GUWAHATI, Nov 11: The high voltage campaign for the five assembly seats going for by-elections ended on Monday. This time, the Samaguri assembly constituency has witnessed sporadic pre-poll violence with frequent clashes between the BJP and Congress supporters.

By-elections in five assembly constituencies—Dholai, Samaguri, Behali, Bongaigaon, and Sidli became due following the elections of five legislators in the lower house of the parliament in this years' Lok Sabha polls.

The voting will take place on November 13 and the counting of votes will happen on November 23. Except in Samaguri, where Congress heavyweight Rakibul Hussain has been winning since 2001, the rest of the four seats are with the BJP-led alliance. NEHU students demand removal of VC

SHILLONG, Nov 11: Agitating students of the North Eastern Hill University (NEHU) on Monday petitioned the President of India, Droupadi Murmu, seeking the immediate removal of the incumbent Vice Chancellor (VC) Prof PS Shukla for allegedly failing to address the ongoing crisis in the university.

The complaint letter was jointly submitted by the Northeastern Hill University Students' Union (NE-HUSU) and the Khasi Students' Union (KSU – NEHU Unit), which are spearheading the ongoing hunger strike protest for the past seven days.

The letter stated that the VC was allegedly absent from his duties amidst the ongoing indefinite hunger strike protest at the university. "It has been seven days since the commencement of the hunger strike, and despite this prolonged edge over the BJP in this seat.

The BJP fielded candidates for three seats-Dholai, Samaguri and Diplu Ranjan Sarma was given ticket in Samaguri, while Diganta Ghatowar and Nihar Ranjan Das are contesting for the BJP in the Behali and Dholai assembly segments respectively.

BJP's two allies—Asom Gana Parishad (AGP) and United People's Party Liberal (UPPL) are contesting polls in the Bongaigaon and Sidli assembly constituencies.

Meanwhile, Samaguri assembly constituency has witnessed sporadic pre-poll violence with supporters of BJP and Congress clashing with each other on several occasions

On late Saturday night when suspected armed criminals opened fire on a BJP march that included Barhampur MLA Jitu Goswami, injuring at least three people.

Attackers targeted BJP politicians taking part in the march, including MLA Goswami in the Moriputhi neighborhood of Sam-

According to witnesses, the attackers first pelted stones at the participants before striking them with sticks. Three people were then hurt when unidentified persons opened fire on the group. The attack also caused some damage to Goswami's car.

Reacting to the incident, chief minister Himanta Biswa Sarma aimed at Congress party alleging that the opposition party which does photo-op with the Constitution is actually resorting to violence and attacking the BJP added. (CONTD. ON PAGE-2)

Taking to X, Sarma wrote, "I strongly condemn the attack on Hon'ble MLA Shri Jitu Goswami in Samaguri by @INCAssam supporters. This is the same Congress that proudly holds up the Constitution for the cameras, yet resorts to violence under cover of darkness to intimidate our karvakartas." The chief minister also claimed that Congress has resorted to violence not because of fearing the defeat in the elections rather its fundamental vote bank has made the opposition workers for doing such extreme things.

"The real question is, why has Congress stooped to such depths in this by-election? It's not just fear of defeat but the desperation to hold on to their core vote bank that drives them to such extremes. Justice will be served, and we will not allow anyone to sabotage or undermine our democratic process," he

Bandh disrupts normal life in Tinsukia, Dibrugarh

HT Correspondent
DIBRUGARH, Nov 11: The

12-hour dawn-to-dusk bandh called by the All Moran Students' Union (AMSU) and the All Assam Mottock Yuba Chatra Sanmilan (AAMYCS) in Tinsukia and Dibrugarh districts on Monday brought normal life to a standstill.

The bandh was called to protest the delay in granting Scheduled Tribe (ST) status to the Moran and Mottock communities in Assam and saw widespread support from residents in both districts.

Despite prohibitory orders from Tinsukia District Commissioner (DC) Swapneel Paul and Dibrugarh District Commissioner (DC) Bikram Kairi against bandhs and demonstrations, supporters turned out in large numbers to enforce the shutdown. Shops and businesses remained closed, and vehicles stayed off the roads. Bandh supporters visited various marketplaces, where they reportedly forced shops to close and raised slogans demanding ST status for their communities.

Tyres were burned in multiple locations along National Highway-37, causing significant traffic disruptions.

In Dibrugarh, protesters vandalised a vehicle on the bypass, despite the presence of police protection. In Tinsukia district, police resorted to blank firing to disperse protesters, and there were minor skirmishes between the police and bandh supporters in Dibrugarh as well. Joykanta Moran, general secretary of AMSU, expressed satisfaction with the bandh's success and thanked the public for their support. "The bandh was a last resort to draw the attention of the Central and state governments to the longstanding demand for ST status for the Moran and Mottock communities," he said.

Moran also emphasised that Prime Minister Narendra Modi's 2014 campaign promise to grant ST recognition to Assam's six indigenous communities remains unfulfilled.

Later, he criticised Union tribal affairs minister Jual Oram for inaction on the issue and urged the government to expedite the ST status process for the Moran and Mottock communities

Some anti-nationals trying to divide society: Modi AHMEDABAD, Nov 11: Prime Minister Narendra

Modi on Monday said some "anti-nationals" were trying to divide society for their vested interests and stressed the need for people to understand the seriousness of their intentions and unite to defeat them.

Unity and integrity were important to make India a developed nation by 2047, Modi said while virtually addressing a gathering of devotees at Vadtal in Gujarat's Kheda district on the 200th anniversary of Shree Swaminarayan Temple in the town.

"Unity among citizens and integrity of the nation is important to make India a developed nation by 2047. But, unfortunately, some people are trying to divide our society into caste, religious, linguistic, menwomen, village-city lines due to their vested interests or due to their narrow-mindedness," the PM said.

"We have to understand the seriousness of the intentions of these anti-nationals and will have to unite to defeat them," he said in his address via video conferencing.

Modi said the first key step to make India a developed nation is "atmanaribharta" (self-dependence). He requested all saints of the Swaminarayan sect to join each and every citizen of the country in the pledge to make India a developed nation.

On the occasion, Modi informed the devotees that his association with the Vadtal Swaminarayan Temple dates back to his days as the chief minister of Gujarat. The Centre recently issued a coin to commemorate 200 years of the Swaminarayan Temple in Vadtal, he said. "Lord Swaminaravan came before us at a time when our country was weakened due to slavery and people used to blame themselves for the situation. At such a time, Lord Swaminarayan and other saints awakened our self-respect, gave us a new spiritual energy and rejuvenated our original identity," Modi said. The Prime Minister also said the demand for skilled Indian youth will increase manifold in the future. "Today, majority of the world leaders whom I meet express a desire that Indian youth should come and work in their countries. Our youth are capable of fulfilling the needs of India as well as the world," he said.

Stressing the need to preserve the cultural heritage of India, Modi said his government believes in the mantra of "Vikas Bhi Virasat Bhi" (development along with preservation of heritage).

Referring to the Kumbh Mela declared as an Intangible Cultural Heritage by UNESCO some years back, Modi urged the Swaminarayan sect to make the people of other countries understand the importance of the religious congregation (CONTD. ON PAGE-2)

Two youths arrested for making 'objectionable' painting youths, who were detained by the police for allegedly making an 'objectionable" painting as part of the protests to stop the felling of trees for the construction of a railway overbridge in Guwahati's Bharalumukh area, were arrested on Monday.

Another youth, Kamal Kumar, who was also detained along with them was released from Bharalumukh police station, their lawyer

"Marshal Baruah and Angkuman Bordoloi were arrested under various sections of BNS, pertaining to unlawful assembly and criminal intimidation, among others, which are all bailable. However, Section 3 of the Prevention of Damage to Public Property Act has also been imposed, and it is nonbailable," the lawyer said.

"When they were produced before the court today, our appeal for bail was denied. Both have been sent to judicial custody," he said.

The lawyer had earlier claimed that the three youths were detained in the early hours of Sunday in connection with the painting they had made in the Bharalamukh area. It was part of a protest against the decision to cut about 80 trees for the construction of the overbridge.

Locals had formed a human chain on Saturday against the decision and a night-long sit-in was also staged. "There was a word in the painting initially which might have been objectionable, but it was replaced immediately," the lawyer maintained. The final painting had the slogan 'Please Himanta Save Nature', which was later removed from the spot. Baruah is an environmental activist and artist, while Bordoloi is the publicity secretary of Jatiya Yuba Bahini, the youth wing of Raijor Dal. Police have been tightlipped about the entire episode.

The city has witnessed two people-led movements since last month against the felling of trees for the construction of bridges.

Similar protests had taken place in Dighalipukhuri in October after it was reported that about 25 trees would be felled for constructing an arm of the (CONTD. ON PAGE-2)

Borobekra sub-division has witnessed multiple incidents of violence since June. It is one of the worst-affected areas of the district.

Last week, a 31-year-old woman was killed during an attack on the Zairon Hmar village by armed militants. At least six houses were reduced to ashes in the attack, according to the police. More than 200 people have been killed and thousands rendered homeless in ethnic violence between Imphal Valley-based Meiteis and adjoining hills-based Kuki-Zo groups since May last year.

Ethnically diverse Jiribam, which was largely untouched by the clashes in Imphal Valley and the adjoining hills, witnessed violence after the mutilated body of a farmer was found in a field in June this year. Thousands had to leave their homes and take shelter in relief camps due to incidents of arson. A CRPF jawan was also killed in an ambush by militants during patrolling in mid-July. (PTI) ruling party. Hussain had been representing Samaguri in the state Assembly for the past 23 years. He vacated it following his election to the Lok Sabha earlier this year. His son Tanzil is the Congress candidate in the byelection. The BJP has fielded Diplu Ranjan Sharma, the party's state general secretary and a former president of the party's state youth wing. In the letter to the EC, sent through the Returning Officer, Nagaon, on Sunday, the BJP has maintained that Hussain's presence has incited violence in the area and wanted a bar on the MP from campaigning in the constituency. "The by-election in Samaguri has turned violent due to the conspiracy of this one person, Rakibul Hussain. We want that Hussain should not be allowed to campaign here any further. The by-election will not be fair and transparent if he is allowed to move around here," Assam minister Bimal Bora had said after submitting the letter.

A complaint was filed by BJP MLA Jitu Goswami, whose vehicle was purportedly fired upon, at Rupahihat police station on Sunday against Hussain and other Congress workers for allegedly pelting of stones, firing with illegal firearms, attempting to murder and inciting violence.

Goswami claimed that stones were pelted at him and BJP supporters during the campaign in the Muriputhi Kheti area on Saturday evening from a Congress election office, with gunshots also fired at them later.

He further claimed that Hussain was present at the spot during the incident and instigated a criminal and other Congress workers to attack the BJP leaders and workers.

The MLA, who said two BJP workers were injured in the incident, named 15 persons, including Hussain, in the complaint. Violence has rocked the Samaguri constituency with both the ruling BJP and opposition Congress alleging that gunshots were fired targeting each other's supporters, besides workers of the two parties being engaged in verbal spats and scuffles. Journalists covering the poll campaign have also been injured in the spats. On Sunday, Tanzil's SUV was allegedly attacked by BJP supporters at Udmari village and he was forced to return from campaigning at a tea garden, with the Congress filing complaints with the EC and police over the matter, a local party leader had said. The BJP is making an all-out effort to snatch the seat in the demographically a great burden on his shoulders owing to extensive scrutiny and expectations.

In a post on X, the Congress chief said, "Extending best wishes to Justice Sanjiv Khanna for taking oath as the 51st Chief Justice of India. The position of the chief justice of India would undoubtedly place a lot of weight on his shoulders due to the extensive scrutiny and expectations that the office brings with it." Kharge added, "I am sure with his long and distinguished experience, he will be able to bear the weight of this responsibility and serve the judiciary with distinction.

Apart from the PM and former CJI Chandrachud, Vice-President Jagdeep Dhankhar, defence minister Rajnath Singh, Union law minister Arjun Ram Meghwal and former CJI J S Khehar were among the notable faces in attendance. Justice Khanna, who commenced courtroom proceedings in the apex court this afternoon as the CJI, thanked lawyers for wishing him well.

'Thank you," said CJI Khanna, who was present on the bench along with Justice Sanjay Kumar. "I wish you a fruitful tenure as the CJI," said senior advocate and former Attorney General Mukul Rohatgi at the outset of the proceedings. Other lawyers too wished him well.

