine, that it does not believe Russian President Vladimir Putin intends to use nuclear weapons.

On the one hand, the U.S. describes Putin as a dangerous warmonger but, on the other hand, to assure people its own warmongering is safe because Putin will not really use nuclear weapons. The U.S. appears more willing to risk wider war than it is willing to engage in negotiations and a ceasefire to end the war in Ukraine.

The pro-war stance of the U.S. results in danger on many fronts. Poland is now calling for the placement of U.S. nuclear weapons in their country.

In announcing its nuclear train-Russian Defense Ministry said they were in response to "provocative statements and threats of certain Western officials regarding the Russian Federation.

Biden has not been the only leader to make provocative statements on the Ukraine-Russia war and to resist peace talks. The Kremlin expressed outrage after French President Emmanuel Macron said that he doesn't rule out deploying troops to Ukraine, and that, of course, was followed by the U.S. allowing Kiev to use its weapons to hit targets inside Russia and now by its even more dangerous decision to supply weapons directly to the fascist Azov Battalion.

The Morning Star reported Tuesday that Kremlin spokesperson Dmitry Peskov said "Russia's drills are maintaining combat readiness and are important in view of "hostile decisions and actions by the U.S. and its allies in Europe and their daily provocamore and more weapons to tions." (IPA Service)

PM Narendra Modi takes running a coalition govt as a challenge

By: Harihar Swarup

ith Narendra Modi elected Prime Minister for the third time, this time at the head of a coalition government, the question at the uppermost on the people's mind as he took the oath of office and secrecy at Rashtrapati Bhavan was: Could Modi be a coalition builder? Atal Behari Vajpayee ran coalitions during his prime ministership in 1996, 1998 and 1999. Modi on the other hand has always run majority governments, in Gujarat (2001 to 2014) and nationally for the last 10 ten years. The results on June 4 did not go as per the PM's expectations but he had recovered by the next evening when he addressed his cabinet colleagues. The Prime Minister is believed to have told them that he would run a coalition government successfully and fully fulfill the 'coalition dharma'. Those who were with him came away with the feeling that the PM had taken up running a coalition government as a challenge and was determined to prove his skeptics wrong. Prime Minister Narendra Modi's new cabinet signals continuity as well as caution. He has retained many of his old and experienced ministerial colleagues to show that the situation is possibly stable-and he is aware of the rumblings from within his party just when he is trying to stabilize a new situation with the allies.

The TDP (16 MPs) and the Dal-Janata united (12 MPs) have emerged as key players, and it would be surprising if they were not moving in step. Both of them have long governance experience in the United Front governments and NDA government headed by Vajpayee. Chandrababu Naidu has always been a sober player and is looking for a financial package for his state and its capital Amaravati. Yet - and this is curious-he has agreed to only one cabinet ministerial berth and one minister of state (MOS) position despite having 16 MPs-the same number given to Nitish Kumar's JD (U)

despite having MPs-the same number given to Nitish Kumar's JD(U) despite its fewer (12) MPs. The question that remains is if Naidu is still pushing for the Sabha Speaker's position or he will be satisfied with a financial bonanza for the state.

The Speaker is a crucial position in a coalition government. As a senior journalist summed it up, "Jaisa Speaker, Uski Sarkar (the party that gets the Speaker's post, holds the government's fante in its hand)." It would be tempting for a ruling party without a majority to break smaller parties to get a majority. P V Narasimha Rao who also won 240 seats in 1991 went on to acquire a majority two years later by splitting smaller parties. For the moment, the JD(U) will also want to consolidate its gains in Delhi and Patna and get ready to face a resurgent RJD in the Bihar Assembly elections next year.

In the last few days, the PM appeared to have shifted gear, striking conciliatory notes. He made it clear that the government was not a Modi or a BJP government but an NDA government.

Rajnath Singh proposed Modi's name as the leader of the NDA parliamentary party (and therefore the PM-designate), the BJP Parliamentary party, and leader of Lok Sabha – all together in one go-and was seconded by Amit Shah and Nitin Gadkari. In the past, the election of the leader of the BJP Parliamentary Party used to precede the election of the leader of the NDA. (IPA Service)

G7 leaders tackle the issue of migration on the second day of their summit in Italy

BARI, June 14: Leaders of the Group of Seven leading industrialized nations turned their attention to migration at the start of the second day of their summit Friday, seeking ways to combat trafficking and increase investment in countries from where migrants start out on often lifethreatening journeys.

The gathering in a luxury resort in Italy's southern Puglia region is also discussing other major topics, such as financial support for Ukraine, the war in Gaza, artificial intelligence, climate change, as well as China's industrial policy and economic security

But some divisions also appeared to emerge over the wording of the summit's final declaration, with disagreement reported over the inclusion of a reference to abortion.

Migration is of particular interest to summit host Italy, which lies on one of the major routes into the European Union for people fleeing war and poverty in Africa, the Middle East and Asia. Right-wing Italian Premier Giorgia Meloni, known for her hard-line stance on the issue, has been eager to increase investment and funding for African nations as a

Italy "wanted to dedicate ample space to another continent that is fundamental to the future of all of us, which is Africa, with its difficulties, its opportunities," Meloni said at the summit opening Thursday.

"Linked to Africa, and not only to Africa, there is another fundamental issue that Italy has placed at the center of the presidency, which is the issue of migration, the increasingly worrying role that trafficking organizations are assuming, clearly exploiting the desperation of human beings," she Meloni has a controversial five-year deal with neighboring Albania for the Balkan country to host thousands of asylum-seekers while Italy processes their claims.

She has also spearheaded the "Mattei Plan" for Africa, a continentwide strategy to increase economic opportunities at home and so discourage migration to Eu-

More than 22,000 people have arrived in Italy by sea so far in 2024, according to UNHCR figures. In 2023, more than 157,000 arrived, and nearly 2,000 died or went missing while attempting the perilous Mediterranean cross-been struggling with a growing number of migrants at its southern border. President Joe Biden introduced new policies to curb migration after a bill he tried to get through Congress failed to pass.

However, immigrant rights advocates filed lawsuits on Thursday over the new policies, and it is unclear whether they will be able to withstand the legal challenges in the U.S. courts.

Tackling migration "is a common challenge," Euro-Council President Charles Michel said after arriving at the summit.

"This is the route that we intend, together with our partners, to put in place: this coalition to fight against the smugglers, these criminal groups which are abusing (vulnerable people) to make money and to destabilize regions and countries across the

Biden also signed a bilateral security agreement with Zelenskyy on Thursday evening, aiming to send a signal to Russia of American resolve in supporting Kyiv.

Describing it as a "truly historic day," Zelenskyy said the agreement was "on security and thus on the protection of human life." But some cracks appeared among the G7 leaders, with French President Emmanuel Macron deploring a lack of reference to abortion in the draft of the summit's final document.

The statement after last year's summit in Hiroshima, Japan, expressed a commitment to provide access to safe and legal abortion to women and girls, and pledged to defend gender equality and the rights of members of the LGBTQ+ community. (AP)

Broader demands for peace that the Russian leader listed included Ukraine's non-nuclear status, restrictions on its military force and protecting the interests of the Russianspeaking population in the country. All of these should become part of "fundamental international agreements," and all Western sanctions against Russia should be lifted, Putin said.

"We're urging to turn this tragic page of troops from all of its territory. There was no history and to begin restoring, step-by-step, restore the unity between Russia and Ukraine and in Europe in general," he said.

Putin's remarks represented a rare occasion in which he clearly laid out his conditions for ending the war in Ukraine, but it didn't include any new demands. The Kremlin has said before that Kyiv should recognise its territorial gains and drop its bid to join NATO

Iran installing and starting cascades of advanced centrifuges as tensions high over nuclear programme

DUBAI, June 14: Iran has started up new cascades of advanced centrifuges and plans to install others in the coming weeks after facing criticism over its nuclear programme, the United Nations' atomic watchdog said on Friday. The US called the moves "nuclear escalations"

Spinning up new centrifuges further advances Iran's nuclear programme, which already enriches uranium at near-weapons-grade levels and boasts a stockpile enough for several nuclear bombs if it chose to pursue them. However, the acknowledgement from the International Atomic Energy Agency did not include any suggestion Iran planned to go to higher enrichment levels amid wider tensions between Tehran and the West as the Israel-Hamas war rages in the Gaza Strip.

The IAEA said its inspectors verified Monday that Iran had begun feeding uranium into three cascades of advanced IR-4 and IR-6 centrifuges at its Natanz enrichment facility. Cascades are a group of centrifuges that spin uranium gas together to more quickly enrich the uranium

So far, Iran has been enriching uranium in those cascades up to 2% purity. Iran already enriches uranium up to 60%, a short, technical step away from weapons-grade levels of 90%. Iran also plans to install 18 cascades of IR-2m centrifuges at Natanz and eight cascades of IR-6 centrifuges at its Fordo nuclear site. Each of these classes of centrifuges enrich uranium faster than Iran's baseline IR-1 centrifuges, which remain the workhorse of the country's atomic programme. Tehran did not immediately acknowledge the decision. However, it comes after Iran threatened to take action following a vote earlier this month at the IAEA's Board of Governors that censured Iran for failing to cooperate fully with the

The decision immediately drew criticism from State Department spokesman Matthew Miller.

"Iran aims to continue expanding its nuclear program in ways that have no credible peaceful purpose," Miller said in a statement. 'These planned actions further undermine Iran's claims to the contrary. If Iran implements these plans, we will respond accord-

Miller did not elaborate on what steps the US and its allies might take. However, Iran already faces grinding economic sanctions from Washington and others that have deeply cut into its economy and sent its rial currency tumbling over

Since the collapse of Iran's 2015 nuclear deal with world powers following the US' unilateral withdraw from the accord in 2018, it has pursued nuclear enrichment just below weapons-grade levels. US intelligence agencies and others assess that Iran has yet to begin a weapons on the Non-Proliferation of Nuclear Weapons, has pledged to allow the IAEA to visit its atomic sites to ensure its program is peaceful. Tehran also agreed to additional oversight from the IAEA as part of the 2015 nuclear deal. However, for years it has curtailed inspectors' access to sites while also not fully answering questions about other sites where nuclear material has been found in the past.

The IAEA's director-general, Rafael Mariano Grossi, visited Iran in May in an effort to boost inspections, but there hasn't been any major public change in Iran's stance. All this comes as the Islamic Republic also appears to be trying to contain the risk it faces from the US after launching an unprecedented attack on Israel. The assault

– a response to a suspected Israeli strike on April 1 which killed two Guard generals and others in Damascus, Syria — has pushed a yearslong shadow war between Israel and Iran out into the open. (AP)

Canada's defence investment in the Arctic puts it on track to meet NATO guideline, minister says

BRUSSELS, June 14: Canada looks on track to meet NATO's military spending guideline soon, Defence Minister Bill Blair said on Friday, notably by boosting investment in the Arctic near its shared border with Russia as the region warms quickly due to climate change.

After Russia annexed Ukraine's Crimean Peninsula in 2014, NATO allies agreed to halt budget cuts and move toward spending 2% of their gross domestic product on defence within a decade. Canada was barely spending 1% at the time.

Last year, as it became clear that Russia's war with Ukraine would grind on, they decided that 2% should be a spending minimum. According to NATO figures, Canada was estimated to be spendng 1.33% of GDP on its military budget in 2023.

"My defence spending budget will increase by 27% next year over this year," Blair said at a meeting with his NATO counterparts in Brussels. 'We've begun the important processes of acquiring the additional capabilities that we require meet NATO's requirements

He said that Canada is investing "quite significantly in the high Arctic" and building new military capabilities like maritime sensors that can detect threats. "I believe it brings us inevitably to over 2% of defense spending. But I've got some work to do in order to be able to articulate that both to my own country and to our allies," Blair told reporters. NATO Secretary-General Jens Stoltenberg has said that he expects around two thirds of the alliance's 32 member countries to spending 2% of GDP on their defence budgets this year, up from just three countries a decade ago.

Pak PM invites former ally Chinese journalist who promoted #MeToo JUI-F chief Maulana Fazlur Rehman to join ruling coalition

ISLAMABAD, June 14: Pakistan Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif has invited his former ally JUI-F chief Maulana Fazlur Rehman to become a part of the ruling coalition led by the Pakistan Muslim League-Nawaz (PML-N) and play a role in resolving the political tensions in the country, according to a media report on Friday.

Sharif, who is heading a coalition government supported by Bilawal Bhutto-Zardari's Pakistan Peoples Party and other smaller parties, visited the residence of the Jamiat Ulema-e-Islam (F) chief, 70, to enquire about his wellbeing on Thursday, the Dawn newspaper reported.

The 72-year-old premier also proposed the formation of a committee to address the prevailing political issues and asked Maulana Rehman to join the ruling coalition.

Quoting a source in the PM Office. the newspaper said the JUI-F leader was asked to join the ruling alliance and play a role in a proposed committee to resolve political tension prevailing in the country. However, Maulana Rehman refused to join the government, a JUI-F spokesperson said. (PTI)

Students protest against irregularities in teachers' recruitment

IMPHAL, June 14: A group of students have attempted to lock the offices of the Directorate of Education(S) and Samagra Shiksha Abhiyan (SSA) in Imphal in protest against alleged irregularities in the recruitment of pre-primary teachers.

The students launched the protest on Thursday under the aegis of the Democratic Students' Alliance of Manipur (DESAM). The police detained three leaders of the students' body while coming to lock the office campus of the Directorate of Education(S) at Lamphel in Imphal West district.

The protesters demanded resignation of the director of School Education, while seeking immediate halt to all processes related to the recruitment of 1140 pre-primary teachers on contract basis.

They alleged that the ongoing recruitment process contravened the NEP-2020 guidelines for appointment of teachers.

Talking to the reporters on the sidelines of the protest, DESAM president Mayengbam Somorjit said that the students' body has been seeking conduct of the recruitment of pre-primary teachers strictly as per the guidelines laid down under the NEP-2020.

Despite repeated appeals from the students' body to stop, the recruitment processes continue, he alleged, while asserting that DESAM has been campaigning not to indulge in acts compromising quality of education by all concerns

Asserting that for quality education, a good and qualified teacher is a must, the DESAM president said that the students' body would always stand against any irregularities in the functioning of the state education department.

He alleged that the Director of Education (school) continuing with the recruitment processes for the pre-primary teachers went against the guideline of the NEP-2020. (NNN)

The People's Party of Arunachal (PPA) won two seats and the Congress one. There are also three Independent MLAs. (PTI)

'World Blood Donor Day' celebrated at USTM

GUWAHATI June 14: The 'World Blood Donor Day' was celebrated at the University of Science and Technology Meghalaya (USTM) in Ri Bhoi district of Meghalaya on Friday.

The pathology department of the upcoming P.A. Sangma International Medical College and Hospital (PIMCH) organised a day-long programme on the occasion at the university campus, which was attended by doctors, paramedics, students, faculty members and staff of PIMCH, the IA Ayurvedic Medical College and students and faculty members the university.

A blood donation camp was also held successfully with the support of the Saharia Blood Centre and the North East Cancer Hospital and Research Institute (NECHRI).

The World Blood Donor Day is observed every year on the USTM campus. The theme for this year is "20 Years of Giving: Thank You, Blood Donors." The 20th anniversary of the day provides a perfect and timely occasion to express gratitude to blood donors worldwide for their life-saving contributions over the years and to acknowledge thesignificant impact on both patients and donors. Additionally, it serves as a crucial moment to address ongoing challenges and expedite progress towards achieving universal access to safe blood transfusions.

Biraj Kumar Das, principal of the upcoming PA Sangma International Medical College, Habibul Islam, former professor of pathology, professor of I/C Blood Centre, PIMCH and Dwijen Ch Dutta, head of the department of pathology of PIMCH addressed the audience and emphasised the significance of awareness and blood donation.

The speakers urged the public and students to come forward and donate blood to help needy patients. Representatives of the Saharia Blood Centre and NECHRI actively participated in this event. The programme concluded with a vote of thanks extended by Pallavi Deka of the department of pathology of PIMCH.

Over 1,200 tourists stranded due to landslides, rains in Sikkim

GANGTOK, June 14: More than 1,200 tourists, including 15 foreigners, were stranded as massive landslides triggered by incessant rainfall caused devastation in northern Sikkim's Mangan district, an official said on Friday.

cal said on Friday.

The office of the chief secretary has already initiated talks with the Centre for airlifting of all the tourists, depending on the weather conditions, Sikkim Tourism & Civil Aviation Department's Principal Secretary C S Rao said in a statement

Chief minister Prem Singh Tamang chaired a high-level meeting in Mintokgang to take stock of the situation after landslides triggered by heavy rain impacted the Himalayan state severely, damaging properties and disrupting road connectivity, power and food supplies, and mobile networks in several

"As per the ground report, around 1,200 domestic and 15 foreign tourists (Thailand: 2, Nepal: 3, Bangladesh: 10) are stranded in Lachung, Mangan district due to road blockages caused by heavy rainfall and landslides," Rao said in the statement.

The stranded tourists are all safe and sound, and the local authorities have requested them to stay put in their respective places and avoid taking risks, he said.

There is adequate stock of food supplies and rations to cater to all the stranded tourists, the official said.

If required, the tourists will be evacuated by road, and the department is "working in close coordination with the district administration, police and tourism officials in Mangan" along with the local tourism stakeholders for the safe evacuation of those stranded there, he said.

He assured the tourists of extending all possible support and assistance to them during this period of distress due to natural calamity.

Only Lachung is cut off from the rest of the state and all other parts of Sikkim are open and safe for travel Rao said

Landslides blocked stretches of roads and several houses were inundated or damaged due to heavy rain in the district, while electricity poles were swept away, another official said.

The chief minister's meeting was "crucial for strategising and coordinating our response to restore normalcy and ensure the safety and well-being of our residents", he said.

During the meeting, officials concerned provided details on the extent of damages on critical roads and the immediate challenges for affected people.