CJI Khanna, who has served as a Supreme Court judge since January 2019, was a part of several landmark judgments such as upholding the sanctity of EVMs, scrapping of the electoral bonds scheme, upholding the brogation of Article 370 and grant of interim bail to former Delhi CM Arvind Kejriwal. He belongs to an illustrious Delhi-based family and is the son of former Delhi High Court judge Justice Dev

Raj Khanna and the nephew of prominent former apex court judge H R Khanna. The CJI, who was elevated in the Supreme Court on January 18, 2019, was third-generation legal professional who initially practiced as a lawyer before being appointed as a judge of the Delhi high court. He is believed to be driven by the zeal to reduce pendency and speed up justice delivery. (PTI)

2024 on track to be hottest

Rising ocean temperatures also fuel extreme weather patterns, further intensifying climate challenges. Sea levels, driven by thermal expansion and glacier melt, continue to rise at a rate more than double that observed between 1993 and 2002. Although the rate of increase slightly slowed in 2024, the WMO warns that sea level rise remains a grave concern for coastal regions worldwide. This trend underscores the need for coastal communities to strengthen resilience against rising waters. The WMO report also draws attention to unprecedented glacier loss, with a record 1.2 metres of water equivalent lost in 2023.

Glaciers in Switzerland, for example, lost approximately 10 per cent of their remaining volume over just two years. Such rapid glacier retreat impacts mountainous and polar regions, highlighting the urgency for climate adaptation measures in these vulnerable areas. Extreme weather events have also intensified globally, with WMO attributing deadly heatwaves, severe floods, tropical cyclones, and persistent droughts to climate change. These events have led to economic losses, food insecurity, and forced migration, hindering sustainable development and causing significant human suffering. (PTI)

However, the Congress MP Rakibul Hussain claimed that the opposition party workers came under attack from the BJP supporters in different places and the ruling orchestrated violence to derail the campaign of Congress candidate Tanzil Hussain.

Meanwhile, All India United Democratic Front (AIUDF) decided to stay out of the polls and they did not give ticket for the by-elections. Ajmal said, "We are not contesting the by-elections and our party will concentrate on the panchayat polls which is due for a long time in Assam. In this scenario, I appeal to voters of five assembly constituencies where bypolls will take place to cast their vote in favour of a secular candidate."

The AIUDF leader also mentioned that he did not field any candidate in the Samaguri assembly seat to help 'nephew' Tanzil Hussain. Notably, Tanzil Hussain is the son of Congress MP and former minister Rakibul Hussain. Ajmal was defeated by Rakibul Hussain by more than 10 lakh votes in AIUDF bastion Dhubri—a seat he represented in the lower house of the parliament for 15 years.

Chutia community holds rally in Jorhat

JORHAT, Nov 11: A huge rally was organised at the IT Field, Rajabari here on Monday to reiterate the demand for the inclusion of the Chutia community in the ST list.

The rally, organised by the Jorhat district committee of the All Assam Chutia Students' Union and its sister organisations, also renewed another long standing demand of the community—to set up a Chutia autonomous council.

The meeting, which was attended by leaders of the Central Committee of the Students' Union—Mohen Borah, president; Raju Chutia, general secretary; Khirod Saikia, chief advisor; Madhu Madhob, advisor; and Abon Borah, assistant general secretary—criticised the state and central governments for failing to keep their pre-poll promises.

Cautioning the governments, the leaders stated that they would pursue democratic means of agitation if their demands were not met at the earliest.

Stating that for a long time successive governments have failed to deliver on assurances to fulfill their longstanding demands, they added that the Chutia is one of the oldest indigenous tribes of Assam but has remained neglected and backward.

Trump win fallout on B'desh politics

hree months after the installation of the interim government in Bangladesh headed by chief adviser Dr. Muhammad Yunus, the politics of the 18 crore-nation has landed in fresh turmoil after the win of the Republican candidate Donald Trump in the just concluded November 5 presidential elections. Only six days have passed since the victory of Trump, but it has stirred the Bangladesh political establishment so much that talks are on in Dhaka's diplomatic circles that Dr. Yunus may resign. The question is only when? It is known to everyone dealing with the with the South Asian advisers of Trump that the President-elect has a distaste for Dr. Yunus who is known in Washington DC as Hillary Clinton's man. Already, in his Diwali message, just a few days before the polls. Trump made his position clear by mentioning that Bangladesh is in chaos and there are attacks on the Hindus which he would not have allowed if he were the President. This was a sufficient signal to Dr. Yunus to understand what Trump meant.

The immediate fallout of the Trump victory on the Awami League is that the organization, which till recently was lying low as the important leaders were hiding and many of the offices were burnt after August 5, as also functionaries and former MPs killed, suddenly started organising and the cryptic messages went to the core base of supporters that the turnaround was near. On November 10, the Awami League's student wing gave a call for a public meeting in memory of the students movement martyr Noor Hussain at 3 PM at the central place in Dhaka. This was an instance of courage and resistance, as it was known that they would not be allowed to hold the rally. Sure, the rally could not take place after large number of arrests and beating of the workers who dared to come. But this got the Yunus-led establishment worried since they did not expect even token emergence of Awami League after the student movement fury against them before or after August 5. More than the consolidation within Bangladesh, the Awami League has made some headway overseas. Awami League's overseas base is still strongest in UK and USA, and they are flush with funds also. Senior AL leaders are lobbying in US with the South Asia advisers of Trump and they are getting good response. The BNP overseas body is also lobbying in Washington, but so far, they are much behind the Awami League. Things will take definite shape on Bangladesh policy of the Trump government shortly after Trump officially takes over on January 20 next year.

As regards India, the scenario is at last looking better after a low dip in India-Bangladesh relations after August 5. In the emerging political scenario in Bangladesh following Trump's win, even if Dr. Yunus stays in his position, he will be more amenable to India's position. Dr. Yunus desperately wants to meet the Indian Prime Minister Narendra Modi at the BIMSTEC meet later this month. Whatever be the final shape of Trump's Bangladesh policy, Trump will keep Narendra Modi in the loop and that will be a big relief for India at the moment.

Matri Pitri Vandana: A step towards parental care or a reflection of modern irony?

By: Dipak Kurmi

Administration, Assam, has developed the "Matri Pitri Vandana" portal to enable government employees in Assam to apply for casual leave online. Hon'ble Chief Minister Dr. Himanta Biswa Sarma has urged state employees to use this special leave to spend quality time with their parents, in-laws, and other family members. This initiative is part of a broader effort by the Assam cabinet to support family bonds by approving parental

At first glance, such a policy seems commendable, reflecting the deeply rooted values of Indian Sanatani society where parents are revered and considered the highest form of blessing. In a country where the feet of the father are described as the gateway to heaven and the mother's feet as encompassing all pilgrimages, allocating special leave for government employees to spend time with their parents is indeed a well-intentioned

However, while acknowledging the merit of this policy, it also raises questions about the state of modern society. The fact that a policy is needed to remind children to care for their parents is a sobering reminder of how today's complex lifestyle has distanced many from their families. The pressures of livelihood often force individuals to live apart from their parents, leaving them unable to care for their elders properly. This situation highlights a failure in fulfilling one of the most fundamental responsibilities—caring for one's parents in their old age. The irony is clear: in a society that places immense value on familial ties, modern life has created a reality where many family members are separated, unable to live under one roof or share their parents' company. But is it fair to blame only external circumstances? Have human selfishness and changing priorities also played a role? Instances of children voluntarily distancing themselves from their parents for personal reasons abound. The number of elderly parents left in care homes, not due to necessity but because of an unwillingness to shoulder their care, is an uncomfortable truth. Some parents even face neglect and maltreatment with their childrer

Such incidents are not just individual failings but have become common enough to be recognized as societal issues. While policies and government regulations can incentivize certain behaviors, they cannot instill a genuine sense of duty or love for one's parents. These qualities stem from an individual's character, upbringing, and moral values. A devoted child will strive to be there for their parents in times of need, overcoming any challenges without waiting for an officially sanctioned day off.

This perspective raises questions about the real value of the "Matri Pitri Vandana" policy. Does the requirement to submit photographs of the parents as proof of fulfilling one's duty imply a lack of trustworthiness among employees? The government's expectation that some employees might misuse these leaves for unrelated purposes further underscores this concern. Can a photograph with parents genuinely serve as evidence of caring service? The policy risks becoming a superficial measure if not supported by broader initiatives aimed at the well-being of the elderly. Practical changes, such as granting special permissions for employees to work closer to home or offering immediate leave for medical emergencies involving elderly parents, could provide more meaningful support. For employees who are the sole caregivers, flexible arrangements during critical periods would be far more beneficial than a day or two of pre-scheduled leave.

Ultimately, while the idea behind this initiative is noble, it also highlights the disconnection between modern work-life demands and traditional family responsibilities. True service to one's parents is not dictated by government policies but by personal dedication. Without this, any regulation, no matter how well-intentioned, risks becoming little more than a bureaucratic formality. A comprehensive approach that addresses the real challenges faced by both employees and their aging parents would better align with the values this policy seeks to uphold. (The writer can be reached onald Trump's re-entry in the White House is seen with a bated breath all over the world, especially the Muslim nations across the globe, as the world waits to see in which manner his current presidency will run. Will it be "America First" like the previous one or a rather tolerant one while dealing with the Muslim nations in particular.

Donald Trump has reclaimed the US presidency after a four-year absence, becoming the 47th American president and signalling a return to his approach of prioritising US interests and assessing alliances based on the strength and alignment of other nations.

Leaders such as Prime Minister Narendra Modi and Saudi Arabia's Mohammed bin Salman may anticipate smoother negotiations with reduced scrutiny, while Israel's Benjamin Netanyahu is expected to welcome a supportive, familiar ally in Donald Trump.

However, Ukraine's Volodymyr Zelensky may face challenges, as Donald Trump tends to prioritise countries that align with US policies or show strength. The same rule may apply to his future dealings with China's Xi Jinping.

Besides the world leaders who will be seen as either friends or foes in Trump's world, India and several other countries are likely to be viewed as winners with his return to the White House, but the biggest test of his presidency will be resetting the ties with Muslim nations, most of whom have grown more anti-America during the past four years

Among the Muslim nations, the most obvious and an old-time ally of the US is Saudi Arabia. But under the stewardship of Crown Prince Saudi Mohammed bin Salman, the kingdom's de facto ruler, Trump would definitely like to revive efforts for a long-awaited security pact with the US.

Trump, who played a key role in the Abraham Accords that established diplomatic ties between Israel and several Arab nations, is expected to focus on expanding this framework to include Saudi Arabia, also.

If Trump succeeds in brokering a peace deal between Israel and the kingdom, it could pave the way for the US to extend its security support to Saudi Arabia. This would allow the kingdom to shift its focus to economic development and reduce concerns over potential

Another Muslim nation to watch for an upswing in bilateral ties would be Turkey. Turkey's President Recep Tayyip Erdogan may look forward to improved relations under a Trump presidency. Erdogan and Trump have maintained a friendly rapport, often communicating by phone, with Erdogan even calling him "my friend."

Unlike the Biden administration, Trump's return could provide Erdogan with more direct access to Washington. Trump's anti-war stance and focus on trade could benefit Erdogan, but his criticism of Israel may create tensions. Additionally. Turkey's recent moves to strengthen ties with China might present challenges in balancing its relations with the US.

President Recep Tayyip Erdogan congratulated his "friend" Trump after "a great battle". "I believe ... more efforts will be given for a fairer world in this new era that began with the election by American people," Erdogan said in a post on X, adding he hoped regional wars would come to an end.

Iran, another dominant player in the Middle Eastern politics has so far downplayed the impact of Trump's return, but his presidency closes the door to diplomacy on its nuclear program, which Tehran had hoped could ease its sanctions-stricken economy.

A strong supporter of Israel, Trump applied a "maximum pressure" policy towards Iran during his first term. He may further isolate Iran by tightening the US sanctions he previously imposed. However, Trump will face a changed region, as Iran has recently strengthened ties with Saudi Arabia and the UAE, both of which had backed the "maximum pressure" approach.

The livelihoods of Iranians will not be affected by the US election, government spokeswoman Fatemeh Mohajerani told reporters after a cabinet meeting in the capital, Tehran.

"The U.S. elections are not really our business. Our policies are steady and don't change based on individuals. We made the necessary predictions before and there will not be change in people's livelihoods," she said.