They apprised the chief minister of the damaged infrastructure, especially roads and bridges vital for transportation, and relief operations. (PTI)

Man arrested for involvement in Manipur-based banned group

GUWAHATI, June 14: A man was arrested on Friday near Guwahati for being allegedly involved in sabotage activities of a Manipur-based banned organisation, police said.

Acting on a tip-off, the Special Task Force (STF) intercepted a vehicle at Sonapur tollgate on NH 27. During the search of the vehicle, intelligent flight batteries, suspected to be used in drones, ₹ 3.40 lakh in cash, four pairs of shoes and a mobile handset were found.

The man from Manipur, identified as Khaigoulen Kipgen, who was travelling in the vehicle with two miners was expected, police said.

Manipur govt to provide ₹10,000 to every flood-affected family

IMPHAL, June 14: The Manipur government has decided to provide ₹ 10,000 to every flood-affected family as 'immediate relief', an official said on Friday. The decision in this regard was taken during a cabinet meeting chaired by Chief Minister N Biren Singh on Thursday evening, he said.

The meeting also "deliberated on several issues of the state and resolved to constitute a cabinet sub-committee for rehabilitation and resettlement of internally displaced persons (IDPs)", who have been affected by the ethnic violence.

More than 1.88 lakh people have been affected and over 24,000 houses damaged, mostly in Imphal Valley, in floods in the last week of May as river embankments were breached following heavy rain triggered by Cyclone Remal. (PTI)

Elected from two constituencies, Sikkim CM vacates Soreng-Chakung

GANGTOK, June 14: Sikkim chief minister Prem Singh Tamang on Friday resigned as the MLA of Soreng-Chakung assembly constituency and decided to retain his other seat, Rhenock. His resignation was accepted by Speaker M N Sherpa, according to a notification issued by the Sikkim Legislative Assembly (SLA). Tamang was elected from the two seats in the assembly elections. The SKM swept the polls, winning 31 of the 32 constituencies.

"In pursuance of Section 70 of the Representation of People Act, 1951 read with Rule 91 of the Conduct of Election Rules, 1961, P S Tamang, member, elected from 07-Soreng-Chakung and 19-Rhenock assembly constituencies has tendered his resignation from 07-Soreng-Chakung assembly constituency on June 14, 2024," the notification issued by SLA secretary Lalit Kumar Gurung said. KSU demands reservation policy to ensure equal opportunities for all tribes

SHILLONG, June 14: The Khasi Students' Union (KSU) has asserted the need to come up with a comprehensive new or revised Meghalaya State Reservation Policy to ensure equitable representation and opportunities for all Khasi, Jaintias and Garos of the state.

In a letter to the expert committee on State Reservation Policy on Thursday, the KSU said that the state government while making any provision for reservation of appointment or post in favour of Garo and Khasi-Jaintia scheduled tribes may take the total population of a particular tribe and after doing the necessary exercise make the reservation and provide the extent of percentage of post to be reserved to the respective ST and the percentage has to be followed strictly.

"According to the 2011 census, the state is home to about 14.1 lakhs Khasi-Jaintia population and slightly over 8.21 lakhs Garo individuals. Therefore, the figure underscores the significance of a comprehensive revision of State Reservation Policy to ensure equitable representation and opportunities for all individuals of the Khasi-Jaintias and Garo communities," it said. DDMAs directed to take measures against environmental hazards

DDMAs to sensitise public on management of plastic wastes, non bio-degradable garbage in respective districts

HT Correspondent

DIMAPUR, June 14: The Nagaland State Disaster Management Authority (NSDMA) on Friday directed the district disaster management authorities (DDMAs) to examine the vulnerability of the different water bodies in their respective districts and the environmental hazards caused by irresponsible disposal of plastic wastes and non bio-degradable garbage.

In an order, the NSDMA, in pursuance to the provision of the Disaster Management Act, 2005 section 22 (2) (b) (h) and (i), asked the DDMAs to bring out specific measures to be taken for its prevention or mitigation.

The NSDMA said the order was issued in view of the need to take urgent measures for preventing and controlling environmental hazards and as a matter of caution

The DDMAs have also been directed to promote general education and awareness regarding the management of plastic wastes and non bio-degradable garbage in the different parts of the districts, which are vulnerable. It said requisite measures that may be taken up by the community to prevent and mitigate the hazards, which are caused by disposal of such wastes.

They have further been directed to review and examine constituted committees and orders related to the use of plastic and non bio-degradable waste and take measures to reinforce those orders to prevent and mitigate hazards caused by the disposal of such garbage.

The order said the DDMAs may provide reports of the measures undertaken at the district level to prevent environmental pollution to the NSDMA.

Home Minister reviews J&K security situation; calls high-level meeting tomorrow

Home Minister Amit Shah on Friday reviewed the security situation in Jammu and Kashmir in the wake of several terror incidents there, including an attack on a bus ferrying pilgrims, sources said.

He called a high-level meeting on June 16, to be attended by National Security Adviser Ajit Doval, Lieutenant Governor of Jammu and Kashmir Manoj Sinha, top officials of the Army, CRPF and others to review the prevailing situation in the Union Territory and steps taken to check terror inci-

During Sunday's meeting, the home minister will also take stock of the preparedness for the annual Amarnath Yatra which will begin on June 29, sources said.

The home minister was briefed about the prevailing situation in Jammu and Kashmir and the steps taken following the terror incidents, they said.

Terrorists struck at four places in Reasi, Kathua and Doda districts of Jammu and Kashmir over the past four days, killing nine pilgrims and a CRPF jawan, and leaving seven security personnel and several others injured.

Two suspected Pakistani terrorists were also killed in an encounter with security forces in Kathua district and a large quantity

Delhi HC seeks police stand on Kejriwal aide Bibhav Kumar's bail plea

NEW DELHI, June 14: The Delhi High Court on Friday sought the city police's stand on the bail plea of Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal's aide Bibhav Kumar in the case pertaining to the alleged assault on AAP Rajya Sabha MP Swati Maliwal.

A vacation bench of Justice Amit Sharma issued notice on the bail plea and asked the Delhi Police to file a status report.

Kumar, presently in judicial custody, allegedly assaulted Maliwal on May 13 at Kejriwal's official residence. He was arrested on An FIR was registered against Kumar on May 16 under various provisions of the Indian Penal Code, including criminal intimidation, assault or criminal force on a woman with the intent to disrobe, and attempt to commit culpable homicide.

Kumar's counsel submitted that there was no reason to sustain his continued custody and urged the Offences (POCSO) Act on March court to hear the matter next in June itself as it concerned his "personal liberty"

"I am in custody for a month in an offence like this where there are no injuries... What is it that they need to investigate in relation to a bodily offence? The case is simply this that she was assaulted when he went to the residence," he argued

The senior lawyer appearing for the Delhi Police said the investigation into the matter was still going on.

"It is not as simple. FSL is pending with respect to the DVRs and mobile phones," the court was

The court listed the matter for further hearing in the first week of July and asked police to state the status of the investigation.

The Tis Hazari court had on June 7 refused to grant bail to Kumar, saying he was facing "grave and serious" charges and that there was an apprehension that he could influence witnesses. Kumar's first bail plea was dismissed on May 27 by another sessions court which said there appeared to be no "pre-meditation" by Maliwal in lodging the FIR and that her allegations could not be "swiped away". In his plea before the high court, Kumar has said that the trial court failed to consider that his further custody was not required as all the evidence has been collected by the investigating officer and statements of witnesses have also been recorded.

"While passing the bail rejection order, the additional sessions judge failed to consider the fact that all the evidence in relation to the aforesaid FIR has been collected by the IO and has also recorded the statements of the witnesses therefore, the custody of the petitioner is not required and no useful purpose shall be served by keeping the petitioner in the judicial custody," the plea stated. The petition further said the present instance was a "classic case" of abuse of criminal machinery as although both Kumar and Maliwal lodged complaints against each other, only her matter was being investigated. (PTI)

50 pc of Delhi street vendors report significant income loss due to extreme heat: Study

Data from over 700 respondents highlight the devastating impact on their health, productivity, and livelihoods

NEW DELHI, June 14: Over 80 per cent of the street vendors surveyed in Delhi reported a decline in customers during heatwave days in April and May, and around 50 per cent experienced significant income loss, according to a new report by the think tank Greenpeace India and the National Hawker Federation The study, involving 721 street vendors, was conducted in April and May in various locations including Meena Bazaar, Old Delhi Railway Station area, Red Fort area, Nehru Place, Guru Tegh Bahadur Nagar, Karol Bagh, India Gate, Janpath, Chandni Chowk, Sadar Bazar Road, Saket, Sarojini Market, among others.

"Data from over 700 respondents highlight the devastating impact on their health, productivity, and livelihoods. We demand immediate government intervention, including the establishment of heat shelters in markets with essential facilities, safety kits, and institutional support for the most vulnerable," said Sandeep Verma, Convener of the National Hawker Federation Delhi.

"80.08 per cent of street vendors observed a decline in customer numbers during heatwaves. 49.27 per cent of them have been experiencing a loss of income due to extreme climatic conditions," the report said.