As far as the Palestine issue is concerned, it is less clear how Trump would deal with the West Asian war. His steadfast support for Benjamin Netanyahu would certainly give him better leverage

Egyptian President Abdel Fattah al-Sisi congratulated Trump on his electoral victory, stressing that he looks forward to achieving peace and stability in the region, and to work together in achieving the interests of the Egyptian and American peoples.

Jordanian King Abdullah II also extended his congratulations to President-elect Trump, according to a post on his X account. The monarch said he looks forward to working with Trump "again to bolster Jordan's longstanding partnership with the United States, in service of regional and global peace and stability for all."

President of the United Arab Emirates (UAE) Sheikh Mohamed bin Zayed Al-Nahyan sent a congratulatory message to Trump on his victory in the U.S. presidential elections. Bin Zayed said his country looks forward "to continuing to work with our partners in the U.S. towards a future of opportunity, prosperity, and stability for all." Other Muslim nations like Afghanistan, Pakistan, Bangladesh and Malaysia also played the usual bonhomie tune while congratulating the new American president> tual interaction "It is expected that Mr. Trump will play a constructive role in ending the current war in the region and the world, especially in Gaza and Lebanon.

Noting the 2020 Doha peace deal signed during the previous Trump administration, which ended the 20-year-long "occupation" of Afghanistan, spokesman Abdul Qahar Balkhi said Kabul hopes the future administration in Washington will take "realistic" steps in the light of a "balanced" foreign policy so that there could be a "solid" development, vis-avis relations, between the two countries.

Pakistani Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif urged a "further" strengthening of the US-Pakistan partnership. "Congratulations to President-elect Donald Trump on his historic victory for a second term! I look forward to working closely with the incoming Administration to further strengthen and broaden the Pakistan-US partnership," Sharif wrote on X.

Bangladesh's transitional government chief Muhammad Yunus also congratulated Trump on his victory. "The peace-loving people of Bangladesh look forward to partner and collaborate in your efforts in addressing the global challenges in the pursuit of peace, harmony, stability, and prosperity

Calling Trump's win a "remarkpolitical comeback,' Malaysian Prime Minister Anwar Ibrahim said: "This new chapter brings renewed opportunities, and we're ready to move forward with optimism, collaboration and shared purpose.' Anwar said the US remains Malaysia's largest source of foreign investment and a "vital player" in the Asia-Pacific region and Malaysia hopes that America 'will reinvigorate its engagement with Southeast Asian region.

"We also urge the US to use its considerable influence to help end the devastating violence and loss of life in Palestine and Ukraine. We look forward to working closely with the incoming president to foster mutual benefits for the people of both our nations," said the Malaysian prime minister.

However, most of these congratulatory messages are routine messages and no one could exactly predict the future course of the American foreign policy, because for another four years it would be led by a maverick, who is usually not bogged down by the real politik or issues but by his own sense of profit.

He may impose a travel ban on travellers from Muslim nations, as promised during his campaign or ust like a statement made during the campaign while addressing the Arab-American Muslims in Michigan he may stop arms supply to Israel, an unfathomable promise to keep, but with Trump you really do not know, until after it has happened, just like his re-election.

It is less clear how Trump would deal with the West Asian war. His steadfast support for Benjamin Netanyahu would certainly give him better leverage over him than a wavering Biden administration has had. Exploiting this to further an initiative that he commenced with the Abraham Accords will be a formidable test of his deal-making abilities.

He has backed Israel in its fight against Hamas in Gaza but has urged it to wrap up its offensive. Trump can be expected to continue the Biden administration's policy of arming Israel. Trump has claimed he'll bring peace to Ukraine, curb China's unfair trade practices, force allies to pay up, and prevent further shocks like the Oct. 7 attacks in Israel - all because decision-makers around the world fear what he'll do if they defy him. India's inflation surge and its impact on and daily Sensex, Nifty ndia has been facing significant inflation challenges recently, and this has affected Lnot only everyday expenses for people but also the performance of major stock indices, like the Sensex and Nifty. Inflation refers to the rise in prices over time, which reduces the purchasing power of money, meaning that people can buy less with the same amount. This problem has been more noticeable recently due to a number of contributing factors. Food prices, in particular, have surged.

By: Satyabrat Borah

Essentials such as vegetables, grains, and other staples have become more expensive, partly due to adverse weather patterns. Monsoon rains have been unpredictable, affecting crop production and driving prices up. This has had a direct impact on the cost of living for many families, as they now spend more of their income on food, which leaves less for other necessities.

Apart from food prices, energy costs have also risen sharply. Crude oil prices in international markets have increased, and since India imports a large portion of its oil, this affects local fuel prices. The rise in fuel prices then affects the cost of transportation and production for almost every other industry, leading to a ripple effect throughout the economy. This combination of rising food and fuel costs has pushed inflation to levels that are starting to impact the daily lives of Indians and the economy at large.

As inflation continues to rise, the effects are also felt in the financial markets. The Sensex and Nifty, India's major stock market indices have experienced downward trends, partly due to the inflationary pressures and partly due to global factors. Stock markets are sensitive to changes in the economy, both locally and internationally. When inflation rises, it often causes uncertainty among investors. Inflation erodes the value of money, so investors tend to be cautious about putting their money into stocks. The performance of the Sensex and Nifty has also been impacted by rising inflation in other major economies, particularly the United States.

The United States reported higher-than-expected inflation, which led to expectations that the Federal Reserve (the central bank of the U.S.) would raise interest rates or keep them high for a longer period. Higher U.S. interest rates can make investments in the U.S. more attractive, leading some investors to move their funds from emerging markets like India to the U.S. markets. This can cause a decrease in foreign investments in Indian stocks, which can further impact the Sensex and Nifty, as foreign investment is a major component of India's stock market.

Certain sectors in India, like technology and financial services, have been more affected by these changes than others. The technology sector, for example, often relies on exports to countries like the United States and Europe. When global growth slows down or inflation rises abroad, it can reduce the demand for these exports. This impacts the revenue of Indian technology companies, which in turn affects their stock prices. The financial sector has also been impacted as inflation affects interest rates and the cost of borrowing. Banks and other financial institutions have to manage these factors, which can influence their profitability and, therefore, their stock performance.

Companies like Paytm, a prominent digital payment and financial services company in India, have faced specific challenges. Regulatory issues, as well as the general economic environment, have affected Paytm's stock performance. The Reserve Bank of India (RBI) has introduced new regulations that impact digital payments and financial services, and this has affected companies like Paytm, leading to volatility in their stock

The RBI has a critical role in managing inflation. One of its main tools is the repo rate, which is the interest rate at which it lends to commercial banks. By adjusting this rate, the RBI can influence borrowing costs throughout the economy. When inflation rises, central banks like the RBI typically raise interest rates to make borrowing more expensive, which can help slow down spending and reduce inflation.

However, the RBI has kept interest rates steady recently to support economic growth. which has been a priority following the economic challenges caused by the COVID-19 pandemic. Balancing inflation control with economic growth is always challenging for central banks. In this case, the RBI's decision to maintain rates is meant to support recovery, but it may also mean that inflation could continue to rise if prices do not stabilize.

For ordinary people, inflation means that household budgets are under pressure. With higher food and fuel costs, people are finding that their monthly expenses have increased. This situation can be especially difficult for low- and middle-income families, who spend a larger portion of their income on essentials like food and fuel. As these costs rise, families may need to cut back on discretionary spending, such as dining out, entertainment, or even some healthcare expenses. This reduction in spending can impact various sectors of the economy, as consumer demand for non-essential goods and services decreases. Inflation also affects savings. For those with savings in cash or low-interest accounts, the purchasing power of their money decreases over time. This means that while they may have saved a certain amount, that amount buys less than it did before. To combat this, some people might consider investing in assets like stocks, which have the potential for higher returns. However, the current market volatility, with the Sensex and Nifty showing signs of instability, can make it difficult for individual investors to decide where to put their money.

The impact of inflation on the Indian economy and stock markets also reflects global trends. Many countries are dealing with similar issues, including high energy prices and food inflation. The interconnectedness of global economies means that when major economies like the United States experience inflation, it can have ripple effects on other economies. In this case, inflation in the U.S. has led to expectations of higher interest rates, which in turn has impacted markets around the world, including India.

The recent rise in inflation in India is driven by a combination of factors, including higher food and energy prices. This has led to challenges for households as everyday costs rise, impacting their ability to save and spend. The financial markets, represented by the Sensex and Nifty, have been affected as well, with sectors like technology and finance facing pressure due to global and domestic economic conditions. The RBI's efforts to balance inflation control with economic growth will be crucial in the coming months, as it decides how to address these inflationary pressures without slowing down

Addressing illegal parking on Kaliram Chowdhury Road, Kumarpara

Sir/Ma'am

I would like to express my gratitude to the Government of Assam for successfully completing the construction of Kaliram Chowdhury Road and Bypass in Kumarpara. This much-needed development has enhanced the infrastructure in our area, benefiting residents and commuters alike.

However, an issue remains that undermines the effectiveness of this improvement. Many vehicles, which are often not owned by local residents, are parked illegally along this road for extended periods. These vehicles are left by individuals from other areas, adding to traffic congestion and making it challenging for pedestrians and motorists to navigate safely.

Even the contractor's workers face difficulties during nighttime construction activities due to these vehicles. I request that the Assam Police and the municipal authorities take strict action to prevent unauthorized and prolonged parking on this newly constructed road. Addressing this problem will ensure that the intended benefits of the road construction reach the community. Thank you for considering this appeal, and I hope it encourages prompt action from the relevant authorities.

It is impossible to become a human being without inferiority complex. Inferiority complex keeps pushing people to overcome inferiority complex. Life has thousands of ways of winning. Every route is different from one another. In the same way, there can be many different ways to reach the goal of excellence. Every person chooses his own path according to his thoughts. The greater the inferiority of man, the stronger the determination to conquer it. There is also more emotional movement going on inside the mind." (Alfred Adler, world-renowned psy-

Inferiority considered as a deadly disease. In the world many people fall prey to this disease. The determination of a bad mindset that people take about themselves is inferiority complex we have seen this condition lead to death. On the other hand, it can eat everyone who is affected by the disease even if it does not kill. As a result, people do not know how to integrate into society and want to isolate themselves from others and end up becoming frustrated and confused themselves falls.

The main cause of this psychological condition is lack of self-respect, lack of self-confidence, disrespect for one's work, lack of any higher concept of ability, aspirations and aspirations The disease is a curse especially for students. These poisonous gases create such a terrible situation in the society that no one, whether elderly, middle-aged, teenagers, youth, children, can escape it. However, children are relatively less affected.

It is usually seen that mental instability is the result of that state of affairs. This instability not only makes life miserable but also interferes with the preservation of our mem-

In addition to the main causes mentioned above, other factors seem to contribute to the

1. Ambition, which separates people from animals, causes unrest in the minds of humans. According to the world famous psychologist Dr. Sigmund Freud, what you and I do has two purposes. (a) Sexual passion (b)

Aspiration grows into ambition and this ambition grows into anxiety. Eventually, this anxiety causes people to feel inferior when they feel that they are lagging behind com-

2. When parents compare their children with others and the comparator is advanced in all aspects of sports, reading, literature, health, etc., the child suffers from inferiority

3. If a person is an uncle, brother, parent

The disease is slowly developed by the person who considers himself unworthy if he is cheated by questioning who is better.

4. The financially weak can suffer from the disease due to depression themselves.

5. People can become depressed if they do not see the hope of recognition or position. 6. People are also more likely to develop this disease due to betrayal or failure of love during adolescence and youth, fear and unexpressed attitudes.

As parents, we should teach our children these things from an early age - You always remember that no one in this world is all-pervasive. Everyone has something wrong with them. That is the law of nature. Nature does not create anyone perfectly. In that sense, the rest of the world is equal, that is, all are incompletely fragmented.

So it turns out, as a human being, you are equal to the entire human race. You are no inferior to anyone in the world. You are as powerful as anyone else in this world. Social values are equal to yours and others. Remember often that you are an integral part of the whole human race.

If you are able to think of yourself as part of the human race in this way, you will also be able to understand that you may not be able to do what another person can say: on the other hand, many others may not be able to do what you can. No one is made better or worse by being able or unable to do a particular thing. The only difference is that in some cases they are slightly ahead of each other.