A large number of respondents experienced health issues due to the hot weather. Irritability was the most common issue, affecting 73.44 per cent of respondents, followed by headaches (66.93 per cent), dehydration (67.46 per cent), sunburn (66.53 per cent), fatigue (60.82 per cent), and muscle cramps (57.37 per cent).

Seven out of eight women street vendors reported experiencing high blood pressure, while women in the middle age group raised concerns about delays in their menstrual cycles due to the extreme heat. All the women who participated in the study reported that sleeplessness during the night has become quite common due to increased heat, and this results in exhaustion throughout the day. Guddi, one of the women street vendors who operate a cane crusher, said, "After being exposed to the heat of the sun all day,

I don't feel like eating dinner at night. All I can think about is stretching my legs and going to sleep.' Seema Bhaskaran, Gender Lead at Transform Rural India, said excessive heat leads to exhaustion, dehydration, and urinary infections among women workers. "Women working as street vendors, tea estate workers, and 'safia sathis' in low-paid precarious occupations are on the streets exposed to extreme heat. Their productivity is impacted, and they are exposed to illnesses. For women, sustenance tasks like fetching water, fuel wood, and fodder take longer and impact their health. Pregnant women can face issues of stillbirth and miscarriages," she said. The participants also flagged the issue of children in their families exhibiting symptoms like vomiting, diarrhoea, and nosebleeds, further complicating the vendors' challenges.

Over 82 per cent of street vendors said they have not received any guidance on how to handle heatwaves.

The study found that a majority (71.05 per cent) of street vendors struggled to get medical care due to financial constraints.

Around 20 per cent said they could not afford healthcare at all. Only 27 per cent could afford healthcare without compromising other household necessities.

India experienced multiple intense and prolonged heatwaves in April and May which tested the limits of human endurance and the country's disaster preparedness, with many states, including Uttar Pradesh, Bihar, and Odisha, reporting heatwave-related

According to the India Meteorological Department, 14 of the 36 sub-divisions in the country have recorded over 15 heatwave days (when the maximum temperature is at least 40 degrees Celsius and 4.5 degrees above normal) from March 1 to June 9.

Experts attribute the extreme heat to the naturally occurring El Nino phenomenon -an unusual warming of the ocean surface in the central and eastern tropical Pacific Ocean -- and the rapidly increasing concentration of heat-trapping greenhouse gases in the atmosphere.

Studies show that rapid urbanisation has exacerbated warming in urban areas, with outdoor workers and low-income households bearing the brunt of the impact.

Low-income households have limited capacity to adapt to extreme heat because of poor access to water and electricity. The design and construction of informal houses often means there is poor ventilation and little shelter from extreme heat.

The heatwave in May saw several places across the country, including the hills of Assam, Uttarakhand, Himachal Pradesh, and Arunachal Pradesh, recording all-time high temperatures. The mercury breached 50 degrees Celsius in Rajasthan and neared this mark in Delhi and Haryana.

Similar heatwaves, which once occurred every 30 years, have become about 45 times more likely due to climate change, according to 'World Weather Attribution', a group of leading climate scientists. (PTI)

SC issues notices on NTA's plea for transfer of cases on NEET-UG exam row from high courts to it

'In recent years, institutions such as India International Arbitration Centre and Mumbai and Delhi International Arbitration Centers have been set up and are seeing a steady flow of arbitration matters

NEW DELHI, June 14: The Supreme Court on Friday sought responses of those who had moved various high courts for re-test of NEET-UG 2024 alleging question paper leaks and other irregularities on a plea of the National Testing Agency for transfer of such cases to the top court to avoid multiplicity of Several high courts are seized of many petitions seeking reliefs like re-test, quashing of award of grace marks and independent probe into the alleged malpractices in the National Eligibility cum Entrance Test-Under Graduate, 2024 (NEET-UG) exam which was held on May 5.

A vacation bench of justices Vikram Nath and Sandeep Mehta took note of the submission of the National Testing Agency's (NTA) counsel Vardhaman Kaushik that the pending pleas are needed to be transferred to the apex court.

"Issue notice," the bench said, adding it will be taken up for hearing on July 8 along with other related petitions on the NEET-UG row.

Kaushik, however, said the NTA wanted to withdraw three other petitions, which were seeking transfer of cases from high courts to the top court, as they pertained to grant of grace marks to 1,563 candidates on account of loss of time during the examination on May 5. He said the NTA will be informing the high courts that the issue over grace marks has been settled and that the decision to cancel the compensatory marks given to 1,536 candidates has been taken.

The bench permitted the NTA to withdraw the transfer petitions pertaining to row over grant of grace marks to 1,563 candidates.

On June 12, Solicitor General Tushar Mehta had told the Delhi High Court that the NTA will be soon approaching the Supreme Court for transfer of petitions filed by NEET-UG candidates before several high courts over alleged paper leak and anomalies in evaluating answers to certain questions. "We are filing transfer petitions in the Supreme Court because there is a likelihood of conflicting views by different high courts. Could your lordship consider waiting for a week or two? We will file a transfer petition," Mehta had told the high court.

On June 14, the Centre and the NTA told the Supreme Court they have cancelled the grace marks given to 1,563 candidates who took the examination for admission to MBBS and other such courses.

They will have the option to either take a re-test or forgo the compensatory marks awarded to them for loss

The examination was held on May 5 across 4,750 centres and around 24 lakh candidates took it. The results were expected to be declared on June 14 but were announced on June 4, apparently because the evaluation of the answer sheets got completed earlier.

There have been allegations of question paper leaks in states like Bihar and other irregularities in the prestigious exam.

The allegations have led to protests in several cities and filing of cases in seven high courts as also the Supreme Court. Scores of students protested in Delhi on June 10 seeking a probe into alleged irregulari-

As many as 67 students scored a perfect 720, unprecedented in the NTA's history, with six from a centre in Haryana's Faridabad figuring in the list, raising suspicions about irregularities. It has been alleged that grace marks contributed to 67 students sharing the top rank.

The NEET-UG examination is conducted by the NTA for admissions to MBBS, BDS, AYUSH and other related courses in government and private institutions across the

Bonn climate talks: Countries leave much to do at COP29

NEW DELHI, June 14: Countries made little progress in finding common ground on the crucial issue of climate finance at the mid-year UN climate talks in Bonn, Germany, even as floods, extreme rains, and brutal heatwaves upended lives and livelihoods in several nations.

Negotiators will now have to work exceptionally hard to achieve success at the UN climate conference (COP29) in Baku, Azerbaijan, where the world will reach the deadline to agree on the New Collective Quantified Goal (NCQG). The NCQG is the new amount that developed nations must mobilize annually starting in 2025 to support climate action in developing countries.

Some wealthy nations argue that countries with high emissions and higher economic capacities, such as China and petro-states that classify themselves as developing countries under the Paris Agreement, should also contribute to climate finance.

Developing countries, however, cite Article 9 of the Paris Agreement, which states that climate finance should flow from developed to developing nations.

Developed countries want the funds to prioritize nations most vulnerable to climate impacts, such as the least developed countries and small island developing states. Developing countries assert that they all deserve support. Developing nations also demand clarity on what constitutes climate finance, insisting that development finance should not be counted as climate finance and that funds should not be provided as loans, as has happened in the past. Climate policy experts at the think tank E3G said the Bonn talks have left a steep path ahead, and an escalation in political dialogue will be crucial for achieving a breakthrough in negotiations.

The independent think tank Centre for Science and Environment said differences between developed and developing countries on the NCQG have deepened instead of converging, signaling a long and arduous path to an agree-

Developing countries made clear demands for grant-based and concessional financing for climate action and highlighted that the financial system creates a 'disenabling' environment for finance to flow to them. The G77 and China bloc remained united in its demands and upped the ante in its statement at the closing plenary, saying they "cannot go beyond COP29 without defining the NCOG" and that there is a need to "move from conceptual to concrete discussions".

However, developed countries chose to focus on distractions such as the expansion of the contributor base for the NCQG. "Several developed countries continued to call for the provision of climate finance to be extended beyond just developed countries to include certain developing countries as well, arguing that this would have the new climate finance goal reflect 'new economic realities'," said Sehr Raheja, programme officer for climate change at CSE, who attended the Bonn talks.

Regarding the "quantum" of the NCQG, the Like-Minded Developing Countries, Arab Group, and African Group have suggested amounts ranging from USD 1.1 to 1.3 trillion per year. However, developed countries did not engage meaningfully on the issue of quantum, nor did they propose their own amounts.

Tasneem Essop, Executive Director of Climate Action Network International, said the outcome of the Bonn climate talks reflects a decades-old fight to get rich nations to meet their obligations and support developing countries in taking action to address the climate crisis.

"Until that deadlock is broken, all other issues (such as mitigation and adaptation) will be held hostage," she said. Developing countries have put proposals for the new climate finance goal on the table, but developed countries have refused to engage on how much public money they are willing to provide. This is despite climate finance being key to staving off climate catastrophe and a legal obligation under the Paris Agreement and the UN Framework Convention on Climate Change, said Mariana Paoli, Global Advocacy Lead at NGO Christian Aid. in Jammu; 5 FIRs registered

Friday claimed to have unearthed a major scam involving more than 28 acres of land usurped by the land mafia here in connivance with officials, a senior police officer said. Five FIRs have been registered against the accused, including government officials, and raids are underway at the premises of 16 people involved in the scam, Deputy Inspector General of ACB, Jammu, Vikas Gupta told reporters here.