Most importantly, never compare yourself to anyone. It is often seen that many of us are jealous of others' living conditions, their wealth, their hobbies, and blame our own fate for not having those things with us. One thing to remember is that in any field, whether it is education or wealth, business or literature and culture, everyone has to work hard to achieve these things or to achieve success in any field And if someone has more of these than you do, it means they've worked harder than you to get there. So never compare yourself with anyone and keep working hard with positive thoughts to achieve that job. And be content with what you have now. Our lives are precious. So don't let this precious life become a victim of disappointment.

Famous psychologist William James once said, "One of the deepest desires of human character is the desire to be praised." Similarly, Professor Dew said, "The deepest feeling in the human mind is the desire to be famous Sometimes people hope in this thought. Then belief is created. It is a natural process for people to be praised. When they have to distance themselves from this belief or normal process, they become restless it becomes abnormal.

Therefore, the parents of adolescent children should take precautions to prevent it by considering the reasons mentioned above. Especially if they do not refrain from comparing their children with others, showing fear, obstructing them in all areas, etc., this epidemic will spread to future generations. In a society surrounded by modernity, the younger generation is easily attracted to western civilizational culture. So if the house and society cannot be run in line with the era then all will blame the parents for the inferiority complex of today's youth and child. When paired with time management apps, AI-enabled workflows can track how much time is spent on ideation and refinement rather than routine content creation. These productivity insights enable creative teams to allocate resources more effectively, giving professionals more time to focus on polishing and perfecting their work.

3. Supporting Complex Decision-Making

AI can process massive amounts of data to uncover patterns and trends that might be missed by human analysis. For roles in business development, finance, and operations, generative AI can be used to provide data-driven insights and forecasts that inform decision-making. In essence, AI becomes a decision-support tool, offering recommendations based on historical data and predictive analytics.

By integrating generative AI with time management apps or other task management software, professionals can streamline the decision-making process, ensuring that high-priority tasks are addressed based on data insights. This reduces time spent on manual data analysis and allows emplovees to focus on interpreting AI-generated reports, making strategic decisions, and addressing critical business needs.

Jobs at Risk and Jobs Enhanced by Generative AI

It's clear that some job roles will be impacted more than others by generative AI. While entry-level positions involving repetitive or low-complexity tasks might face automation, other jobs will be enhanced, with AI acting as a valuable tool for employees.

Roles Enhanced by Genera-

Benefits of Using Generative AI as a Co-Worker engage with patients directly.

If we view generative AI as a co-worker rather than a replacement, we can better appreciate how it can help individuals and teams maximize their effectiveness. Here are some key advantages of this collaborative approach:

1. Enhanced Efficiency and Productivity

When AI takes on repetitive tasks, employees have more time to focus on high-impact work. Tools like time management apps can track and measure productivity gains, showing clear evidence of how generative AI can boost overall efficiency. Employees can spend less time on busywork and more time on work that drives results, from client meetings to strategy ses-

2. Skill Development and Role Evolution

Generative AI opens new possibilities for skill development. As AI handles the routine aspects of a job, employees can take on tasks that require advanced skills, such as critical thinking, creativity, and strategic planning. Companies can offer upskilling programs to ensure their workforce adapts and evolves alongside AI, creating a symbiotic relationship between humans and technology.

By using time tracking and task management apps, employmuch time is dedicated to new skill development, leading to more targeted training programs that help professionals grow into new roles.

3. Improving Job Satisfaction and Reducing Burnout

Repetitive tasks often lead to burnout and low job satisfaction. Generative AI can take on these tasks, giving employees a chance to engage in more meaningful work that requires human insight and interaction. With the help of time management tools, companies can optimize work distribution, reduce overtime hours, and create healthier work environ-

4. Innovation Through Collaboration

Generative AI can act as a brainstorming partner, helping employees come up with new ideas and approaches. In fields like marketing, product development, and research, AI can generate creative solutions that employees may not have considered. By combining AI-generated insights with human intuition, companies can innovate faster and respond more effectively to market changes.

Preparing for the Future: Adopting AI While Valuing Human Skills

As we continue to integrate generative AI into the workplace, it's essential to focus on developing a hybrid workforce that balances technology and human expertise. The future of work will depend on employees who can harness AI effectively, communicate insights, and work collaboratively in AI-augmented environments.

For businesses, fostering a culture of continuous learning is crucial. Employees need opportunities to upskill and reskill, adapting to a future where AI will be a key component of the workplace. Using time management apps and productivity trackers, businesses can monitor these shifts and ensure that employees continue to find value in their roles.

Conclusion

Generative AI is not here to replace jobs but to support and empower the workforce. By automating mundane tasks, enhancing creativity, and supporting decision-making, AI has the potential to become an invaluable co-worker. Paired with time management apps and task management tools, AI can help emoptimize ployees their productivity and focus on strateful difference. In the evolving world of work, AI should be embraced as a partner that complements human capabilities, not a replacement for them. Businesses and employees alike must focus on adaptability, viewing AI as a tool for growth and collaboration. In doing so, we can create a future where AI and human talent work hand in hand to drive success and innovation. (Courtesy: Youth Ki myths we cover in this article increase the stigma attached to diabetes. For this reason alone, it is essential to challenge these falsehoods.

Medical myths: All about diabetes

Firstly, we will briefly explain what diabetes is and highlight the differences between the three most common forms of diabetes: type 1, type 2, and gestational diabetes.

Type 1 diabetes is an autoimmune disease in which the immune system attacks the pancreas cells that create insulin. It tends to occur earlier in life than type 2 diabetes. In type 2 diabetes, the body does not make enough insulin, does not respond well to insulin, or both.

At least 90% of people with diabetes in the U.S. have type 2. Gestational diabetes, as the name suggests, occurs during pregnancy. During pregnancy, the body needs more insulin. Gestational diabetes occurs

This is a common myth, perhaps understandably - blood sugar levels play an essential role in diabetes. Sugar itself, though, is not a causal factor.

As ever, the story is complex: there does appear to be a link between regularly drinking soda and risk for type 2 diabetes. One large study published in 2013 found that, even after controlling for energy intake and body mass index (BMI), drinking soda has links with an increased risk of developing the disease. The study did not find this association in relation to other drinks, such as artificiallysweetened beverages and fruit

Thankfully, this is a myth. While it is true that diabetes can lead to blindness and amputations in some cases, it is not inevitable. And for individuals who manage their condition carefully, these outcomes are The CDC estimate that 11.7% of adults with diabetes have some level of vision impairment. Lower-extremity amputation occurs in around 0.56% of Experts have identified several risk factors that increase the likelihood of experiencing diabetes-related complications. These include obesity and overweight, smoking, physical inactivity, high blood pressure, and high cholesterol.

7. People with diabetes should not drive

A diabetes diagnosis does not automatically mean that someone needs to stop driving. In a position statement on diabetes and driving, the American Diabetes Association explain:

"[M]ost people with diabetes safely operate motor vehicles without creating any meaningful risk of injury to themselves or others.'

However, they also explain that, if concerns arise, people should undergo assessment on an individual basis. According to the U.S. Department of Transportation:

"[P]eople with diabetes are able to drive unless they are limited by certain complications of diabetes. These include severely low blood glucose levels or vision problems. If you are experiencing diabetes-related complications, you should work closely with your diabetes healthcare team to find out if diabetes affects your ability to drive.' 8. Prediabetes always leads to diabetes

In the U.S., an estimated 88 prediabetes. Prediabetes is a condition where blood sugar levels are higher than normal but not quite high enough to classify as diabetes. If left unchecked, prediabetes can develop into type 2 diabetes.

However, it is not a given. Lifestyle changes can turn the tide. Regular physical activity and a more healthful diet can stop diabetes in its tracks.

9. People with diabetes cannot be active

Once again, this is untrue. In fact, exercise is an important component in the management of diabetes. Among other things, exercise helps drive weight loss and reduces blood pressure, both of which are risk factors for complications. It can also help the body use insulin better.

However, exercise can impact blood sugar levels in various ways, sometimes increasing it and, at other times, decreasing

According to Diabetes U.K., 'Some days, you'll do exactly the same type of activity and eat the same foods, but your blood sugar levels may act differently to what you'd expect.'

They also offer tips for managing blood sugar during activso that people can help if needed. 10. You can 'catch' diabetes

This is a myth. Pathogens do not cause diabetes, so a person cannot pass it to someone else. Doctors classify it as a noncommunicable disease.

11. Some natural products cure diabetes

Currently, there is no cure for diabetes. Any claims that a product can cure diabetes are false. Many herbal or natural products will do little or nothing and, in some cases, they can potentially cause harm; diabetes.co.uk explain:

"[Blecause certain herbs, vitamins, and supplements may interact with diabetes medications (including insulin) and increase their hypoglycemic effects, it is often argued that [using] natural therapies could reduce blood sugars to dangerously low levels and raise the risk of other diabetes complications.

Diabetes is a complex but common disease. As its prevalence increases, it is essential to overturn myths as we find them. (Courtesy: Medical News

6 THE HILLS TIMES Traumatised by war, hundreds of Lebanon's children struggle with wounds both physical and emotional his father's lap, clinging to his chest, Hussein Mikdad cried his heart out. The 4-year-old kicked his doctor with his intact foot and pushed him away with the arm that was not in a cast. "My Dad! My Dad!" Hussein said. "Make him leave me alone!" With eyes tearing up in relief and pain, the father reassured his son and pulled him closer. Hussein and his father, Hassan, are the only survivors of their family after an Israeli airstrike last month on their Beirut neighbourhood. The strike killed 18 people, including his mother, three siblings and six relatives.

"Can he now shower?" the father asked the doctor.

Ten days after surgery, doctors examining Hussein's wounds said the boy is healing properly. He has stitches that assembled his torn tendons back in place on the right arm. The pain has subsided, and Hussein should be able to walk again in two months - albeit with a lingering

A prognosis for Hussein's invisible wounds is much harder to give. He is back in diapers and has begun wetting his bed. He hardly speaks and has not said a word about his mother, two sisters and brother.

"The trauma is not just on the muscular skeletal aspect. But he is also mentally hurt," Imad Nahle, one of Hussein's orthopedic surgeons, said.

Israel said, without elaborating, that the strike on the Mikdad neighbourhood struck a Hezbollah target. In the war that has escalated since September, Israeli airstrikes have increasingly hit residential areas around Lebanon. Israel accuses the Lebanese militant group of hiding its capabilities and fighters among civilians. It vows to cripple Hezbollah, which began firing into northern Israel after Hamas' Oct 7 attack triggered the war in Gaza.

But children have been caught in the midst. With more strikes on homes and in residential areas, doctors are seeing more children affected by the violence. More than 100 children have been killed in Lebanon in the past six weeks and hundreds injured. And of the 14,000 wounded since last year, around 10% are children. Many have been left with severed limbs, burned bodies, and broken families scars that could last for a life-

Ghassan Abu Sittah, a renowned British-Palestinian surgeon who is also treating Hussein, sees that long road ahead. This is his worry: "It leaves us with a generation of physically wounded children, children who are psychologically and emotionally wounded.

'What do they want from us?' At the American University of Beirut Medical Center, which is receiving limited cases of war casualties, Nahle said he operated on five children in the past five weeks – up from no cases before. Most were referred from south and east-

A few miles away, at the Lebanese Hospital Geitaoui, one of the country's largest burns centres increased its capacity by nearly 180% since September so it could accommodate more war wounded, its medical director Naji Abirached said. About a fifth of the newly admitted patients are children.

In one of the burn centre's ICU units lies Ivana Skakye. She turned 2 in the hospital ward last week. Ivana has been healing from burns she sustained following an Israeli airstrike outside their home in southern Lebanon on Sept 23. Israel launched hundreds of airstrikes that day in different parts of Lebanon, making it the deadliest day of the war so far. More than 500 people were killed.

Six weeks later, the tiny Ivana remains wrapped in white gauze from head to toe except her torso. She sustained third-degree burns over 40 per cent of her body. Her hair and head, her left side all the way to her legs, both her arms and her chest were burned. Her family home was damaged, its ceiling set afire. The family's valuables, packed in their car as they prepared to leave, were also torched. Ivana's older sister, Rahaf, 7, has recovered faster from burns to her face and hands. Fatima Zayoun, their mother, was in the kitchen when the explosion hit. Zavoun jumped up to grab the girls, who were playing on the terrace.

It was, Zayoun said, "as if something lifted me up so that I can grab my kids. I have no idea how I managed to pull them in and throw them out of the window. She spoke from the ICU burns unit. "They were not on fire, but they were Black ash covered them...(Ivana) was without any hair. I told myself, 'That is not her'." Now, Ivana's wound dressings are changed every two days. Her doctor, Ziad Sleiman, said she could be discharged in a few days. She's back again to saying "Mama" and "Bye" — shorthand for want-

Like Hussein, though, Ivana has no home to return to. Her parents fear collective shelters could cause an infection to return.

After seeing her kids "sizzling on the floor," Zayoun, 35, said that even if their home is repaired, she wouldn't want to return. "I saw death with my own eyes," she said. Zayoun was 17 last time Israel and Hezbollah were at war, in 2006. Displaced with her family then, she said she almost enjoyed the experience, riding out of their village in a truck full of their belongings, mixing with new people, learning new things. They returned home when the war was over.

"But this war is hard. They are hitting everywhere," she said. "What do they want from us? Do they want to hurt our children? We are not what they are looking

The attack was the deadliest since August, when separatists killed more than 50 people in multiple coordinated attacks on passengers buses, police and security forces across Balochistan.

The oil- and mineral-rich Balochistan is Pakistan's largest but also least populated province. It is a hub for the country's ethnic Baloch minority whose members say

Trump, Putin speak over phone, discuss ending war in Ukraine: Media report; Kremlin denies

WASHINGTON, Nov 11: US President-elect Donald Trump spoke to Russian President Vladimir Putin over the phone and discussed ending the war in Ukraine amongst many other important topics, according to a media report.

Kremlin However. spokesperson Dmitry Peskov denied the media report of the phone call between Putin and After winning the recent presidential elections, Trump has spoken to over 70 world leaders. Prime Minister Narendra Modi and Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu were among the firsts.

"The two men discussed the goal of peace on the European continent and Trump expressed an interest in follow-up conversations to discuss 'the resolution of Ukraine's war soon," one of the people said," The Washington Post said in an exclusive report published on

One former US official who was familiar with the Putin call said that Trump likely does not want to enter office with a fresh crisis in Ukraine prompted by Russian escalation, "giving him the incentive to want to keep the war from worsening," the daily said.

Trump is scheduled to be sworn in as the 47th President of the United States on January 20, 2025. Ukraine has been informed about the Trump-Putin

"During the call, which Trump took from his resort in Florida, he advised the Russian president not to escalate the war in Ukraine and reminded him of Washington's sizable military presence in Europe, said a person familiar with the call, who, like others interviewed for this story, spoke on the condition of anonymity to discuss a sensitive matter," The Washington Post reported. However, Kremlin spokesman Peskov in Moscow said the Western media reports of the phone call between Putin and Trump are "untrue", Meanwhile, Steven Cheung, Trump's communications director, told PTI he would not comment on the private calls between President-elect Trump and other world leaders. "President Trump won a his-state-run TASS news agency Saturday's attack took place when about 100 UN climate talks to focus on money to help poor nations cut carbon pollution

BAKU (AZERBAIJAN), Nov 11: A complex international two-week-long game of climate change poker is convening. The stakes? Just the fate of an ever-warming world.

Curbing and coping with climate change's worsening heat, floods, droughts and storms will cost trillions of dollars and poor nations just don't have it, numerous reports and experts calculate. As United Nations climate negotiations started Monday in Baku, Azerbaijan, the chief issue is who must ante up to help poor nations and especially how much.

The numbers are enormous. The floor in negotiations is the $100 billion a year that poor nations — based on a categorization made in the 1990s — now get as part of a 2009 agreement that was barely met. Several experts and poorer nations say the need is $1 trillion a year

"It's a game with high stakes," said Climate Analytics CEO Bill Hare, a physicist. "Right now the fate of the planet depends very much on what we're able to pull off in the next five or 10 years.'

But this year's talks, known as COP29, won't be as high-profile as last year's, with 48 fewer heads of state scheduled to speak. The leaders of the top two carbon polluting countries — China and the United States — will be absent. But if money negotiations fail in Baku, it will handicap 2025's make-or-break climate negotiations, experts say.

Not only is dealing with money always a touchy subject, but two of the rich countries that are expected to donate money to poor nations — the United States and Germany — are in the midst of dramatic government changes. Even though the United States delegation will be from Biden Administration, the reelection of Donald Trump, who downplays climate change and dislikes foreign aid, makes U.S.

pledges unlikely to be fulfilled. The overarching issue is climate finance. Without it, experts say the world can't get a handle on fighting warming, nor can most of the nations achieve their current carbon pollution-cutting goals or the new ones they will submit next year.

"If we don't solve the finance problem, then definitely we will not solve the climate problem," said former Colombian deputy climate minister Pablo Vieira, who heads the support unit at NDC Partnership, which helps nations with emissions-cutting goals.

Nations can't cut carbon pollution if they can't afford to eliminate coal, oil and gas, Vieira and several other experts said. Poor nations are frustrated that they are being told to do more to fight climate change when they cannot afford it, he said. And the 47 poorest nations only created 4% of the heat-trapping gases in the air, according to the UN.

About 77% of the heat-trapping gas in the atmosphere now comes from the G20 rich nations, many of whom are now cutting back on their pollution, something that is not happening in most poor nations or China.

"The countries that are rich today have become rich by polluting the Earth," said Ani Dasgupta, president of World Resources Insti-

The money being discussed is for three things: Helping poor nations switch from dirty fossil fuels to clean energy; helping them adapt to the impacts of a warming world such as sea level rise and worsening storms; and compensating vulnerable poor nations for climate change damage.

"Should the global community fail to reach a (finance) goal, this is really just signing the death warrant of many developing countries," said Chukwumerije Okereke, director of the Center for Climate Change and Development in Nigeria.

Michael Wilkins, a business professor who heads Imperial College's Centre for Climate Finance and Investment in the UK, said since 2022 total climate finance has been nearly USD 1.5 trillion. But only 3% of that is actually geared toward the least developed countries, he said.

"The Global South has been repeatedly let down by unmet pledges and commitments," said Sunita Narain, director general of New Delhi-based Centre for Science and Environ-

"Finance is really the key component that compels all types of climate action," said Bahamian climate scientist Adelle Thomas, adaptation director at the Natural Resources Defense Council. "Without that finance, there's simply not much that developing countries in particular can do." (AP)

17 Chadian soldiers, 96 rebels killed in Boko Haram attack, army says

N'DJAMENA (CHAD), Nov 11: Boko Haram insurgents killed 17 Chadian soldiers in a weekend attack on a military post that also left 96 of the assailants dead in the country's west, Chad's army said.

The attack in the Lake Chad region happened on Saturday, army spokesperson Gen Issakh Acheikh said on national television Sunday night. He did not provide details.

The Lake Chad region has been plagued this year by frequent attacks from insurgents, including Boko Haram and the Islamic State in West Africa. It has revived fears of violence after a period of peace following a successful operation launched in 2020 by the Chadian army to destroy the extremist groups' bases.

Last month, 40 soldiers were killed during an attack on a military base, prompting President Mahamat Deby Itno to launch an operation to dislodge Boko Haram militants from Lake Chad. In March, an attack the government blamed on Boko Haram killed seven sol-

Saha said this while addressing the inaugural program of the statelevel workshop on UNNATI at Pragna Bhavan, Agartala.

We know how Prime Minister Narendra Modi has been working for the Northeast. He has always said that without developing the Northeast, the country's development is incomplete. PM Modi introduced this UNNATI program to further industrial development in the Northeast region and attract investors. Over the next 10 years, more than 83,000 jobs will be generated, with a budget of ₹ 10,037 crore sanctioned for the Northeast, which will benefit the people of Tripura and other northeastern states," he said.

Apart from UNNATI, the Tripura Industry Department offers multiple schemes and incentives. Tripura, surrounded by Bangladesh on three sides, has seen improved connectivity through the HIRA model—Highways, Internet, Railways, and Airways-introduced by PM Modi. Communication has improved, and many small industries are coming to Tripura," he said.

Saha added that the state government has established the Tripura Investment Promotion Agency to assist those interested in investing or opening industries in the state, along with an online Single Window portal to eliminate the need for physical visits to departments. "Our key sectors are Bamboo, Rubber, Agar, Hospitality, Education, and Health, which we aim to develop further. In the MSME sector, our focus is on rubber, bamboo, agriculture, horticulture, and tea. MSMEs contribute signifi-

Heroes of Battle of Kohima remembered

HT Correspondent

DIMAPUR, Nov 11: The Remembrance Day was observed at Kohima War Cemetery on Monday to remember those fallen heroes who sacrificed their lives in the Battle of Kohima, which was fought between the Japanese and British/Indian forces from April 4 to June 10, 1944.

Seventy-nine years ago, the people witnessed one of the fiercest battles of World War II the Battle of Kohima. It was here that Allied and Indian forces joined hands in a courageous stand, halting the advance of enemy forces and shifting the tides of war.

British deputy high commissioner Dr Andrew Fleming attended the orgramme as the special guest.

In his address, Fleming said: "We are gathered here today not only to remember those who had fallen but also those who participated in this historic battle." He added, "Those who cannot remember the past are condemned to repeat it and, we dare not to forget." Fleming said it is perhaps the cause of its remoteness to Europe that the Battle of Kohima is often referred as 'The Forgotten Battle'.

Praising the bravery of the British and Indian forces and a few allies from Australia and Canada, he said many of them still play a critical part in "our history". Fleming acknowledged Nagaland chief minister Neiphiu Rio and the state government for hoisting Remembrance Day since the Battle of Kohima. He stated that the Commonwealth War Graves Association, assisted by the Nagaland state, does a remarkable job in the maintenance of the War Cemetery, the resting place of so many heroes.

In his welcome address, CM Rio called attention to the words inscribed on the Kohima Epitaph "When you go home, tell them of us and say, for your tomorrow, we gave our today." Rio said these words serve as a lasting reminder of the sacrifices made, urging us to carry forward the torch of remembrance and respect for those who served. He expressed his appreciation to Fleming for being the initiative behind the Remembrance Day programme and taking all necessary steps to ensure a successful partnership with the British High Commission and the Commonwealth War Graves Commission in the observance of this global event in Kohima.

He further said: "We stand together at the iconic Kohima War Cemetery on this solemn occasion of Remembrance Day to honour the memory of those who sacrificed their lives in the pursuit of peace, justice, and freedom.

"This Kohima War Cemetery, located in the state capital, serves as a poignant reminder of the sacrifices made during this battle," he added. The Kohima War Cemetery, maintained by the Commonwealth War Graves Commission, is the resting place of 1,420 allied soldiers, and also the place where 917 Hindu and Sikh soldiers were cremated according to their faith.

Our ancestors did jihad against Britishers, but yours penned 'love letters': Owaisi to Fadnavis Owaisi claimed the 'dharmayuddha-jihad'

remarks amounted to poll code violation

CHHATRAPATI SAMB-HAJINAGAR, Nov 11: AIMIM chief Asaduddin Owaisi has targeted Maharashtra Deputy CM Devendra Fadnavis over his "vote jihad" remarks, claiming the BJP leader's (ideological) ancestors wrote "love letters" to Britishers instead of fighting against them. During a public meeting here on Sunday, Owaisi also alleged that Prime Minister Narendra Modi's "Ek Hai to Safe Hai" slogan goes against the diversity ethos.

Fadnavis on Saturday claimed "vote jihad" had begun in poll-bound Maharashtra, which should be countered by "Dharma vuddha" of vote. He had mentioned the BJP's narrow loss in Dhule Lok Sabha constituency.

Countering him, Owaisi said. "Our ancestors did jihad against Britishers and Fadnavis is now teaching us about jihad. (PM) Narendra Modi. (Union minister) Amit Shah, and Devendra Fadnavis to-claimed the Owaisi "dharmayuddha-jihad" remarks amounted to poll code violation.

"From where did 'vote jihad and dharmayuddha' come in democracy? You purchased MLAs; should we call you a thief?" the Hyderabad MP questioned. While Fadnavis talks about (vote) jihad, his hero was writing "love letters" to Britishers, whereas "our freedom fighters did not negotiate with the foreign rulers," he said.

"We gave the method of fighting against the British. He (Fadnavis) said 'vote jihad' after they (BJP) didn't get votes in Malegaon (during Lok Sabha election). When they fail to get votes, they call it iihad. They lost in Ayodhya. How did that happen"? Owaisi questioned.