Gupta, who was flanked by senior officers including Senior Superintendent of Police, ACB (central) Surinder Kumar Sharma, said a number of Pakistanoccupied Kashmir (PoK) refugees, who were allotted some of the land in 1955-56 for their settlement, were deputed by the conspirators.

Sharma, who is leading the investigation in the case, said 225 kanals of custodian land in Asarwan, Mishriwala and Bhalwal area of Jammu district has been found usurped by the land mafia in connivance with the officials of the Custodian, Revenue and Police de-

He said eight to 10 serving and retired revenue officials, including tehsildars, naib-tehsildars and Patwaris, have been named so far in the FIRs.

Inputs were received that custodian land in thousands of kanals had been grabbed by the land mafia and gangsters after tampering with the revenue records and the land was sold to various people, he said. Sharma said a formal verification was conducted and it was found that in furtherance of the criminal conspiracy, FORM 3-A (Form Alf) along with power of attorneys (POAS) were obtained from various PoK refugees, alluring them of additional lands and providing them instant money ranging from ₹ 5,000 to ₹ 50,000 by the conduits of land grabbers. Thereafter, insertions or additions regarding additional chunks of custodian lands were made in the revenue records by the officials of the revenue and custodian department.

They did this by abusing their official positions and these lands were sold by the conduits and attorney holders to various people, including their own gang leaders and members, by resorting to fraudulent means, thereby causing a huge loss to the government,

Owing to the establishment of, prima facie, nexus of the criminal elements, land grabbers and the Revenue/Custodian officers/officials in alienation of Custodian land through fraudulent means, ACB has registered five formal case FIRs for investigation under the provisions of the Prevention of Corruption Act, criminal conspiracy, cheating, forgery and fraud, the SSP said. During the course of the investigation, after obtaining the search warrants from the Special Judge Anti-Corruption Jammu, search teams comprising ACB officers, independent witnesses, and magistrates were dispatched to 16 locations throughout Jammu and its adjoining areas, Sharma said, adding the searches were still going on when last reports were

Major land scam unearthed Pune car crash: Teen driver's aunt files plea in HC, says his detention illegal, seeks release

MUMBAL June 14: A paternal aunt of the teenager allegedly involved in the Pune Porsche car crash that killed two IT professionals last month has moved the Bombay High Court claiming the boy was in "illegal" detention and sought his immediate release. The woman, in her habeas corpus (produce the person) plea, has sought immediate release of the 17year-old boy, who is currently lodged at an observation home in Pune.

The petition said no matter from what perception this unfortunate incident is looked at, it was an accident and the person who was said to be driving the vehicle was a minor. The petition, filed on June 10, came up for hearing before a division bench of Justices Bharati Dangre and Manjusha Deshpande on Friday.

A habeas corpus petition is filed to ensure a person under arrest is brought before a court which determines whether the detention is legal.

Public Prosecutor Hiten Venegaonkar, representing the Pune police, challenged the maintainability of the petition and argued the boy was in legal custody in the Senior advocate Aabad Ponda, representing the petitioner, sought the urgent release of the boy.

After the arguments, the bench posted the hearing on the plea for June 20.

In the early hours of May 19, the juvenile was allegedly driving a Porsche car at a very high speed in an intoxicated state when it crashed into a motorbike, killing two software engineers -- Aneesh Awadhiya and Ashwini Koshta -- in Pune's Kalvani Nagar area.

The boy's aunt, in the plea, claimed because of public uproar coupled with political agenda, the police deviated from the right course of investigation in the case.

thus defeating the entire purpose of the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act.

"The intent of the law is abundantly clear and there cannot be any iota of doubt that the most important factor and the crucial element is the well-being of a minor child who is in conflict with law," the pe-

The woman claimed the boy and his family were portrayed as "monstrous".

"In the present case, the boy, who was also subjected to physical assault (after the crash), was shown to be a monster and removed from his home where he could feel protected and is kept in illegal detention," the petition said.

The teenager must have been kept with other children in conflict with law at the observation home which could be detrimental to him. Instead of an observation facility, he ought to be kept in the custody of a family member (the boy's parents are in jail in separate cases related to the crash) who could take care of him, according to the plea.

The petition said the police were trying to make an example out of this case and in the process acting in contravention of provisions of law.

On May 19 itself the boy (hours after the crash) was released in the custody of his grandfather with certain conditions. However, pursuant to a motivated public uproar, the release order passed by the Juvenile Justice Board was challenged by the police and on May 22, the boy was taken back into custody and sent to an observation home, it said.

Pursuant to this, the boy's parents and grandfather were arrested (on different charges related to the accident) and are currently in judicial custody. The boy continues to be illegally detained in violation of provisions of the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, the petitioner claimed.

"The petitioner is compelled to file the petition against the respondents (police) for their abuse of process and blatant disregard to the rule of law, further compounded by the arbitrary and illegal detention of the boy," the plea said.

Earlier this week, the Juvenile Justice Board extended the teenager's custody at the observation facility till June 25. (PTI)

Balodabazar arson: Chhattisgarh govt suspends duo

garh government has suspended IAS officer KL Chauhan and IPS officer Sadanand Kumar, who were removed as Collector and SP of Balodabazar-Bhatapara respectively, in the wake of the arson in the district headquarters this week. officials said on Friday

The General Administration and Home Departments issued their suspension orders late on Thurs-

As per the orders, Chauhan and Kumar allegedly did not take appropriate action following the damage of 'jaitkham' of Satnami community in the district.

Unidentified persons had vandalized 'jaitkham' or 'victory pillar', a sacred symbol worshipped by the Satnami community, near the holy Amar Gufa at Giroudpuri Dham in the Balodabazar-Bhatapara district on the intervening night of May 15-May 16.

Police subsequently arrested three persons in connection with the incident. To protest against the alleged vandalisation of the religious structure, the community had called for a demonstration at Dussehra Maidan in Balodabazar collector's office. During the protest, a mob set fire to a government office and more than 150 vehicles in Balodabazar city.

The next day (June 11), the state government transferred the then Balodabazar collector KL Chauhan and then Superintendent of Police (SP) Sadanand Kumar to the secretariat and police headquarters here without assigning any portfolios.

As per the suspension orders of the two officers, disciplinary action was pending against them after there were complaints that the district administration and police did not take appropriate action following damage to the religious structure of the Satnami community last month. While Chauhan is a state cadre service officer who was awarded IAS in 2009. Kumar is a 2010-batch IPS officer. Both have been suspended with immediate effect, the orders said.

Police had on Tuesday said that seven FIRs had been registered in connection with the arson and they have formed 12 teams to track down those involved in the arson.(PTI)

Residents oppose allotment of flat to Muslim woman under govt scheme

VADODARA, June 14: Several residents of a housing complex built by the Vadodara Municipal Corporation (VMC) under a Gujarat government scheme have been staging protests against the allotment of a flat to a Muslim woman, saying the locality is meant only for Hindus. Demanding cancellation of the flat allotment, the residents warned of intensifying their agitation and taking up the matter to the state government and the Centre. The woman beneficiary said although she was allotted the house six years back, she could not move into it due to the opposition by other residents.

While the residents claim that houses can not be allotted to members of the minority communities because Harni area, where the complex is located, is a locality of Hindu inhabitants and falls under the Disturbed Areas Act that bans the sale of property by members of one religious community to those from another community without the prior approval of the district collector in the declared as "disturbed areas".

Municipal Commissioner of Vadodara, Dilip Rana, said he has received a representation from the residents of Motnath Residency in Harni area and an appropriate decision will be taken after studying all the relevant doc-

"I have just received a representation from the residents. I will check all the documents and then make an appropriate decision. We have a provision, under which Hindus and Muslims are given flats in their respective areas. This applies only to those housing projects which are situated in disturbed areas. We have to check if this society falls in that category," he said.

Motnath Residency, which has nearly 460 flats, is the VMC's housing project for the low income group families under the state government's Mukhyamantri Awas

Residents have been staging protests and writing letters to different authorities after a Muslim woman, who currently lives in another area, was allotted a house in 2018. "Though I was allotted the house way back in 2018, I could not move in because of the opposition by other residents. Even today, there is no solution in sight. I currently live at another place with my son," said the woman. Demanding cancellation of allotment of the flat to her, over 50 residents of Motnath Residency staged a protest near the society's main gate on Friday too.

"Despite the fact that the entire area falls under the Disturbed Areas Act, one flat in this society, having 12 towers, has been allocated to a Muslim woman. We don't know how this allotment was made. We all purchased flats in this society thinking that we will be able to live peacefully because of the enforcement of that law," said Jitendra Parmar, one of the agitating residents. "We are not against anyone. We just want her to be allotted a house in her area so that everyone can live peacefully. Despite our protest, her flat was not transferred to another scheme by the VMC. If the allotment is not cancelled, we will intensify our stir and stage protest in Gandhinagar and Delhi," said Parmar.

Another agitating resident said they are determined to stage protests in Gandhinagar and Delhi if the issue is not resolved.

"This is a Hindu area and there is a provision which says that minorities should not be allotted flats in Hindu areas. However, since a flat has been allotted to a person from a minority community, other residents have been protesting for the last several years and gave a memorandum to the authorities in the past too. However, the VMC is not cancelling the allotment," said the resident who does not wish to be identified.

"VMC had earlier announced that minorities will be allotted houses in their areas like Tandalja and Akota. If our demand is not met, we will stage protests outside offices and residences of corporators. MLAs and MPs. We will gherao chief minister Bhupendra Patel in Gandhinagar if the issue is not resolved," he said. (PTI)

Two more arrested in Renukaswamy murder case; under no pressure to favour Darshan, says Govt BENGALURU, June 14: Two more persons were arrested on Friday in connection with the Renukaswamy murder case, in which Kannada actor Darshan Thoogudeepa is an accused along with his friend Pavithra Gowda, police sources said.

Jagadish and Anukumar were taken into custody from the district headquarters town of Chitradurga by a team led by Deputy Superintendent of Police (DSP) Dinakar. They are reportedly involved in kidnapping Renukaswamy from Chitradurga, the sources said. Darshan, popularly known as "Challenging Star". and 12 of his close associates were arrested on Tuesday for the murder of the 33-year-old Renukaswamy, a fan of the actor.

Renukaswamy, a resident of Chitradurga, allegedly commented on the social media account of Gowda, a small-time actress, accusing her of creating a rift between the actor and his wife. He also allegedly used "indecent language" and posted offensive messages, according to police sources. Police on Thursday arrested three people, including a close covered CCTV footage purportedly showing the suspected abduction of the victim in a car. According to sources, one of the accused, Raghavendra, who is part of Darshan's fan club in Chitradurga, had brought Renukaswamy to a shed in R R Nagar here, on the pretext that Darshan wanted to meet him. It was in this shed that he was allegedly tortured and killed. The body was found near a storm-aide of Darshan, in connection with the case. They had also rewater drain next to an apartment in Sumanahalli on June 9. The investigation team is believed to have gathered enough evidence including CCTV footage, which could establish that Darshan was present during the alleged assault on Renukaswamy, leading to his death, sources said, adding that the victim had suffered multiple injuries on his body. Big responsibility for me: Sharvari Wagh on working with Alia Bhatt on YRF-led spy film

MUMBAI, June 14: Actor Sharvari Wagh is ecstatic to feature alongside Alia Bhatt in Yash Raj Films' (YRF) female spy universe movie, calling it a "big responsibility".

In March this year, YRF CEO Akshaye Widhani had officially announced their maiden female-led spy film. The YRF spy universe began in 2012 with Salman Khan and Katrina Kaif-starrer "Ek Tha Tiger", followed by block-busters like "Tiger Zinda Hai" "War", "Pathaan", "Tiger 3", and "Fighter".

The vet-to-be-titled film will see Bhatt and Wagh play super-agents in the action entertainer. The movie will go on floors this year. (PTI)

Emma Roberts' 'Space Cadet' to stream on Prime Video from July 4

LOS ANGELES, June 14: Streaming giant Prime Video has unveiled that the Emma Roberts-fronted comedy 'Space Cadet' will debut on its platform on July 4. Written and directed by Liz W Garcia, the film explores themes of self-belief, ambition, and the pursuit of dreams. Emma Roberts stars as Tiffany 'Rex' Simpson, a young woman with aspirations of space travel. Despite her life not going as planned, Rex remains undeterred. With the encouragement of her best friend Nadine, she embellishes her application and secures a spot in NASA's fiercely competitive astronaut training program. Relying on her sharp intellect and sheer determination, Rex strives to excel and achieve her cosmic ambitions. According to the official logline, NASA program directors Pam and Logan take note of her potential, but Rex must prove her mettle to make it through the rigorous training without exposing her true background. 'Space Cadet' features a stellar ensemble cast including Tom Hopper, Poppy Liu, Gabrielle Union, and more. (PTI)

ACTION FOR THE SAKE OF ACTION IS LIKE AN ITEM NUMBER: KABIR KHAN

NEW DELHI, June 14: When action is detached from sentiments, it only serves as a promotional tool in the movie, much like an item number, says filmmaker Kabir Khan, who has pulled off a pivotal eight-minute-long continuous war sequence in his latest "Chandu Champion"

The much-talked about shot highlights the "emotional drama" of the story instead of showing action for the sake of it, said Khan, adding that they shot it at 9,000 feet above sea level in Kashmir's Aru Valley.

After four days of rehearsal, the section was filmed in one day which featured fighter jets, bomb blasts, and intense combat scenes.

"I have always believed and have done that even in my earlier action films that action for the sake of action never really works, then it's an item number. Action works when the emotional drama and arc of the story moves forward with the action. "The start of the action and the end of the action has to move and that in this film is huge. It's one of the most pivotal points in the plot," the filmmaker told PTI

Inspired by the life of India's first Paralympic gold medalist Murlikant Petkar, "Chandu Champion" stars Kartik Aaryan in the title role as a man across ages and phases, including being an Indian Army soldier, a wrestler, a boxer, a 1965 war veteran and a swimmer.

Khan, known for directing "Ek Tha Tiger", "Bajrangi Bhaijaan", "83" and "Kabul Express" earlier, said the underlying reason for shooting the eight-minute uncut sequence was to stay close to his protagonist and experience the events un-

"We are so used to doing things in films that if it's not happening, take two or take three or take four, and we can keep achieving. Here, we had no take two. It was only one take and we had to get it correct because a lot of big structures were going to crumble and fall and you cannot set it up all over again.

"On top of that, we were shooting on location in Kashmir at a very high altitude. Carrying people and equipment up there and training them for several days before opting the single take was quite a task." the 55-year-old added.

"Chandu Champion" is Khan's first directorial venture since "83", which released during the peak of the third wave of the pandemic on December 24, 2021. Fronted by Ranveer Singh, the film was based on the Indian men's cricket team's "Covid changed the planet and our lives. There was a moment in time where we were very unsure about how it was all going to pan out. Strangely, my film was on the cusp of that. Unfortunately, we released on the day the third wave sort of hit us in our face," the filmmaker recalled.

Much like the film industry and exhibition sector, Khan also took time to return to direction. "Exhibition was hit badly, it took them months to come back to normal. They couldn't come back to full capacity for seven-eight months. A lot of projects had stalled, so there was a backlog of actors' dates, projects being greenlit.

"We are facing it even now. If you notice, there are not too many projects that are coming out from the industry. It was a tumultuous time but it was a tumultuous time for the whole planet so I should not be complaining," he added.

The Hyderabad-born filmmaker said he spent all the time during the pandemicinduced lockdowns "diving deep" into some stories, including "Chandu Champion". "Everything has a silver lining and the fact that I got the time to dive deep into a story like 'Chandu Champion', plan it the way we could, prep it the way we could, so that when we finally made it, it looked a certain way...

'You need time to make it look a certain way. Here we are, a long gap but come back with something I'm very proud of and I know will be a strong part of my filmography for years to come," he said. (PTI)

Young people more intelligent, know what stories to tell: AR Rahman on India's show at Cannes

NEW DELHI, June 14: Music composer A R Rahman says talent shouldn't be restricted to a region and young Indian artists like Cannes winner Payal Kapadia, who are in tune with changing times, play a key role in making stories from India go global.

Kapadia, an alumnus of the Film & Television Institute of India (FTII), is the first Indian filmmaker to win the Grand Prix award for "All We Imagine as Light" at the Cannes Film Festival. The Malayalam-Hindi feature, an India-French production, was the first film from an Indian director after 30 years to make it to the main competition section of the European gala.

Rahman, a multiple award-winning musician feted both at home and around the world with double wins at Oscars and Grammys besides a Golden Globe, said beautiful stories from India deserve international recognition.

"The spirit of the young people has changed now. They are more intelligent. They know where to move stuff, what kind of stories to tell. As long as we tell beautiful stories about India and not just poverty, it's a good thing.

The art of film is not just for (audience at home), it's international... It's important to learn certain things, not be happy with, 'Oh we got a great audience here, box office is good here.' Some people are not satisfied with that. So they go for (international festivals), Payal Kapadia is one (of them)," the composer told PTI in an interview. Last month, Rahman was also at Cannes to unveil the Nagaland-set "Headhunting to Beat Boxing", directed by Rohit Gupta, at the festival's market.

"Sunflowers Were the First Ones to Know" by FTII student Chidananda S Naik and Anasuya Sengupta of "The Shameless" fame won major awards at Cannes. Sengupta became the first Indian to win the best actress prize in Un Certain Regard, while Naik's "Sunflowers Were the First Ones to Know..." won the La Cinef first prize (film school fiction or animated films) at the film festival.

Recalling the time when he earned two Academy Awards for the British film "Slumdog Millionaire" in 2009, Rahman said there were people who said he deserved to win an award for "Lagaan" (which made it to the final five in the best foreign film Oscar category in 2002) and 1992's "Roja".