"Our ancestors did jihad against Britishers, not yours. Fadnavis, whose ancestors were writing love letters to the British, will teach us jihad?" he added in a veiled attack on Hindutva ideologues revered

Modi says 'Ek Hai to Safe Hai' because they (BJP) want to end the diversity of this country, the AIMIM leader said, adding the Maratha community was betrayed by rulers who failed to give them reservation.

Owaisi claimed many industrial projects went to Gujarat but Fadnavis showed no courage to stop them. "Was he afraid of Narendra Modi?" he asked

Referring to a controversy over Hindutva seer Ramgiri Maharaj's statements, Owaisi said remarks against the Prophet won't be tolerated.

He appealed to people to come out to vote on November 20. "Our victory in Aurangabad will be saluted by the people of India," he added.

Owaisi addressed a public meeting in Jinsi area of Chhatrapati Sambhajinagar in support of AIMIM candidates Imtiaz Jaleel (Aurangabad East) and Naser Siddiqui (Aurangabad Central) for the November 20 assembly elections. (PTI)

'Will retire if...': Siddaramaiah

HAVERI (KARNATAKA), Nov 11: Karnataka Chief Minister Siddaramaiah has said that he would retire from politics if Prime Minister Narendra Modi proves that the Congress government has mo-

"I am surprised to see the prime minister of this country lies so much. While campaigning somewhere in Maharashtra, the prime minister said that the Congress in Karnataka has collected ₹ 700 crore through the excise department to send to Maharashtra, Jharkhand, and to spend on the bypolls," Siddaramaiah said at an election rally in Shiggaon in Haveri district on Sunday night.

"Today I challenge Narendra Modi that if he can prove these allegations, I will retire from politics. If you cannot, then you should retire," the chief minister said.

He said when a prime minister makes such allegations, it should be nearer to the truth, but these claims are far from it. The country has never seen a prime minister in the history of independence India who lies so much, he added.

During a public meeting at Akola in Maharashtra, the prime minister said, "In the name of election in Maharashtra, the extortion in Karnataka has doubled. While elections are in Maharashtra, extortions are happening in Karnataka and Maharashtra. There are allegations that in Karnataka these people (Congress) have extorted ₹ 700 crore from the liquor

Change in government necessary in Maharashtra to improve living conditions: Sharad Pawar

JALGAON, Nov 11: Hitting out at the Shiv Sena-BJP-NCP government in Maharashtra, Nationalist Congress Party (NCP-SP) supremo Sharad Pawar on Monday asserted that there was "utmost need for change" in the state if the condition of farmers, women and youth were to improve for better.

Addressing a poll rally at Parola in North Maharashtra's Jalgaon district in support of the Maha Vikas Aghadi (MVA), he raised the issues of farmer suicides, atrocities against women, rising joblessness and said a change in the government was necessary to ensure better living conditions for people.

"In Badlapur, atrocities were committed against school-going girls. How many examples should I give of atrocities against women? Instead of providing security to women, they announced we will give money to our dear sisters (Ladki Bahin)," the Rajya Sabha MP said.

He was referring to alleged sexual assault of two kindergarten girls at a school in Badlapur town of Thane district in August by a cleaning staffer, who was later shot dead by police.

"We are not opposed to it (Ladki Bahin Yojana targeted at poor women). You gave them money, but what is the condition of your dear sisters? According to data shared by the central government, 9,000 girls have disappeared," the MVA's star campaigner

The former Union agriculture minister urged farming families to take up jobs instead of relying solely on cultivation as a source of regular income. "There can be no change in your living conditions

TMC claims EC gave appointment to hear grievances just before campaign ends

NEW DELHI, Nov 11: The Trinamool Congress, which had approached the Election Commission voicing concern over alleged misuse of central forces in West Bengal, claimed the panel gave it appointment for Monday afternoon, 90 minutes before the bypoll campaign ends in the state.

A delegation of TMC leaders, including TMC Parliamentary Party Leader of Lok Sabha Sudip Bandopadhyay, Rajya Sabha Parliamentary Party Leader Derek O'Brien, and MPs Kirti Azad, Saket Gokhale and Sushmita Dev, had visited the poll panel on Saturday and submitted two memoranda related to the ongoing bypoll campaign. In a letter to the poll panel on Monday, the TMC said it is "dismayed" that they have been given an appointment at 3:30 PM on Monday, a mere 90 minutes before the campaigning period concludes at 5 PM and the beginning

They also said it appears that these delays serve to benefit the BJP, thereby compromising the fairness of the elections and eroding public confidence in the impartiality of democratic institutions.

"This effectively negates the purpose of raising these concerns, as no substantive action can be taken during this critical window," the TMC said in its letter to the

"We write to express our deep disappointment and concern over the Election Commission of India's handling of two serious complaints we submitted on 9th November 2024, regarding violations of electoral integrity," they said. The TMC alleged "illegal activities by CAPF Personnel" in the state. "We reported that CAPF personnel, operating without the mandated presence of State Police. were allegedly entering private residences to intimidate voters and Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP)," the

The TMC also flagged comments made by BJP state president and Union MoS Sukanta Majumdar during an election rally in pollbound Taldangra, accusing him of making derogatory statements against the state police and insulting the state emblem of India by suggesting it be replaced with symbols resembling footwear".

"These issues, which directly undermine the sanctity of the electoral process, required urgent intervention. Despite the gravity of the situation, the Commission has failed to take immediate corrective action or issue clear directives to BJP and its leaders, and CAPF to desist from such unlawful and defamatory conduct," they said.

The TMC said the Commission's "inaction and delayed response raise serious questions about its role as a neutral arbiter in

'LIE': TMC refutes EC's claim of acting 'within 20 hours'

NEW DELHI, Nov 11: After the Election Commission said it acted "within 20 hours' of receiving the TMC's complaints on West Bengal bypolls, the ruling party in the state Monday termed the poll authority's claim as "lie" and accused it of becoming a "wing of

The Trinamool Congress (TMC) had approached the EC on Saturday with a complaint against West Bengal BJP chief and Union minister Sukanta Majumdar, and another one on the role of central forces in the state where bypolls are being held on six assembly seats. The EC on Monday rejected allegations made by the TMC of delay or inaction on its complaints, saying it acted within 20 hours of receiving the party's complaints on by-The EC also issued a show cause notice to

West Bengal BJP president Majumdar on Monday for his alleged remarks on the national emblem and the state police. TMC MP Saket Gokhale, however, said that the poll body did not respond to them. "This is a LIE. The ECI has NOT "acted within 20 hours" like they're claiming in the media," Gokhale said in a post on X. "Complaint was submitted personally by 5-MP delegation led by our Floor Leaders in Lok Sabha and Rajya Sabha on 9th Nov (Saturday)," he said.

The EC didn't even bother to meet or even respond, Gokhale alleged.

"And now - when campaigning ends at 5pm today - they're doing this drama of a "notice". Shame that the Election Commission has openly become a wing of the BJP," the TMC MP added.

Earlier, the TMC, which had approached the Election Commission voicing concern over alleged misuse of central forces in West Bengal on Saturday, had slammed the poll body for giving it appointment for Monday afternoon over the issue, 90 minutes before the bypoll campaign ends in the state.

In a response to the complaint addressed to TMC's Rajya Sabha Parliamentary Party leader Derek O'Brien on Monday afternoon, the EC said it is "surprising" that even after the prompt action by the Commission "within 20 hours" of receipt of representation on November 9 afternoon, there has been

Congress, AAP 'khotay sikke', people of Punjab fed up with them: Anurag Thakur

CHANDIGARH, Nov 11: BJP leader Anurag Thakur Monday dubbed the Congress and Aam Aadmi Party as "bad coins," saying the people of Punjab were fed up with their "corruption."

Thakur made the remarks while canvassing for BJP candidate from Barnala assembly segment Kewal Singh Dhillon for the upcoming bypolls. The bypolls to the four assembly seats --

Gidderbaha, Dera Baba Nanak, Chabbewal and Barnala -- will take place on November 20 and counting of votes will be held on November 23.

"Both parties try to defraud people by making "false" promises to people," Thakur

He also said the BJP's vote share in-

"People of Punjab are fed up with the corrupt AAP and the Congress. Both these parties are 'khotay sikke'. People are looking at an alternative. People see a golden chance in the BJP and if it comes (to power) in Punjab will move ahead," the former Union minister said.

Thakur accused the Bhagwant Mann government of not honouring its poll promises and failing to give ₹ 1,000 per month to women, like it said it would.

He said the Punjab government sent the fuel prices up by hiking the VAT and forced the industrialists to move out with its poor hold on the law and order.

"Neither the AAP government has any

NATAKA), Nov 11: Karnataka Minister B Z Zameer Ahmed Khan has courted a controversy by calling Union Minister H D Kumaraswamy 'Kaaliya', a racist slur for being dark complexioned. Retorting strongly, the JD(S) on Monday demanded that the Congress government should sack Khan from the Cabinet for his racist slur. Clarifying his remarks, Khan said he never intended to hurt Kumaraswamy.

Khan said Kumaraswamy used to call him 'Kulla' (dwarf). Further, the state minister said he has been addressing the union minister as 'Kariyanna' (black brother).

At an election rally addressing the minorities in Ramanagara on Sunday, Khan said the Channapatna Congress candidate C P Yogeeshwara had no other option but to join the BJP earlier.

"Due to some differences in our party (Congress), he contested as an independent. He had no option but to join the BJP. He was not ready to join the JD(S) because 'Kaaliya Kumaraswamy' was more dangerous than the BJP. Now he (Yogeeshwara) has come back home," the minister said.

Yogeeshwara has a direct contest in the Channapatna assembly bypoll against Kumaraswamy's son Nikhil Kumaraswamy who is contesting as an NDA candidate on the JD(S) ticket.

Khan also alleged that Kumaraswamy had said he did not need Muslim votes.

Khan also played out the audio of the purported statement of Kumaraswamy where he is heard saying, "My politics is not dependent on Muslim votes. I am making this clear. I don't need Hijab or Pajaab.' The minister told the audience, "Kumaraswamy says he does not want Hijab or Pajaab but he wants Muslim votes. Will you vote for him?" He said Kumaraswamv is under the impression that he can buy Muslim votes. "Aye Kumaraswamy, tell me your bidding amount. The Muslim community will generate funds that can buy your entire clan," Khan said amid cheers of the crowd.

The JD(S) in a post on 'X' on Monday called Khan a 'racist'.

"Your power and greed that you will buy the family of Deve Gowda who brought you up politically will not last long," the JD(S) said.

The party sought to know the colour of Congress president Mallikarjun Kharge, ministers H C Mahadevappa, Satish Jarakiholi, Priyank Kharge and K H Muniyappa. "Dismiss such a low mentality person from the Cabinet immediately," the party demanded.

Union Minister for Parliamentary Affairs, Kiren Rijiju too condemned Khan's slur. "I strongly deplore Congress Minister Zameer Ahmed calling Union Minister & Ex CM of Karnataka Sh. Kumaraswamy as 'Kaalia Kumaraswamy'. This is a racist remark, same as Rahul Gandhi's adviser calling South Indians look like Africans, North East as Chinese, North Indians as Arabs," Rijiju said in a post on 'X'.

Meanwhile, speaking to reporters in Channapatna on Monday, Khan said he never intended to hurt Kumaraswamy. He even called Kumaraswamy's father and former Prime Minister H D Deve Gowda his 'political guru.'

"I never uttered any derogatory thing. I always called Kumaraswamy as Kariyanna (black brother). The same thing I said in Urdu. That's it," he said.

Khan said, "Kumaraswamy used to call me 'Kulla' (dwarf) and I have been calling him 'Kariyanna' since those days.

According to Khan, he has been calling Kumaraswamy 'Kariyanna' out of love.

"I may be in a different party, but we are old friends. I called him Kariyanna. What's wrong in that?" he sought to know. (PTI)

Wrong to seek votes along religious lines, says Goyal Adityanath, Goyal said it was un-along religious lines goes against Constitutional values, Union minister and BJP leader Piyush Goyal said on Monday.

He appealed to people to choose the BJP-led Mahayuti, which he said is committed to development and progress in the November 20 Maharashtra assembly elections. Stressing that the Mahayuti has been promoting inclusive policies and avoiding divisive tactics, the Mumbai North MP appealed to voters to move beyond religious lines and choose development and He slammed Congress for allegedly not keeping the pre-poll promises in the party-ruled states and Shiv Sena (UBT) leader Uddhav Thackeray for joining hands with the parties that "spread fear and misinformation".