'We want our stories to be heard, represented and accredited. There's a system to follow. Even when I won Oscars and everything for 'Slumdog Millionaire', (people said) 'Lagaan' should have won, 'Roja' should have won. I said, 'First of all, I didn't even enter (these awards at the time), I didn't even enter all the stuff in any of the systems'," said the composer, who won the best original song Oscar for "Jai Ho" and another one for the original score of "Slumdog Millionaire"

In February, Zakir Hussain was India's big winner with three Grammys, flautist Rakesh Chaurasia picked up two. Singer Shankar Mahadevan, violinist Ganesh Rajagopalan and percussionist Selvaganesh Vinayakram, Hussain's collaborators in the fusion group Shakti, won one Grammy each. Giving the example of multiple Grammy winners Hussain and Ricky Kej, Rahman said all in all, the Indian field of arts has witnessed a great high in the last decade.

"Half of the people don't even know (how to enter the system). (They say) 'I think this should win the Grammy'... It's not like that. There's a process for everything. So, even in this case, I think they said it was a collaboration... even Payal Kapadia's film," he added.

"Headhunting to Beat Boxing" is a musical documentary that follows the story of a tribe in the Northeastern state "engulfed in the depths of violence and bloodshed, (the tribe) resurrects itself through the healing power of music and emerges through a musical renaissance". Rahman, who has backed the film via his ARR Immersive Entertainment banner, said he boarded it as a producer five years ago after he fell in love with Nagaland while attending the state's annual Hornbill Festival.

"I am into music and there was a kind of a correlation between me and the culture. We also adopted an orphanage and sent our (music) teachers to Nagaland to teach strings and everything.

Rahman had worked with Gupta on the 2016 miniseries "The Creative Indians" and that's why he reached out to the filmmaker for a potential project on Nagaland.

The musician said Gupta shot the film for five years and then they worked on the edit and now have a cut ready. (PTI)

England beat Oman by 8 wickets to boost chances at T20 World Cup

NORTH SOUND (AN- emphatically to improve its run-TIGUA), June 14: Adil Rashid took 4-11 and England boosted its chances of reaching the Super Eight stage of the Twenty20 World Cup by bowling out Oman for 47 on Thursday en route to an eight-wicket win in a pivotal match for the defending champions.

Phil Salt launched the first two balls of the England innings for sixes before being bowled third ball in a dramatic start as his team chased the fastest-possible win. It reached 50-2 from a record 3.1 overs - 20 deliveries, including a no-ball — led by captain Jos Buttler's 24 from eight balls.

It was not only the magnitude of the win but the speed with which it was achieved that helped improve England's outlook at the tournament. It moved up to third place in Group B with three points, behind already qualified Australia (six points), and Scotland (five points).

Most importantly, England's net run-rate that was minus 1.800 before the match is now plus 3.08, ahead of Scotland's plus 2.164. Scotland next faces 2021 champions Australia.

England took a point from its first match against Scotland, a washout, and then lost to Australia by 36 runs. That made it imperative that it not only won rate and prospects.

Buttler won the toss and chose to bowl against Oman, theorizing that England would be in a better position to manage the run-rate equation if it was chasing.

The plan worked when England bowled out Oman in 13.2 overs on a glassy surface at the Sir Vivian Richards Stadium which supported both Rashid's leg spinners and the England fast bowlers Jofra Archer and Mark Wood. "We had a point to prove after the last couple of games," said Wood, who returned 3-12.

England needed quick wickets and Archer delivered, capturing his first wicket on the eighth ball of the match. He had Pratik Athavale caught at cover by Salt from a full, fast delivery.

Archer then dismissed captain Aqib Ilyas in the fourth over when Oman was 16-2.

The England quicks operated well in tandem, with Wood adding the wickets of Zeeshan Maqsood (1), caught and bowled, and Kashyap Prajapati (9) to leave Oman 25-4 at the end of the six-over power play.

Salt clubbed the first two balls of the England innings over the long boundaries for sixes, then was bowled by the third ball from Bilal Khan (1-36). Jacks then defended the fourth ball in a rare moment of calm. (AP)

The Afghans will face title favourites India in their first Super Eight clash on June 20 in Barbados. The result also meant that New Zealand, the 2021 finalists, were knocked out of the ICC showpiece. The Kiwis find themselves at the bottom of the bogey, bogey, bogey in her first table with two defeats from as many matches. Tournament cohosts West Indies have already entered the Super Eight from Group C with six points, which is the same as the Afghans.

maining two matches, which will now be of mere academic interest. On Thursday, Farooqi took two wickets in two balls in his second over and finished with 3/16 from his four overs after Rashid Khan opted to bowl.

He now has tournament figures of 11.2-0-42-12 to lead the bowling chart.

His pace bowling partner Naveen provided the perfect assistance, returning with a miserly 2.5-0-4-2 as PNG were bowled out in 19.5 overs. Semo Kamea was run out in the penultimate delivery of their innings.

It would have been much worse for PNG had Afghanistan not leaked 25 runs in extras, and 13 of them wides.

This was yet another superlative display by the Afghanistan bowlers who are yet to concede 100 runs in this tournament --Uganada (58; 16 overs), New Zealand (75, 15.2 overs).

"Feeling great to qualify for the next round. First time for Afghanistan being in Super Eight in T20Is. The boys have done well, adjusting to the conditions very quickly and that is something very pleasing for me," said skipper Rashid Khan.

Congratulating the team, Farooqi said: "I feel proud. Before the warm-up match, I was in the IPL. I did not get any chances there unfortunately. I played just one warm-up game.

However, Afghanistan stuttered in their small chase as both their in-form openers -- Rahmanullah Gurbaz (11) and Ibrahim Zadran (0) -- were dismissed by the gritty PNG new-ball bowlers Alei Nao and Kamea inside three overs. But Gulbadin Naib ensured that there was no further disruption as he returned to form and anchored the chase with his 36-ball 49 not out.

Naib took his time before coming on his own, hitting four fours and two sixes. PNG kept chipping away with the wickets as Norman Vanua got rid of Azmutullah Omarzai (13, 18 balls) against the run of play, but Mohammed Nabi stayed calm and provided assistance to Naib who sealed it with a six over Chad

Expect to see more competitive scores in Super Eight stage: Rabada

KINGSTOWN (ST VIN-CENT), June 14: South African pacer Kagiso Rabada expects to see "competitive scores" in the Super Eight stage of the T20 World Cup as the West Indian pitches are more consistent in nature compared to the drop-in decks being used in the US leg of the tournament.

The 22-yard strip in New York kicked up a storm because of the excess and varied bounce it offered to the bowlers, which made run-making a hazardous job. Now, the Super Eight matches will be played exclusively at Caribbean venues.

"I do expect that conditions are going to level up because you had the drop-in pitches in the USA. You never really know how they're going to play," said Rabada on the eve of South Africa's final Group D match against Nepal here.

'Now, you've actually got squares that have been there for years, here in these venues. And you'll probably see more competitive scores," he added.

Rabada said balanced playing surfaces are important to ensure an equal contest between bat and ball. "You want to get a game and find pitches where you have enough in it for the bowlers and enough in it for the batters.

"That's essentially what a cricket game is. Otherwise, you might as well just call it batting or you might as well call it bowling," he explained.

The 29-year-old cited the example of the match between Australia and England at Barbados on June 8 to underline his point. "You look at the game between Australia and England, where 200 played 150. So, if you bat well in these conditions, you can still reach 200," he said.

Rabada also hoped that the much-vaunted South African batting unit consisting of rangehitters like Heinrich Klaasen and Tristan Stubbs would regain its mojo in the Super Eight after their struggles in the group phase.

"You can't really judge their form on wickets that we've just played on. As much as it's not an excuse, common sense would prevail. But in saying that, no one's got any demons. (PTI)

SA series will ensure continuity, gametime ahead of T20 WC: Muzumdar

BENGALURU, June 14: Indian women cricket team head coach Amol Muzumdar said an all-format home series against South Africa, beginning with the first ODI here from Sunday, will ensure proper game-time and continuity for his wards ahead of the T20 World Cup in October.

The women's T20 WC will take place in Bangladesh, and Muzumdar wanted to set the right pathway ahead of the mar-

"Yes. That continuity is very

"By the Asia Cup (scheduled between July 19-28 in Sri Lanka), we should be ready for the T20 World Cup. And then we have a downtime of around seven weeks before we go to Bangladesh. This is a well thought out series and I'm looking forward to it," he added.

Muzumdar said the team has entered the road to the World Cup during the recent away five-match T20I series against Bangladesh, which they won 5-

"We had fantastic preparations in the last eight weeks. We went to Bangladesh and won the series 5-0. We practiced on the same ground where we will be playing the World Cup. So, we had good preparation," he said.

ries against South Africa. "South Africa have always been a competitive side, as this will be a good, hard-fought series. We are looking forward to it," he added. The Mumbai stalwart said beyond the tangible target of a series win, the team would like to make further progress in their fielding and other fitness parameters. "First, we need to win the series. But we will also look into certain aspects. When I took over last December, fielding and fitness were the cornerstone and we have been driving that message to the group. They have responded nicely to that. The fielding is a work in progress," he noted. Muzumdar expected the Bengaluru pitch to stay true to its character – a paradise for the

T20 WC: Kohli's form a bothering point as India face Canada amid rain threat

LAUDERHILL (USA), June 14: Star batter Virat Kohli's string of low scores would be a concern for India when they square off against Canada in their final group match of the T20 World Cup on Saturday, hoping that the sky remains clear in this city even as several parts of Florida are ravaged by torrential rain.