"It is wrong to urge people to vote or not to vote for a particular party based on religion and not to vote BJP. This attitude is against the Constitutional values we stand for," Goyal told reporters in Mum-

He said voting based on religious lines goes against the very foundation of the Constitution.

"Voting is an individual's right, and we must respect individual freedom," the Union minister said. Goyal said the Mahayuti alliance of BJP, Shiv Sena led by Eknath Shinde, and Ajit Pawar-led

NCP, would gain significantly compared to the 2019 assembly elections results. According to Goyal, the Mahayuti has earned the people's trust by promoting inclusive policies and avoiding divisive tactics. "Our priority is that no one is left out of our programmes focused on the development and upliftment of the people," he said.

Goyal targeted the Congress and Sharad Pawar-led NCP (SP). He said the Congress' record in Himachal Pradesh, Telangana, and Karnataka demonstrates a history of "false promises" made to farmers and youth.

"People have witnessed the promises made by Congress in other states. They have let down people, including farmers and youths. On the contrary, our coalition offers a clearer path forward for Maharashtra," the Union minister added.

In a pointed attack on Uddhav Thackeray, Goyal said, "Thackeray has joined hands with those parties which spread fear and misinformation among people".

Thackeray needs to demonstrate his leadership, Goyal added. "Does Thackeray have any respect left for (Hindutva icon VD) Savarkar? Can't he at least request Congress leaders to say a few positive words about Savarkar," Goyal The Mahayuti aims to develop a society sans divisions based on caste, religion, or any other factor, The campaign for the November 20 Maharashtra polls has gained momentum with Prime Minister Narendra Modi, Union Home Minister Amit Shah, and BJP president J.P. Nadda addressing rallies. Goyal asserted that the presence of these leaders would boost the Mahayuti's prospects of victory "as their message of unity and growth resonates with voters

1984 riots: Delhi HC says murder trial to continue against Jagdish Tytler

NEW DELHI, Nov 11: The Delhi High Court on Monday made it clear that the murder trial in a 1984 anti-Sikh riots case against Congress leader Jagdish Tytler would continue.

Justice Manoj Kumar Ohri was hearing a plea filed by Tytler seeking a stay on the trial proceedings taking place against him in a Delhi court. The court would continue with the hearing on November 29.

"It is made clear the trial will continue. Same will be subject to the outcome of the present proceedings," the judge ordered.

Tytler's counsel submitted the case was listed for the recording of evidence of a prosecution witness before the trial court on November 12 and the trial court court decided his plea against the framing of charges order.

Tytler's plea challenging the framing of murder and other charges against him is listed on November 29 but he moved court with the plea to stay the trial.

His plea said the evidence of the prosecution witness was recorded by the trial court and her cross-examination by the defence counsel was scheduled for No-

"The criminal revision petition (of Tytler) raised substantial questions upon the motivation of the prosecution and the investigation conducted by the CBI. Therefore, an order/direction from this court for the trial court to not proceed with the captioned matter till the pen-

Senior advocate H S Phoolka, representing the victims, opposed the plea arguing the witness was old and suffered from various ailments and being subjected to multiple court appearances. She would be appearing in court for the fourth time, he said.

Tytler has claimed being a victim of a "witch-hunt" and contended the trial court's order framing charges against him was "perverse, illegal and lacked application of mind".

'Trial court has erroneously framed charges against the petitioner overlooking the settled principles of law on the point of charge," his petition stated.

While Tytler's counsel raised the plea of alibi, claiming his absence at the time of the incident, the counsel for the CBI and victims argued the plea of alibi had already been decided and rejected by the high court.

Tytler said there was no credible evi-

NEW DELHI, Nov 11: The Supreme Court on Monday of India)," the bench said and posted the matter for hearing sought a response from the Centre on a petition seeking direction for an effective protocol and robust policy for the enforcement of mandatory age checks at liquor sales points.

The plea said that the excise policy of different states has age legislation making it illegal to consume or possess alcohol below a certain age but a robust mechanism to check the age of consumers or buyers at alcohol points of sale or consump-

The petition, which also opposed doorstep delivery of liquor service contending it would hasten the formation of the habit of alcohol consumption among underage persons, came up for hearing before a bench of Justices B R Gavai and K V

The counsel appearing for petitioner NGO 'Community Against Drunken Driving' argued that there was no regime in place to check the age of consumers or buyers at liquor vends, bars, pubs, etc. It said a robust policy in this regard would help in reducing and preventing the menace of drunken driving and also in curbing underage consumption of alcohol.

The petitioner has suggested that any person selling, serving or providing alcohol to minors should be fined Rs 50,000 or three months in jail or both.

The plea has arrayed the Centre, all states and Union Territories as party respondents.

"The petitioner understands that many of the respondents herein are considering proposals to allow doorstep delivery of alcohol. If doorstep delivery is allowed it would facilitate easy access to alcohol for young people and will hasten the formation of the habit of alcohol consumption among underage persons," the plea, filed through advocate Vipin Nair, said.

Potato production in Una district set to fall on lower yield; prices firm up

UNA (HP), Nov 11: Potato production in the Una district of Himachal Pradesh is likely to fall this year due to a 30 per cent drop in crop yield hit by severe heat in summer and a delay in the onset of winter, say farmers.

Potato is the third main crop in the district after wheat and maize and is considered a big support for the economic improvement of farmers. The area under potato cultivation in Una has remained steady at around 1,200 hectare. However, about 30 per cent decline in vield would affect production this year, according to farmers.

Around 20,000-25,000 tonne of potatoes are produced in the district annually.

The potato crop is fetching good prices of ₹ 3,000-3,600 per quintal but the crop yield in the first week of September was very low due to high temperature, said farmers Ravindra Saini, Ajay Kumar, Desraj and Sukhwinder.

Crop production has dropped to one to two quintals per kanal in many fields against usual seven to eight quintals of output per kanal,

The crop is affected by fluctuations of the weather. This time, summer lasted long and untimely rains later hit the crop, said Agriculture Deputy Director Kulbhushan Dhiman referring to the potato yield in the district. Potato ploughing has started in the district, he added.

In areas where potatoes are not grown, farmers sow wheat in the beginning of November while sowing is done late in potato growing areas but due to lack of rain in the district for the last one and half months, the farmers are facing difficulty in sowing

"In rainfed areas, sowing is not possible due to lack of sufficient moisture in the soil. We have bought seeds and fertilizers for sowing wheat and are waiting for rains to sow the crop," said farmer Shyam Lal.

Wheat is sown on more than 35.000 hectare of land in the district. Out of this, 28,000 hectare does not have irrigation facilities. Rain is required from time to time in non-irrigated areas. (PTI)

SHEKHAR KAPUR TO START SHOOTING FOR 'MASOOM' SEQUEL IN 2025

NEW DELHI, Nov 11: Filmmaker Shekhar Kapur on Monday said he will start shooting for the follow-up to his 1983 film "Masoom" early next year, with original stars Shabana Azmi and Naseeruddin Shah set to return.

The two actors will be joined by Manoj Bajpayee, who worked with Kapur in "Bandit Queen" (1994), and the director's daughter Kaveri.

Kapur shared the film update on the sidelines of the curtain raiser press conference of the 55th International Film Festival of India (IFFI) in New Delhi.

"I will start shooting for 'Masoom 2' in February-March 2025. The script is ready. In fact, I was flying in from Dubai yesterday and I left the script ('Masoom 2') behind on my seat.

"I was very scared but it came back to me. The flight attendant wrote a note saying 'Masoom' was such a nice film, this one too would be as nice'. A script that was lost comes back, it's something predestined. It will be a different storyline but will have the same values," he told reporters.

At the press conference, Kapur also expressed interest in re-releasing "Masoom" in theatres. Also starring Tanuja, Supriya Pathak and Saeed Jaffrey, the film follows a family which starts to crumble when the wife discovers that her husband had an affair and child from that relationship has come looking for his father. It featured Jugal Hansraj, Aradhana and Urmila Ma-tondkar as child actors. The filmmaker, who serves as the festival director at the upcoming IFFI, said he agreed to be part of the movie gala in Goa without thinking much.

"I became a part of the festival so that we could celebrate Indian cinema and cinemagoers. It's not just a film festival, it's a people's an OTT star and has become so influential. OTT is a different festival. It belongs to the creative economy of the country."

Kapur, 78, also addressed constant comparisons of IFFI with the Cannes Film Festival, one of the most prestigious film galas around the world.

"If we regard our films as Indian and listen to what our audiences have to say and not just listen to what the filmmakers have to say, then we will become much bigger than Cannes. It's not that difficult to become bigger than Cannes. We must try and one day, we will become bigger than Cannes," he added.

The director, also known for sci-fi hit "Mr India" and international period films like "Elizabeth", "Elizabeth: The Golden Age", urged that streamers be celebrated as a different

"Manoj Bajpayee has become medium that's bringing different actors, writers and talent from around the world. So, we must celebrate OTT." Asked if he was in favour of censorship on OTT by the government, Kapur cited the example of Iranian filmmakers battling rules and regulations through creativity.

"Censorship sometimes sharpens the skills of a filmmaker... You have to fight for something you believe in," he added.

The filmmaker also reflected on the challenges posed by artificial intelligence (AI) to cin-

"If you start depending on it, you'll become lazy. You have to feel emotions to make a great film, AI can't do that. AI provokes you to be better," he said.

IFFI 2024: 'Better Man' to open gala, Satyajit Ray Lifetime Achievement Award to filmmaker Phillip Noyce

NEW DELHI, Nov 11: "Better Man", a semiautobiographical film about British pop singer Robbie Williams, will open the 55th International Film Festival of India (IFFI), where Australian filmmaker Phillip Noyce will be presented the Satyajit Ray Lifetime Achievement Award.

The annual film gala, which will run through November 20-November 28 in Goa, will present over 180 international films from 81 countries, including 15 world premieres, three international premieres, 40 Asian premieres and 106 Indian premieres.

The curtain raiser press conference for IFFI 2024 was held on Monday at the National Media Centre here. The event was attended by L Murugan, Union Minister of State for I&B; Sanjay Jaju, Secretary I&B; Shekhar Kapur, Festival Director; and Prasoon Joshi, Chairman,

The IFFI is "not less than the Cannes Film Festival", said Murugan.

"You can compare our IFFI with Cannes and some of the other festivals... We are giving the same festivals in IFFI. The response that we are getting from the international audience and delegates is great... There are roadshows about the festival in Mumbai and Chennai. Another roadshow will happen in Hyderabad. We are seeing how the industry is owning the festival, taking responsibility," the minister told reporters.

The festival will open with the Asia premiere of Michael Gracey's "Better Man", an Australian film that offers a captivating glimpse into the life of popstar Robbie Williams, portrayed as a chimpanzee by Jonno Davies in a groundbreaking motion-capture performance.

Noyce, known for films such as the Angelina Jolie-starrer "Salt", "Patriot Game" starring Harrison Ford, and "The Bone Collector" featuring Denzel Washington and Jolie, will receive the Satyajit Ray Lifetime Achievement Award at IFFF

The upcoming gala will have 47 films directed by women and 66 works by young and debut filmmakers, reflecting "the festival's commitment to amplifying underrepresented voices".

Jaju said the team behind IFFI is excited to be charting a new path.

"This is the first time in the history of the film festival that we have started this tradition of handing over the festival to the industry. Now, Shekhar Kapur has taken over as the festival director. This is the festival of the industry being completely led and run by the industry.

"We look at the festival as the biggest because we are the world's biggest filmmaking nation. The content we make in our country is made at one-millionth of the cost at which the content is made outside," he added.

The theme of this year's festival is 'Young Filmmakers - The Future is Now', following which the Creative Minds of Tomorrow initiative has been enhanced to support 100 young talents from 75 in the previous editions.

Kapur said that theatrical films are becoming less and less important.

"But we need to nurture this idea of theatricals without saying that it's the only important medium. Because storytelling can be anything. I can give you a 30-second video and tell you a story. If I can't tell you a story in 30 seconds, 1 minute or 5 minutes, then nobody is going to remember vou. We took a Western technology from 'Raja Harishchandra' and we made the biggest film industry in the world," the filmmaker said.

A new award of Best Debut Indian Director has been instituted to recognise the young filmmaking talent across India. The winner will be awarded a certificate and cash prize of Rs 5 lakh at the closing cere-

India is a country of "restless dreams and storytellers", added Joshi. "If we want our stories to be diverse, we need the courage to tell stories that come from our roots. Filmmaking has become more about courage than talent. It's become a property of those who are courageous. Now, why should that be? Many stories face story infanticide because they don't have resources. In such a case, IFFI is a national stage that platforms those who don't have sufficient funds or facilities," he

Australia will be the Country of Focus for IFFI 2024, with a dedicated package of Australian films and a strong presence at the festival.

The film festival will mark the centenary of four icons of Indian cinema Raj Kapoor, Tapan Sinha, Akkineni Nageswara Rao (ANR), and Mohammed Rafi at its upcoming 55th edition, honouring them with inconversation series, exhibitions, and screenings of the restored versions of their timeless classics.

The International Competition Section boasts of 15 feature films (12 International + three Indian) have been shortlisted to compete for the Best Film Award, a Golden Peacock and Rs 40 lakh. Arsenal's winless run goes on after 1-1 draw with Chelsea Arsenal's Premier League title challenge took another hit after a 1-1 draw with Chelsea.

It's now four games without a win in the league for Mikel Arteta's team, which is nine points behind leader Liverpool. While a point saw Arsenal climb up to fourth in the standings, its winless run has seen a gap open up at the top. Chelsea is third, ahead of Arsenal on goal difference.

Gabriel Martinelli had fired Arsenal in front in the 60th minute at Stamford Bridge, but Pedro Neto equalized 10 minutes later.

"It's about transforming MANCHESTER, Nov 11: these performances into victories," Arteta said afterward.

Arsenal was runner-up to Manchester City in each of the last two seasons and expected to be the closest rival to the defending champion again.

Instead it is Liverpool, under new manager Arne Slot, that has powered ahead at the start of the campaign and taken advantage of the faltering form of both City and Arsenal. City is five points back in second after two-straight losses in the league.

"It is a long season — long way to go. We had a tough period in December last season and came back," Arsenal captain Martin Odegaard told Sky Sports, as reported by the BBC. Odegaard was making his first start since sustaining ankle ligament damage in September. "We know the quality and mentality we have and we just have to keep Declan Rice went into the match with a broken toe and was taken off in the 71st, while Bukavo Saka was substituted 10 minutes later, placing doubts over whether they will be available for England's Nation League games against Greece and the Republic of Ireland.

United's incoming head coach will take over a team on the up after a 3-0 win against Leicester made it four games unbeaten in all competitions under interim boss Ruud van Nistelrooy. Amorim officially starts on Monday after serving out his notice period at Sporting Lisbon — where his last game in charge Sunday was a 4-2 win at Braga in the Portuguese league — and comes into a club that looks to be in a much healthier position than it was when Erik ten Hag was fired at the end of last month.

"We said Let's make the most of these four games, get the maximum out of it,' and I think we did an okay job," Van Nistelrooy said. "I really enjoyed it, it's been a short but amazing period."

Van Nistelrooy, Ten Hag's former assistant and an iconic striker for the club in his playing days, has secured three wins and a draw during his four-game temporary reign.

Now he is seeking clarity from United's hierarchy about his own future once Amorim takes over.

"I expect to hear today or tomorrow from them," he said. On his 250th appearance for the club Bruno Fernandes scored with a brilliant curling shot from the edge of the area in the 17th minute at Old Trafford. His effort in the 38th then saw Victor Kristiansen accidentally divert the ball past Leicester goalkeeper Mads Hermansen to double United's lead before the break.

Substitute Alejandro Garnacho scored an even more spectacular goal than Fernandes' in the 82nd when sweeping the ball into the top corner from outside the box. Fernandes said later that the Argentina international didn't fully celebrate the goal because he believes some fans have lost faith in him.

Nottingham Forest's rise has been one of the stories of the season, but it missed the chance to close the gap on Manchester City in second after falling 3-1 to Newcastle.

City's 2-1 loss against Brighton on Saturday meant Forest could have moved to within a point of Pep Guardiola's team and it got off to an ideal start through Murillo's goal in the 21st at the City

Transition or no transition, seniors in team are incredibly hungry: Gambhir

MUMBAI, Nov 11: Head coach kind of stuff. The only thing in my Gautam Gambhir is not overtly worried about the transition Indian team has to face in near future as he put up a stout defence of underpressure skipper Rohit Sharma and star batter Virat Kohli, saying they are still "incredibly hungry" to perform and will bounce back in Australia. India have a few aging stars in the side and it won't be a surprise if Kohli, Rohit, Ravichandran Ashwin, and Ravindra Jadeja do not feature in a home Test again

Gambhir can't be blamed if he feels a sense of deja vu as he boards the flight to Australia. He was a witness to how a team full of seniors crumbled after 2011 World Cup euphoria with a new coach Duncan Fletcher in charge. Asked if he feels pressure like Fletcher, he replied: "I am not thinking about transition but the five Test matches. Transition or no transition, if that has to happen, will happen but I see some incredibly tough characters in that dressing room who are hungry to do well," Gambhir said in pre-departure press conference. "I am not even thinking that the team is in transition and all that mind is, we are going to Australia to play five Test matches and there are some incredibly tough people in that dressing room who are going to achieve a lot of good things in future as well," he said.

The first Test against Australia starts in Perth on November 22. In his typical straight-shooter manner, Gambhir said it was media's obsession to talk about transition. "You guys can keep talking about the transition and all that stuff. For me, they are still very hungry. I am sure they have got a lot of fire to achieve a lot of success for the nation and you should never doubt their passion for the country," the former India opener said, batting for senior pros Kohli and Sharma.

Gambhir also dismissed theories that he is under pressure after India's 0-3 whitewash at home against New Zealand. There has been a review, reports of him not being on same page with selection committee. Social media frenzy has been on overdrive on these is-"What difference does it make? Tell me, social media, what difference does it make in my life and for that matter, anyone's life?," Gambhir stepped out just like he would against any top spinner during his playing days.

'When I took up this job, I always thought that it is going to be a highly difficult job and highly prestigious job as well. "I don't think as if I am feeling the heat because my job is to be absolutely honest and there are some incredibly tough people in that dressing room who have achieved some great things for the country and will continue to achieve some great things for the country.

"It is an absolute honour to be coaching them and coaching India." However Gambhir understands the criticism that his team faced after New Zealand debacle and he is "ready to accept it with

He also made it clear that if Rohit is not available for the opening Test due to personal reasons, KL Rahul could open. Abhimanyu Easwaran is another option. "There are times when you go with the experienced players as well, and that is the quality of a man that he (Rahul) can actually bat at the top of the order, he can bat at number 3 and he can actually bat at number 6 as well.

"So you need quite a lot of talent to be doing these kind of jobs as well and he has kept wickets in one day format as well. So imagine how many countries have players like KL who can actually open the batting and can bat at number 6 as well?

"So I feel that if needed be, I think he can do the job for us, especially if Rohit is not available for the first Test match," Gambhir

Bumrah to lead, Rahul likely to open in Perth if Rohit does not make it: Gambhir

Gambhir on Monday said Jasprit Bumrah, as designated vice-captain, will lead India in the opening Test against Australia in Perth if regular skipper Rohit Sharma is unavailable for the game due to personal reasons.

The straight-talking former opener also indicated that KL Rahul could be asked to open the innings in place of Rohit.

The second batch of the Indian players is leaving for Perth, but Rohit has stayed back. Uncertainty remains if Rohit will compete in "At the moment, there is no confirmation. We will let you know exactly what the situation will be. Hopefully, he is going to be available, but everything you want to know, you will get to know before the start of the series," Gambhir said.

"Bumrah is the vice-captain, so obviously If Rohit is not available, he is going to lead in Perth," the coach added.

Rohit's possible absence also leaves a spot vacant at the top of the batting order and Gambhir said one among the uncapped Abhimanyu Easwaran and KL Rahul, who both played in the unofficial Tests against Australia A for India A, will be picked.

"Obviously, there is Easwaran, there is KL there. We will take a call closer to the first Test match if Rohit is not available.

"There are options. There are quite a lot of options in this spot. Once it gets closer to the first Test match, we will try and play the best playing XI who is going to do the job for us," he added.

However he gave enough indications that Rahul's experience might prevail over rookie Easwaran's current form.

'There are times when you go with the experienced players as well and that is the quality of the man. He (Rahul) can actually bat at the top of the order, he can bat at number 3 and at number 6 as well," said the former southpaw.

"So you need quite a lot of talent to be doing these kind of jobs as well and he has kept wickets in One-day format as well. So imagine how many countries have players like KL who can actually open the batting and can bat at number 6 as well?

"So I feel that if needed be, I think he (Rahul) can do the job for us, especially if Rohit is not available for the first Test match," Gambhir said.

The coach backed uncapped all-rounder Nitish Rana, who has a batting average of 21 in first-class cricket, and was picked ahead of veteran pace bowling all-rounder Shardul Thakur.

"It is also about moving forward and I feel that this is the best set of players that we have selected to do the job for the country," Gambhir said. indicating that doors are closed on Shardul for the time being.

Shardul was one of India's heroes at the Gabba with handful of wickets and a halfcentury. He has been seamer all-rounder in SENA countries.

"We have picked the best squad who can do the job for us. Nitish Reddy, we all know that how incredibly talented he is and if given an option, he will deliver for us," for the unofficial 'Tests' in Australia to be ready for the BGT series but Gambhir said the management did not want to add to his workload by getting him to play First-Class

"He had played a first-class game against Assam and he did reasonably well (took five-for and scored half-century). We all thought that he has had enough bowling under his belt rather than just sending and playing him another first-class game,"

"For us, it is important for a fast bowler to be fresh as well. It is going to be a long tour, it is going to be a five-Test match series. The bowling coach, the physios and the trainers thought that he has had enough under his belt and that was one of the reasons," he

While there is no Mohammed Shami and tremendous pressure on Jasprit Bumrah to carry the pace bowling load, Gambhir feels that the attack is potent even with three inexperienced speedsters in Rana, Prasidh Krishna and Akash Deep.

"We have got quality. We have got tall guys who can hit the deck like Prasidh and Harshit. All five guys have different skill sets. That makes our fast bowling attack very Gambhir, who will be travelling with the second batch of Indian squad on Monday, said adjusting to conditions in Australia over the next 10 days will be vital for the team.

"We have got a lot of experienced players who have been to Australia a lot of times. Their experience will come in handy for the young players as well. These 10 days are going to be very crucial but come 22nd morning, we should be absolutely ready to fire from ball one," he said. (PTI)

PCB to seek clarity from ICC on India's refusal to send team for Champions Trophy

KARACHI, Nov 11: The Pakistan Cricket Board will seek clarity from the ICC on hosting of the Champions Trophy since they have only been intimated that India will not travel for the tournament but there was no word on hybrid model being proposed. The PCB was told by the ICC that BCCI won't send its team to Pakistan after the decision was communicated to the world governing body.

"There is no talk about having the Champions Trophy on a Hybrid Model system as of now," a reliable PCB source said.

A hybrid model was followed during the Asia Cup last year, when India's matches were held in Sri Lanka while other matches were played in Pakistan.

It is being speculated that Dubai can host India's matches in the tournament, which is scheduled to be held in February next year.

"An email is to be sent to the ICC with the advice of its legal department in which the Board wanted clarifications from the ICC on the Indian decision," the source said.

"As of now the entire situation is being gauged by the PCB. No decision has been taken on the next step. Yes the PCB is in touch with the government for consultation and directives if required," the source added.

The source said the PCB was awaiting policy guidelines from the government regarding India, which will be cited to seek clarification from the ICC about India's refusal to participate.

He also pointed out that there could be legal implications for the ICC if the Pakistan government decides to take a tough call on cricket relations with India.

"There would be legal implications from commercial partners as the ICC has provided undertakings to the broadcasters, sponsors that all top cricket playing nations will participate in its tournaments," the source.

India have not travelled to Pakistan since the 2008 Mumbai terror strikes. The two teams compete against each other only in ICC tournaments. (PTI)

The two players have struggled to close out deciders after staying competitive in their matches.

Sindhu, after a shock first-round exit to Canada's Michelle Li in Finland, made it to the quarterfinals in Odense but lost to Paris bronze medallist Gregoria Mariska Tunjung of Indonesia in a tense de-