With three consecutive wins, India are through to the Super Eight stage, which will be held entirely in the West Indies.

Kohli came into the T20 World Cup after setting the IPL ablaze, scoring upwards of 700 runs at a strike-rate of over 150 for Royal Challengers Bengaluru.

Therefore, it wasn't an entirely misplaced expectation that he will continue to fire in the ICC showpiece, which is perhaps his final chance to earn India an ICC World Cup after 13 years.

But three matches have gone by, and Kohli has five runs at an average of 1.66, including a 'Golden Duck' against the USA.

His form has provided an interesting subplot to the game against tournament-debutants Canada, which is otherwise inconsequential, at least for India.

Perhaps, an 1850km trip from New York to Florida might bring those ordinary outings. The pitch at the Broward County stadium might not be as spiteful as the one in New York. where the uneven bounce of the tracks and the slow nature of the outfield became bigger talking points than the cricket that was played.

What would ease some pressure on him is the fact that that the lean run has not really affected the team's fortunes.

However, the premier batter's low scores, particularly since he is opening alongside skipper Rohit Sharma, has put some pressure on the subsequent batters to take the India board forward.

Creditably, Rishabh Pant and Suryakumar Yadav have more than made up for Kohli.

Pant made 36 and 42 against Ireland and Pakistan, good enough contributions for India to emerge

Survakumar overcame a diffident start to the tournament just at the right time, making a crucial fifty against the USA.

Both of them had a torrid time in the IPL on various counts and were heavily criticised.

The think-tank will also hope that at some stage Mohammed Siraj (one wicket) and Ravindra Jadeja, who is yet to pick up a wicket, will join their colleagues, even though both of them have not leaked runs.

However, it will not be entirely surprising to see the big wigs bring in some changes in the bowling department. They can think of giving a chance to either Kuldeep Yadav or Yuzvendra Chahal or even both against Canada.

In that case, India might give a break to Jadeja and Axar Patel, another impressive performer with both bat and ball. It can also help the bowling unit prepare ahead of the Super Eights in the Caribbean, where the pitches are expected to be more spin-friendly.

On the other hand, Canada are a bit green behind the ears but not short of determination, as they had

England eye dominant show to stay in Super 8 contention; ousted Kiwis search elusive win

NORTH SOUND (ANTIGUA), June 14: team and we have another huge match to Defending champions England will be eager to brush aside Namibia ruthlessly here on Saturday and stay relevant in the race to the T20 World Cup Super Eight stage.

England were living on the edge after a washout against Scotland and a loss against Australia, but the Jos Buttler-led side turned it around in style with an eight-wicket win over

After bundling out Oman for 47, England raced past the target in just 3.1 overs, a record margin of 101 balls to spare.

The result has also done wonders to England's net run rate (NRR), the crucial separating factor between them and Scotland in Group B. The Three Lions' NRR leapt from -1.8 to +3.08, going past Scotland's +2.16.

However, Scotland have five points to England's three. Hence, the former two-time champions will need to defeat Namibia to go equal with Scotland and then hope that the latter will lose to Australia, who have already qualified for Super Eight

In that scenario, England will enter Super Eight with better NRR, but an upset win over Australia by Scotland or a washout at Gros Islet will eliminate Buttler and his wards.

But skipper Buttler sounded confident after their massive win over Oman

"I've been around long enough to know how it works," Buttler said after their win over Oman. "We know what's going on in the dressing room. We have lots of confidence in our come," he added. The pitch at the Sir Vivian Richards Stadium here has offered steep bounce and turn.

England bowlers such as leg-spinner Adil Rashid (4/11) and the pace duo of Jofra Archer and Mark Wood, who claimed identical figures of 3/12, exploited it to their advantage while bowling out Oman for their lowest over T20I total of 47 -- the overall fourth lowest in the T20

Buttler will hope to win the toss again to unleash his bowlers against the inexperienced Namibia who had folded for 72 in their last match against Australia.

England: Jos Buttler (c), Moeen Ali, Jofra Archer, Jonathan Bairstow, Harry Brook, Sam Curran, Ben Duckett, Tom Hartley, Will Jacks, Chris Jordan, Liam Livingstone, Adil Rashid, Phil Salt, Reece Topley and Mark Wood.

Namibia: Gerhard Erasmus (c), Zane Green, Michael Van Lingen, Dylan Leicher, Ruben Trumpelmann, Jack Brassell, Ben Shikongo, Tangeni Lungameni, Niko Davin, JJ Smit, Jan Frylinck, JP Kotze, David Wiese, Bernard Scholtz, Malan Kruger and PD Blignaut.

Chennayin FC sign Kiyan Nassiri from Mohun Bagan

CHENNAI, June 14: Former champions Chennayin FC on Friday announced the signing of rising Indian forward Kiyan Nassiri from Kolkata heavyweights Mohun Bagan.

Son of East Bengal great Jamshid Nassiri, the 23-year-old made his senior professional debut with the Mariners in 2019.

The youngster has signed a three-year contract keeping him at the Chennai-based club until 2027, the club said.

"I am extremely excited and grateful to be a part of this amazing sea of blue. Bringing all my humility and respect for the management, coaches and fans. "Looking forward to bringing with me, my endless passion for the beautiful game and my spirit to win with and for my team."

CFC head coach Owen Coyle added, "When you score a hat trick on your debut against your biggest rivals, it says everything there is to be said. He's a great boy and we have no doubt he will quickly become a fan favourite." Kiyan had begun his youth ca-

Kiyan has scored nine goals in 69 appearances and had two assists.

He has won four titles to date, including the ISL Cup (2022-23) and the ISL League Shield (2023-24), besides also winning the I-League (2019-20) and the Durand Cup (2023). Additionally, Kiyan also won the Mohun Bagan Best Forward Award in 2022.

He happens to be CFC's sixth signing of the season after Jitendra Singh (midfielder), Elsinho (defender), Laldinpuia (defender), Daniel Chima Chukwu (striker) and Wilmar Jordán (striker). (PTI)

HI begins registration process for revived league

NEW DELHI, June 14: Hockey India on Friday said it has started the registration process for its flagship national league, which is set to be revived after a gap of eight years and will feature both the men's and women's teams

The Hockey India League (HIL) will feature eight men's and six women's teams and the registration deadline for it is June 30.

HI has also invited applications for players and support staff to register their interest in featuring in the league, which is set to run between December 2024 and February 2025.

The window has been approved by the International Hockey Federation (FIH).

"This step signifies that we are close to restarting the HIL, a league that was loved by hockey players and fans across the world," HI President Dilip Tirkey said in a media release.

"We are confident that budding Indian hockey players will snatch the opportunity to play with and against some of the best players in abroad," he added. (PTI)

the world."

The HIL was first started in 2013, and its last edition was played in 2017, won by Kalinga Lancers. All five editions were won by five different sides.

Ranchi has won two titles. The inaugural edition was won by Ranchi Rhinos before the franchise was discontinued.

Later, a new Ranchi franchise was created -- Ranchi Rays -owned by the legendary Indian cricketer Mahendra Singh Dhoni, which won in its debut season in Commenting on the upcoming revamped new season, HI Secretary General Bhola Nath Singh stated, "The HIL played a pivotal role in the resurgence of the Indian Hockey Teams, and it is a matter of great joy and pride that we are on the verge of restarting it."

"The league will help improve the standard of young players and propagate a culture of hockey across the nation. We look forward to receiving heaps of applications from India and

Indian women's archery team gets fifth seed in Olympic qualifiers, two wins shy from Paris quota

ANTALYA (TURKEY), June 14: Indian women's recurve team of Deepika Kumari, Bhajan Kaur and Ankita Bhakat qualified as fifth seed in the Final Olympic Qualifiers here on Friday and now stands two victories away from securing quota for the Paris Games.

The Indian team aggregated 1978 points to finish behind leaders China (1996), second-placed Japan (1991), Spain (1990) and Chinese Taipei (1982) in the qualifying standings.

ing as fifth seeds. India will start from the round of 16 in the 24-team draw against 21st seeds Ukraine and may have to overcome Chinese Taipei in the quarters to grab the Paris quota.

The semifinalists will land Paris Olympic quota places. The elimination rounds are slated later in the day

India had an incredible qualifying round, shooting 90 perfect scores of 10 and X (the closest to the centre arrow).

It was second behind the Taiwanese archers who shot 91 10+X scores. But it did not matter as they fell behind in the overall scores.

To put things in perspective, Chinese team had a share of 88, while Japan and Spain shot 89 and 76 10+X scores. The 10+X shots are counted to determine the placings in case of a tie. The men's team qualifying event will be held on Saturday and will see stiff competition among 46 teams for just three available quotas. More than 300 recurve archers from 80-plus nations are competing in the final qualifying event for the Paris Olympics, beginning on July 26.
